

PIGGY WIGGLY EMPLOYE FINDS $400.00 NUGGET

With mining becoming more and more popular both as a means of earning a livelihood and as a pastime for those who have become interested in it, a story that has come from Baker is causing considerable comment in La Grande also. Dick Layton, who is in the employ of the Piggy Wiggly store which is owned by Messrs. Walter Price and George Anderson, of this city, owns a mining claim near Baker and has during the last several months been hiring a prospector to work it on a percentage basis.

The other day the miner brought to Baker a nugget which is said to be as large as a hen's egg with a gold content of probably about 15 ounces, which will give the nugget a value of between $350 and $400. Despite the fact that stories of this kind were very frequent in the days gone by in the vicinity of Baker, nuggets of this size are becoming less frequent.

UNION (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Richards returned Sunday evening from Lakeview where about 360 stockmen representing nearly all counties in Oregon and sections of Nevada and Northern California met for the annual Cattle and Horse Growers' convention. Also the new federal livestock loan agencies that have been set up recently came under the discussion. One representative of the committee of 25 stockmen from all sections of the U. S. who recently met in Washington, D. C. to put the problems of the cattle industry before the government, gave a report of the meeting. The entertainment and programs were very successful according to Mr. Richards.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel drowsy and apt. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "a" and "up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts which, when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't look for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25-cent drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

LEGION HOST AT STAGPARTY HELD WEDNESDAY EVE

At an interesting and enjoyable stag meeting held last evening in the small ballroom at the Sacajawea Inn, the members of the La Grande post of American Legion entertained the Spanish War Veterans, the business men of the city and the city commissioners. About 100 were in attendance.

Following the formal opening and closing of the meeting by the legionnaires, Victor Eckley took charge of the meeting and presided during the evening as master of ceremonies. H. E. Coolidge, Comrade Goodwin and Commander Ole Matheson spoke for the Spanish War Veterans and J. H. Pearce, Harry McCarthy and George Barnhart for the business men. Hugh E. Brady spoke in behalf of the members of the legion, welcoming the visitors, and Harley Richardson was called upon to tell something of the plans for the 1935 legion convention which it is hoped may be held in La Grande. John R. Garity gave a short talk regarding the drum corps and Superintendent Herbert Evans, of the La Grande schools, spoke briefly regarding education. Dr. J. L. Ingle, who was the first commander following the organization of the local legion post, gave a short talk on legion activities and the service which it renders to the community as a whole. W. E. Wilkins told what the Normal school means to the community.

Interspersed with these talks were musical numbers of various kinds by the "Backbeaters" and Mr. Powell, a visitor from Tynin Falls, exhibited some fine "buck and wing" dancing. Before the close of the meeting a round-table discussion was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

SCHOOL WORK VITAL, HOWARD TELLS CLASS

In 1929, and a four hundred per cent increase in the citation of five of the most widely read magazines over a period of twenty years. Improvement in general health of American people is shown by an increase in the average span of life in this country from forty-nine years in 1901 to fifty-seven years in 1926, or an increase of eight years in a quarter of a century. While the schools alone are not responsible for the changes in American life indicated by these figures, nevertheless, without the schools they could not have taken place, Howard declared. The broadening of interest through introduction to many fields of study has led to the bookshelves for further expansion of the intellectual horizon. Not only health courses but the sciences in general have tended to dispel primitive health practices that amounted to superstition and to open the way for desirable individual health habits and for the establishment of adequate public health regulations. Message to Graduates Speaking directly to the graduates who are just entering the teaching profession, Howard urged that they

with the larger objectives of education constantly before them and that they labor to keep their school work vital. "The curse of organized education in the past has been the tendency to formalize and devalue whatever it laid its hands upon," said the speaker. "The outstanding element in the modern philosophy of education is vitality. Biology must look out of doors; civics must look at the state house, the city hall, and the city water supply; literature must look at the real significance of books and the characters walking through them rather than at the grammatical form in which thoughts are expressed."

The Normal school orchestra played Hollander's "Processional March" and Rev. J. George Wain gave the invocation. A mixed quartet sang "Nightfall in Granada" by Bueno, preceding Dr. Howard's address. Arnet Amos sang "Imptotence" by Schubert. President Inlow presented the diploma, and Rev. Paul De F. Mortimore gave the benediction. The orchestra played Verdi's triumphal march "Aida."

President and Mrs. Inlow were to hold a reception at 4:30 in the E.O.N. music room for seniors, parents, alumni and faculty, and at 7 p. m. the alumni-senior dinner at the La Grande hotel was to conclude commencement week.

Evening Last Evening In spite of heavy rain in the late afternoon, and showers during the evening, Evensong was held on the grand stairway at the north entrance to the E.O.N. campus as scheduled at 7:15 last night, and not a drop of rain fell until the impressive pageant was completed. Although not so large as usual—due to the weather—a large audience witnessed the colorful ceremony of lighting the candles of knowledge.

In twilight, with Queen Barbara's torch flaring bravely against a background of heavy clouds, but with the elements still and silent, the program of word and music was carried out faultlessly. Perry Caldwell's Normal school band furnished the instrumental music, with Miss Jennie Peterson directing the songs. Barbara Etter, of Pilot Rock, as queen of Evensong, was attended by the Misses Beverly and Barbara Guye, of Pendleton; Dorothy Hill, of Baker; Azalea Bennett, of Enterprise; Bonnie Ruth Thompson, of Echo, and Ruth Geibel, of La Grande.

The many colored costumes of the queen and her attendants and the freshmen girls, were in delightful contrast with the blue caps and gowns of the seniors and the dark suits of the freshmen boys. Always impressive, Evensong this year as usual created a lasting impression not only on those participating, but on the audience as well.
