Blue Mt. Grange— Wednesday was Children's day at Blue Mt. grange. At noon 29 children were seated at a table especially arranged for them. Ice cream, a special treat, was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hazami and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carter. The program, which was appreciated by the grown-ups, follows:

Recitation, Iris May Carter. Piano solo, Jean Jasper. Recitation, Phyllis Courtright. Piano number, Mary Jasper. Trombone, solo, Donald Jasper. Recitation, Dorothy Jean Carter. Violin selections, Edna Jasper. Songs, eight pupils from Riverdale school.

Contest in which Jackie Beery won. At the business session which preceded dinner, it was decided that all grangers bring to grange specimens of all noxious weeds that grow on their farms. The collection will be turned over to the agriculture committee who will in turn have each kind of weed identified by the county agent. Following the identification, means of eradication will be discussed.

Have Sewing Club

The young girls of all the grades at Ladd Canyon school organized a sewing club a while before school closed. Mrs. Joe Diehl, who taught last term and has been re-elected to teach again this fall is their supervisor and they have named the club "The Never Idle Sewing Club" and have their meetings whenever convenient for all to get together. The first was held on Ladd creek when they had a nice lunch. They hope to have at least six meetings during the summer, all of them to be out-of-door meetings at various places over the valley.

To State Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, of the Valeria district, and Miss Lois Witherspoon, of Crickets Flat, are among those grange officers of the valley who are in the Willamette valley attending the state grange.

Vacation School

There were 14 children in attendance when Miss Dorothy Smutz and Miss June Hug opened the Summer-ville and Dry Creek Daily Vacation Bible school Monday morning at Summerville. Miss Smutz teaches the advanced class, while Miss Hug has charge of the others. The teachers expect the enrollment to be 24 by the middle of the week. The school will be held for two weeks, continuing every day except Saturday and Sunday.

Have Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Wells, who are at present living on their home farm in the Valeria district, recently observed the passing of their golden wedding anniversary. Their children all came home for the event and at first only a family party was known of, but as the day approached, the circle was enlarged, and while the family had the dinner and reunion together during the day, some of the friends and neighbors of the years were invited in and a day of splendid associations was rounded out. Mr. and Mrs. Wells, who are among the pioneers of the Grande Ronde valley, had eight children and all of them were here for the event—the four boys, John, of Starkey, Roy, who lives at home, Harry of Alice and Franklin of the Cove, and the four girls, Mrs. Millie Schomann of Arlington, Mrs. Mary Bibbstein of Medford, Mrs. Lizzie Thomas of Starkey and Mrs. Pearl Patty of Amity. These with their families made quite a sizeable company.

Miss Jane Daniel, formerly of this valley, is one of the class of nurses to be graduated Monday evening from St. Elizabeth's hospital in Baker. The exercises are to be held in St. Francis cathedral. On Sunday evening the graduates are to be guests at a banquet given by the Sisters of St. Elizabeth's in the nurses dining room and the junior nurses are giving a reception in the hospital garden immediately after the commencement exercises.

Three Graduate

Three of the pupils at the Valeria school were eighth grade graduates this spring and all will go on to High school, it is stated. One of the three, Violet Wells, made an exceptional record, it is reported, with all of her grades in the 99 to 100 range and she also received the Palmer certificate. Three of the pupils had a perfect attendance record, Dick Wells, Vernon Wells and Joan Miller. Mrs. Merle Howell, who has taught the school for a number of years, concluded her work as teacher here at the close of this year. The school term, ending at the end of the picnic, was one of the picnic spots on the river in the Valeria neighborhood.

Loss Will Be Large

Otis Monroe of the Monroe orchards in the Iowa district, walking through his cherry orchard one day this week, casually picked a handful of sweet cherries. An inspection showed that of the 37 he picked, 20 were perfect and of good size and 15 were split by the recent rains and their growth retarded. This is dangerously near the 50 per cent mark and it remains to be seen whether this percentage of loss will maintain through the orchard. The cherries are rapidly approaching the harvesting period.

ENGLISH MUSTARD 'TINED DOWN' AND FLAVOR KEPT

Making English mustard is simple, and it can be softened without losing its own tang and flavor. Mix mustard and water, add a pinch of salt for flavoring and a pinch of sugar to take away the severity of its "bite."

Warn your guests that it's English mustard, or they may think it is the more familiar variety and use it too freely. It is delicious with roast beef, steak and corned beef.
