Mrs. Clyde Hoppel was elected president of the Wakelita Bridge club to serve during next year, at a short business meeting held yesterday. Mrs. A. E. Erickson was elected secretary. It was decided that for the next meeting there would be a no-hostess affair at Riverside park on June 18. Then the regular club meetings would be resumed at the home of Mrs. Claude Berry on September 17. The business meeting followed an enjoyable session of bridge at which Mrs. Alva Crowley was the hostess at her home. For her decorations about her home for this event, the hostess used beautiful cut flowers from her own garden.

ASTHMA IN CHILDREN

Asthma, serious enough in the adult, is of even greater importance in the child. For, in the youth, asthma interferes with nutrition, with education and with recreation, and undoubtedly also has important psychological effects.

Since there is a very large hereditary element in asthma, the child whose parents have had asthma, hay fever, eczema or hives should be watched for the early manifestations of asthma. These may appear in the form of food rashes or frequent attacks of bronchitis following repeated colds.

Medical treatment should commence as soon as the asthmatic tendency is discovered.

In the younger age group, asthma in children is usually due to certain foods to which the child is sensitive. As the child grows older, foods as a cause of asthma become less important and air-borne dusts of various kinds predominate. Chronic infection in the upper respiratory tract, in the nose, throat, tonsils and lymph glands may also bring on asthma.

Children with an asthmatic tendency frequently exhibit an instinctive dislike for foods to which they are sensitive. When such children are known not to be finicky and when they regularly refuse one or more articles of food, at the same time showing a rational preference for other foods, they should not be forced to eat the articles they dislike.

Asthmatic children should be spared all unnecessary and intimate contacts with animals, for the dusts shed by animal skins may cause and bring on attacks of asthma.

House dust also may prove provoking, and scrupulous house cleanliness is desirable.

Mother's Birthday Is Honored

Mrs. Nellie Harrison entertained Sunday in honor of the 73rd birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Blue. The guests were invited for dinner, places having been arranged for Mrs. Blue, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Draper, Marian, Sarah and Edgar Draper and Mrs. Harrison, of La Grande, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Carden and Miss Ada Brown, of Pendleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gergin and son, Harold, of Adams.

Former Resident Weds Saturday

A beautiful wedding ceremony was performed at the Christian parsonage in Walla Walla, by Rev. Ward Rice, cousin of the bride, Saturday, June 2 at 1:45 o'clock when Miss Leone D. Christian, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christian, of Adams, became the bride of David W. Coughenower, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coughenower, of Pendleton. Miss Claire Coughenower, sister of the groom was the bridesmaid, while Gail Apsch, of Pendleton, acted as best man. The home was beautifully decorated with large baskets of flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride was becomingly attired in a blue and white silk suit, with hat to match. She wore a corsage of rose buds and delphinium. Only immediate relatives attended, including Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christian, Mrs. Carrye Peterson, of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coughenower and Mrs. Ward Rice.

Mr. Coughenower was graduated from the La Grande High school in 1929, was a four-year honor student receiving a Hi-dad honor pin. He moved to Pendleton three years ago and has been head of one of the departments at the Hettick garage. Mrs. Coughenower is a highly esteemed young woman of Adams. She finished her high school education at Mac-Hi.

Old Lace Sweeps Down the Aisle This Spring

By Rita Ferris
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP)—The richness of old lace is back in the spring bridal gowns which is sweeping down the aisles of candle-lit churches and cathedrals here.

Mantilla effects of mellow old Spanish lace, veils of creamy Alencon lace falling from jeweled diadems and tulle veils edged with bands of Maline lace fall over the bridal gowns which appear at the most fashionable nuptials.

Brides whose family heirlooms include no such lacy riches are falling back on snow white tulle used in such voluminous folds it gives the effect of mist. Though a few short veils have appeared, the favorite with Parisian brides is the traditional design which sweeps almost the length of the train.

Dazzling Diadems
Jewels, fabric or white flowers make the headresses which hold them in place. Diadems like little crowns incrustated with brilliants, silver leaves, or pearls and mother of pearl leaves make the most dazzling effects. Others are achieved by bandeaus of daisies or orange blossoms, or by three simple twisted satin bands bound softly about the coiffure.

White satin or crepe is the favorite for fashionable wedding gowns, for the ruche of such off-shades as ice blue and pearl pink, for the moment at least, over. High necklines and long close-fitting sleeves mark most of the gowns, designed on a slender clinging silhouette with a sweeping train two or three yards long. White slips of the same fabric as the gown are inevitable accessories.

Bouquets Add Charm
Bouquets add as much to the glamor of spring wedding costumes as do the rich old veils. Great sheafs of fragrant lilies, dripping camellias and tiny floral motifs to match the flower bandeau holding the veil are all being carried by the seasons' brides. Gold embossed prayer-books—fine old family heirlooms—have been used instead of bouquets by several of the most youthful and demure.

Boys Held For Beating Grandmother

That they slugged their 62-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Butler (Inset), unconscious with a rolling pin, tied her to her bed and then robbed her of $22 so that they could go on a Coney Island spree, was the confession Thomas Murray, 16 (left), and his brother Cornelius, 18 (right), were reported to have made. They are shown as they appeared in the juvenile lineup in New York, where they explained, "We were kept in the house all the time, and just took a notion to get out."

JOHNNY GOODMAN FIGURES HE HAS A 50-50 CHANCE

By Bob Cavanaugh
PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (AP)—Given a fair share of the breaks, Johnny Goodman, tow-headed Nebraska amateur, believes that he has a better than fifty-fifty chance of retaining the national open golf championship. The 72-hole test begins here Thursday.

Back twenty-four hours after a six weeks' golf trip to England with the American Walker cup forces, Goodman listened carefully today to reports that Gene Sarazen said he couldn't repeat and that betting men had made him a 20 to 1 shot, and then spoke his piece.

"I'm perfectly satisfied to match my game with other fellows here, and if the good Lord has his hand on my shoulder as he did at Chicago last year, I believe I have a swell chance of coming through again. As for the betting men, I don't care how they rate me."

Goodman and W. Lawson Little Jr., the barrel-chested Pacific coast star who won the British amateur title ten days ago, arrived at the club yesterday and played 13 holes in the twilight. They drove well, Little's tee shots being consistently about 40 yards in front, but otherwise they were rusty from the nine-day lay-off.

After Johnny uttered his rebuttal to Sarazen and the betting men, Little shook his head and said: "No, Johnny, I think you're wrong. In the first place, there are 30 amateurs in the field against 120 professionals. That makes us four to one shots to begin with. Then we amateurs don't have the finesse in club handling the pros do."

Johnny stared silently at his Walker cup travelling mate, took a deep breath and set his jaw firmly. "Just give me a fair share of the breaks and I'll show you different," the Omaha star replied.

Recall Bushnell Sextuplets; Four Are Still Living

BUFFALO, N. Y., (AP)—The five Dionne babies of Corbell, Ont., have revived memories in Western New York of the "Bushnell sextuplets," four girls and two boys, born in 1869.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Bushnell, and were born while the family lived in Chicago. Shortly after their birth the parents came to Buffalo.

One of the girls died when a year old and another at fourteen months. Of the other four, Mrs. Alice Jennie Bushnell Parker lives in Perry, N. Y., and Albert J. Bushnell at Albany, N. Y., a third, Norbert, was a resident of Buffalo until a few years ago and the other girl was last heard of as a school teacher in Mexico.

Mrs. Bushnell, like Mrs. Dionne, was of French parentage. She was 29 years old when the six children were born. The father, a native of Phelps, N. Y., was 45. The mother died at 39.

TWO IN RACE TO HEAD THE G. O. P. PARTY

Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, all expressed doubt the committee would agree on a new pilot today.

Leading the "block known as the Hoover men" was Ogden L. Mills of New York. Hoover's secretary of the treasury, and former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown of Ohio.

Other names which committee leaders said probably would be presented to the formal session included Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Committeeman John D. M. Hamilton of Topeka, Kas., supported because he is a middle western man, and possibly that of Mills. At the eleventh hour, the Pennsylvania delegation with Dr. John Shaw casting the proxy of Committeeman William S. Vore of Philadelphia, was said to be undecided whether to present Fletcher's name.

Recently Senator David A. Rees of Pennsylvania announced he would favor a man "west of the Alleghenies." The dopelaters then guessed he meant Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, not now likely to be a candidate.

Hilles, a veteran strategist of the party's eastern forces and junior vice chairman of the committee, said he himself would not accept the helm. He denied rumors that there was a plan under foot to substitute a steering group of five for the usual one man guidance of a chairman.

Hallahan, who in gossip was termed the strongest candidate of all, has been a member of the national committee only since 1928, and is favored for his relative youth. Once a Charleston newspaper man, he was for four years secretary to Senator Henry D. Hatfield and was later West Virginia tax commissioner.

Some of the western committee women said they would oppose Hallahan, and one declared many of the women's votes would go to Senator James E. Watson, representing the "old guard."

Definite rejections from some of the likely candidates for the post had cleared the air somewhat as today's session, the committee's first formal meeting, began.

British Explain Refusal On Debt

the procedure adopted by common agreement in 1933 cannot be followed.

The chancellor said the government was faced with the alternative of paying the whole amount of the American government's bill to date—recently rendered at $262,000,000—and a further sum of around $100,000,000 next Dec. 15 or of suspending all interest payments "pending a final revision by agreement of the existing war debt settlement."

The approach of June 15, on which date thirteen nations once promised they would pay the United States a total of $174,647,439.19 finds the likelihood that a total of $166,538 will actually be paid.

That amount has been promised by Finland as the complete installment on its war debt.
