Mrs. Max C. Haber, of Omaha, Nebr., Is Complimented Yesterday at Tea With Chapter I, P. E. O. as Guests

Complimenting Mrs. Max C. Haber of Omaha, Nebr., Mrs. H. A. Zurbick entertained the members of Chapter I, P. E. O. at tea on Friday from four until six o'clock. Gay summer blooms were used profusely about the rooms and the tea table was attractive with an amber bowl of roses and daisies. Presiding was Mrs. A. L. Richardson and assisting, Mrs. Hal Bohnenkamp and Mrs. F. A. Epling. Mrs. Haber has visited here many times and has many friends to welcome her. She is an official of the Union Pacific and while in the city they are guests at the Sacajawea Inn.

Never Can Tell What Song Is Going to Click

By Robin Coons
HOLLYWOOD—in the world where June Rhymes with moon and true with blue, almost invariably, a hit is as unpredictable as in the world of movie.

Producers make pictures that are "sure-fire hits" in advance of release. They make others that are "guess" they go out and clean up a fortune.

Gus Kahn, a lyric writer who has years and hits in the game to reminisce about, was reminiscing. The talk went back to nearly 20 years ago when sheet music was a gold mine instead of pin money.

At that time, he explained, song writers wrote two kinds of songs. The first they composed to "sell big." The second was the "counter song," so called because on the music counters it might attract customers who had come only to buy the hit.

One That Still Sells
Kahn was writing one night with Robert Van Alstyne, composer of hits. They had completed two "great" songs.

"We are clicking," said Gus. "It was one of those nights when the tunes and the words just jumped together and danced and in no time at all we'd finished two masterpieces. We were going so good we didn't want to quit. Let's turn out a counter song," I said. Van Alstyne strummed a simple waltz tune and I stuck in some words.

"Well, today I forget the names of the two masterpieces. But the little 'counter song' still sells, after 10 years. It's called 'Memories'."

"It's 'Song of Whoopee'!"
Virtually the same thing happened when Kahn and Walter Donaldson, his present partner, were composing for Eddie Cantor's "Whoopee." A number they "dashed off" one night because it was raining and they had nothing else to do became the hit of the film—"My Baby Just Cares for Me."

The two are doing songs now for Eddie's new picture.

Songs that take months to write are no more sure of popular approval than songs "created" between cigarettes. But Gus Kahn is sure of one thing: June should continue to rhyme with moon, and true with blue.

"You don't need new words," he said. "All you need is new ways to use the old ones. I claim the public doesn't want new words. No, I don't insist on June and moon myself."

"I," he chuckled facetiously, "have graduated to arms and charms."

P. T. A. Groups In Conference Friday Afternoon

Representatives from the Ackerman, Central, Greenwood, High school, Riveria and Willow Parent Teacher associations of La Grande and of the Imbler association met Friday afternoon for conference and discussions at the home of Mrs. Norman W. Pree, regional vice president. Mrs. O. B. Maxam, county president gave a very good report of the recent meeting of the state board of managers in Portland. It was announced that a school of instruction would be held some time in September with state officers in charge.

The recent publicity notebooks made by the different associations were on display.

Mrs. Pree served the group at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Dave Osborne Is Hostess

The Baptist Women's society were guests Wednesday afternoon of Mrs. Dave Osborne and the attendance of members was very large with some visitors. This was the time for the devotional program and Mrs. Roscoe Clark had charge. The rest of the time was spent discussing future plans and other business items, then Mrs. Osborne served.

The next meeting will be the missionary program given by Mrs. William Cousins and Mrs. Frank Jester will be the hostess on Wednesday, June 20.

Eveready Class Picnics Tomorrow

Members of the Eveready class of the First Christian Sunday School of which Miss Annetta Johnson is the teacher, will meet at the church tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock to drive to their favorite picnic spot at the foot of Mt. Emily, for their annual picnic. The lesson study will be conducted at the usual hour. A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon with Miss Dorothy Smuts in charge and Bennie Hicks will have charge of the games in the afternoon.

Campfire Group In Last Picnic

The Gaius Campfire group held their last picnic party Friday afternoon at Pine Cone, being guests of their guardian, Mrs. Ray Williams. Swimming and a picnic supper made up the afternoon. Dot Henning received the prize for having made the best count book. Nine of the girls in this group have completed their work, having taken the torch bearer rank on Thursday and are now qualified to become guardians.

Lawn Party Is Driven Indoors

More than one kind of weather can drive a party indoors, seems for the lawn party which the members of the Westway club of the Women's Benefit association had planned for last evening, when they were to appear in their house dresses, was rather diverted out and found the indoors quite inviting. There was a short business meeting, sewing, visiting and excellent refreshments to make up an enjoyable affair. Fourteen members and six guests were present.

Plans were made for a pot-luck supper at which the members of the families are to be invited on Friday evening, June 29 at 7:00 o'clock at Pine Cone.

STRIKE PEACE PACT BELIEVED SIGNED TODAY

"This agreement must be very carefully worded, so as to carry the whole coast," Ryan added.

"There is really only one word in the agreement over which we have yet to get together on. The situation is better than it has ever been in the whole course of negotiations."

Ryan did not disclose what the word was but it was reliably reported to be "preferential," interpreted differently by longshoremen's representatives and the employers with reference to the hiring of union labor.

Should the leaders of both factions consummate the agreement, it would need only to be ratified by the I. L. A. membership to end the strike, which began May 9.

Both factions were to have met at 10 a. m. but at the request of Thomas G. Plant, representing the employers, the conference was postponed for two hours.

A spokesman for the longshoremen, who declined to permit the use of his name, declared that if the agreement is not accepted the "responsibility will rest with the shippers."

Housing Measure Passed By Senate by 71-12 Vote

It will benefit 5,000,000 wage earners. Major provisions of the bill are: A federal housing administrator, to be appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate. A $200,000,000 fund under his jurisdiction, to insure 20 per cent of losses by private lending institutions in advancing funds for a mutual mortgage insurance fund, also under the administrator, to insure first mortgages on homes and second mortgages on low cost housing projects. It will apply to mortgages up to $10,000, amortized over a 20-year period, and representing not more than 80 per cent of the valuation of new homes or 60 per cent of old ones.

OVER 100 YOUNG PEOPLE REGISTER AT CONFERENCE

COVE (Special)—The summer school for church workers is here again. This is the eleventh annual session, and is bigger and better than ever. More people are here, and some from out state, showing that more people know of the excellency of this particular summer school.

Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Mook and daughter, from Seattle, are among the out state guests. Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Lukens, of Deer Lodge, Mont., are here, and they have brought with them Marion Brown and Betty Hoskins of Deer Lodge to take advantage of the school. Rev. and Mrs. Tonopah Williams, from Nevada, and Miss Alice Oney Tenney from Illinois and Miss Eagan from Minnesota.

A partial list of the students and faculty: Dorothy Aulsten, Nyssa; Barbara Boe, Parkdale; Colin Boe, Parkdale; R. L. Baird, Klamath Falls; Roby Baker, Lakeview; Junia Benedict, Parkdale; Marion Brown, Deer Lodge, Mont.; Eleanor Bruner, Dairy; Billy Byrd, Archie Buchanan, Peggy Buchanan, Burns; Bob Baker, Ralph Bennet, The Dalles; Marion Bray, La Grande; Mrs. Elsie Carter, Portland; Allison Childs, Hood River; Mrs. Robert Cargill, Minneapolis; John Caldwell, Burns; Ruth Cowans, Heppner; Jean Davis, Ontario; Peggy Duff, Adams; Jeanne Dubois, Bend; Miss Eagan, Minneapolis; Fred Parrier, Pendleton; Lucile Fleming, Ontario.

Healthy and Hungry, Iowa Quadruplets 'Doing Well'

Here is the second famous group of babies in the news of the day—quadruplets born to Mrs. L. R. Wycoff, Sac City, Ia. The four youngsters, reported all "doing well" by Dr. G. H. Swearington, left to right: Lorraine Delaine, 2 1/2 pounds; Lester Dean, 4 1/2 pounds; Lorraine Darlene, 4 pounds, and Lorraine Davene, 4 pounds.

Sermonette Edited by Harriet R. MacDonald

Marvelous are thy works and that my soul knoweth right well. Psalm 139-14.

We like to think that the bosom of the earth holds the makings of thousands of springs and summers yet to come. That beauty and joy and love and truth and goodness and spring can never really die! "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" Spring and summer are never away; only hidden for a spell. We like to think that all the joys of the past are not gone forever. That they will come again! Just as the good things in the childhood of each one of us is held tenderly in the memory of his own mother. Just as the earth holds in her bosom the potencies of untold springs preserved from the past and promised for the future. Even so all that is good in the lives of every one of us is cherished imperishable in the infinite power of the God of All Goodness! The imprint of all the good experiences we have ever had is indelibly held in our innermost memory, concealed from us for the time, but ready in the light of a new day to be developed gloriously bright and forever. Pickles Are O.K. With Ice Cream Doctor Declares

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—If you like pickles with your ice cream, eat them, and don't expect to increase your brain power by a diet of celery and fish, says Dr. Dwight L. Wilbur of the Mayo clinic here.

"There is no scientific evidence," says Dr. Wilbur, "that in the healthy individual any combination of foods is deleterious."

"The old thought that cherries and cream or sea food and cream produced poisons or generally caused indigestion when eaten together has been disproved many times and lacks proof in scientific evidence."

"Similarly, combination of cereals and acid fruits, proteins and starch, cranberries and milk, lemons and ice cream, are not harmful."

Phosphorus 'Misleading'
On the contrary, the indigestion which seems to come after eating of such foods is the result of eating excessive amounts of them, says Dr. Wilbur, who is a son of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, former secretary of the interior.

Celery and fish, says the doctor, which contain relatively large quantities of phosphorus, are often spoken of as brain foods because the nervous system also contains a certain amount of phosphorus.

But the idea that one can supply added strength to one's brain or wisdom by eating regularly of these substances is quite far-fetched, he believes.

The average healthy individual who eats the usual American diet of meat, potatoes, bread and butter, eggs, milk, vegetables and fruit to satisfy his appetite need have no worries about getting enough vitamins or minerals, says Dr. Wilbur.

The Sunday School Lesson in Rhyme By Carlos A. Plummer

THE RISEN LORD AND THE GREAT COMMISSION
Mat. 28:1-29.

In Joseph's sealed and guarded tomb, Enshrouded in death's darkest gloom,
The Savior's nail-pierced body lay, Awaiting there glad Easter day.

As Easter morn began to break, "Behold, there was a great earthquake!"
And to the Roman guard's surprise, An angel came down from the skies.

His visage as the lightning shone, As from the door he rolled the stone,
And all the sentries standing round, Fell as if dead upon the ground.

And then the Son of God arose, Triumphed over all His foes; O'er death He won the victory, And put on immortality.

The women who sweet spices brought, The Savior's body vainly sought; "He is not here," the angel said, "For He is risen from the dead."

And as they ran the news to tell, They met the one they loved so well; The risen Lord with cheerful voice Bade fears depart and hearts rejoice.

Soon to a mount in Galilee, Disciples went the Lord to see; And He commissioned them to preach, And all of His commandments teach. —Carlos A. Plummer.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

At the Baptist church Sunday the pastor will take his subjects "Seed and Soil" in the morning and "The Doomed City" for the evening service. The choir will sing an anthem.
