McNARY SECURES TARIFF CONCESSIONS

Due to the work of Senator Charles McNary, Oregon lumber and Oregon wool will not become pawns in the game of trade agreements that President Roosevelt will probably soon be engaging with foreign nations under the priveleges of the new tariff measure. The measure, giving the chief executive wide power to raise or lower rates on imports according to his desire in trade pacts he might enter into with other countries, has been passed by the senate and goes back to the house for minor changes before soon being returned to him for his final approval and law.

During recent debate on the measure in the senate, Senator McNary sensed victory for the bill so, gathering the minority forces behind him tactics were employed and concessions won and agreed to by the administration forces that exclude lumber, wool, copper, oil and coal products from provisions of any trade agreement the president may make under his new tariff powers.

MINING OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Here's an encouraging paragraph, taken from the Mining Review of Salt Lake City: "Increasing activity in the metal mining industry, augmented by $35 gold, and a more favorable outlook for the other metals, is the gladsome refrain now growing in volume and strength from all sections of the West. A recent survey among more than four thousand companies from Arizona to the Canadian border gives definite evidence of a return to activity . . . Assayers are busy again, old mills are turning wheels that haven't moved in more than three years and many new ore treating plants are contemplated, smelter receipts show a substantial increase in ore shipments, and equipment and supply houses are awakening, after a long nap, to realize that there is a growing interest in their merchandise."

Workers, farmers, storekeepers, professional men, industrialists of all kinds, will smile happily on reading that. It means thousands of potential jobs, a vast jump in Western purchasing power, a tremendous field for selling services and commodities of every kind and shape — from legal knowledge to groceries. And it likewise means revived tax income for government. The outlook for mining is better than it has been for many years. That, in turn, considerably improves the outlook for recovery in general.

CREW BEATEN BY 15 MEN IN SEATTLE

60-foot Adolph J., composed of three men, his son, Capt. John Anderson, George Nelson and Charles Smith were beaten unconscious at 1 a. m. and left to drown as the boat started sinking, with seacocks open and mooring lines cut, in Lake Union. Capt. John Anderson recovered consciousness and used gunny sacks and the bilge pump to keep the craft from foundering, the elder Anderson said.

It was the first serious violence reported on the Seattle waterfront during the present strike, although there have been fisticuffs.

Signing on a crew of non-union sailors and firemen, the General Petroleum corporation tanker Lio headed south at 5 a. m. today for another load of oil — first ship to break the tieup of shipping in the port of Seattle. The Lio was deserted by her crew when she arrived from Los Angeles and discharged her last load May 22.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 (AP) — Peace hovered on the outskirts of battle as the Pacific coast longshoremen's strike counted its second death today at the beginning of its fifth week. John Knudsen, 51-year-old striker, died in Los Angeles last night as a result of a riot there May 15 which had previously claimed another victim.

While messages were being exchanged regarding the government plan, a swift launch overhauled a tug carrying non-union longshoremen across San Francisco bay last night and opened fire, pirate fashion. The master of the tug, Captain Reese Pomeroy, 31, of Long Beach, Cal., was seriously wounded. The 29 others aboard were not hit.

PORTLAND, June 6 (AP)—The first vessel to load cargo in the Portland harbor in four weeks, the steamer North King of the Pacific American Fisheries, reached Portland today from Seattle for supplies and men for Alaskan canneries.

Meanwhile from Bellingham to San Diego shippers and employes awaited word of the settlement now expected.

UNION ORDERS CLEAR SKIES FOR BIG SHOW

rains have been a distinct advantage, putting the track into excellent shape and doing away with the necessity of the usual frequent sprinkling.

The grounds are already teeming with activity. A large number of contestants are getting their horses and wild cattle in readiness for arena sports and many saddle and draft horses are being groomed for the big parade on Friday. The chariot race will again be one of the outstanding race events, with two and possibly three entries. To see the number of horses being assembled one is convinced that horses are coming into their own again. T. B. Johnson, superintendent of the horse division, announced at the stock show meeting last night that four six-horse teams would be exhibited. In addition to the teams entered by Routh McKennon and Roy Wells, who have been standbys at the stock show in years past, the Pondosa Lumber company and Bert Sheldon have signified intentions of entering six-horse teams. Among the draft horse exhibits will be some fine registered Clydesdales by Fred Hensley, of La Grande; and Percherons by Bill Moss, of near La Grande; Wayne Frizzell, of Summerville and the Eastern Ore. experiment station.

Many inquiries have been made about stalls and today will see the influx of the bulk of stock exhibits. Quite a lot of stock has already arrived and among the exhibitors who will come in today are Herbert Chandler with his prize Herefords from Baker; Guttridge Bros., with Aberdeen Angus cattle from Prairie City; Bell Brothers, with Jerseys and Ogilvie with Guernseys from Cove. Troy Becker has already brought a fine herd of 16 Holsteins from Cove. The dairy stock will be judged by Dr. McNary of Pendleton, superintendent of the state hospital, and beef cattle by J. S. Guttridge.

Everyone is pepped up for the parade which will open Friday's program. Jean Baum, queen of the stock show, and her six attendants will be the talk of the show. The Business Women's club is planning a gorgeous white float drawn by four perfectly matched black Percheron mares from the experiment station. White harness will offer a contrast that will be quite dazzling. Most business houses have been working on floats. The Commercial club, the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery and other concerns have gone to considerable expense and effort to decorate floats and the results promise to be very gratifying. Harry McKinlay, of La Grande, has charge of the judging the floats. Dan Clark, livestock agent for the Union Pacific, and for many years a faithful attendant at the show, will make the awards in the saddle division.

A dance will be given Thursday evening in honor of Jean Baum and she will be presented at that time. The official coronation ceremony will take place before the grand stand immediately following the parade, Friday.

Some changes have been made in the 4-H club program for the stock show and the new schedule has been released from the office of Assistant County Agent H. H. Rampton.

The exhibit judging will begin at 8:30 a. m. on Thursday and continue until the judging is finished. This will include the sheep, beef cattle, hogs, dairy and poultry and rabbit exhibits. Three hours of sheep fitting will be held, one hour each day of the show, from 10:00 to 11:00 o'clock each day. This will be a demonstration of fitting of sheep for show and the public is invited to view these demonstrations. The stock judging contest will be held at 3:00 p. m. on Thursday and a beef fitting contest of one hour's duration will be held at 9:00 a. m. on Friday.

From there they went to a corner of the building where there were two ropes holding a platform on which building cleaners had been working. The boys used these ropes to slide to the ground level.
