Congress Over, Real Job Begins

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 26 — Congressmen coming dragging in from Washington, some of 'em look like they had hitchhiked. Now they're real work starts. That is trying to get elected this fall.

I tell you it's no easy life when you consider that battle to get back there. I just don't know what they are going to promise the voters this fall. This is a tough time to think up something new.

About a man's only chance is just to say, "Well, boys, I don't know what I will do, I just have to wait till I get there and see what Mr. Roosevelt wants. He knows more about it than me." Yours,

Will Rogers. ©1934, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

PECORA IS NAMED STOCK DICTATOR

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt received word today that Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the senate banking committee, would serve for a year as chairman of the new securities and exchange commission.

While the president has indicated he has not decided definitely on the membership of the commission, it is now generally taken for granted that Pecora will get the chairmanship.

James M. Landis, a member of the federal trade commission, had been mentioned as the possible chairman. It was considered likely he would be a member of the new commission and become chairman later.

George C. Mathews, another trade commissioner, has been talked of for a membership.

Pecora, who as counsel for the senate committee played a big part in drafting the stock market legislation, has been reluctant to accept a place on the commission created by that law, feeling he should return to private practice.

The White House was informed, however, that he had been persuaded to serve for a year as chairman if that post were tendered him.

It Was The Gout That Laid Poor Adam In His Grave

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Adam and Eve had a lot of trouble over an apple, but evidence came forward today that it was gout that finally put the first man in his grave.

This theory was advanced by an ancient manuscript put on display in London's historic College of Arms. The legend on Adam was offered in an ancient vellum pedigree of a Saxon king, who proudly traced his family tree back to Adam. He added illuminatingly at the end that the ancestor of us all "died of gout."

The manuscript was illustrated by picturesque drawings of Adam and Eve—an apple in their hands—surrounded by an assortment of animals. The Bible says "and all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years; and he died." (Genesis 5-5).

SUCCESS SHOULD BE MEASURED BY ABILITY IN BUSINESS OF LIVING

Average Man Could And Should Live to Be 100 Years Old Says Speaker At Rotary Club Today.

The really successful businessman is not the man who makes great amounts of money or achieves the greatest of distinction, said William Reese in a talk to members of the La Grande Rotary club this noon. "The truly successful man is the one who pays most attention to how to live and lives at his best mentally, morally and physically," the speaker added.

"Success can be read in more ways than one," said the speaker, who is pastor of the new Christian church at Portland. "Success is not always the making of finances or performance of outstanding achievement. The man who dies at 50 or 60 years is not a success in true interpretation of the word. He may have been a success in business but not a success in the business of living."

"Animals live five times as long as it takes them to reach maturity. An animal, given opportunity by man to live as it should, takes care of itself and lives to its full intended span of life. A man is said to reach his maturity at between 20 to 25 years, were he to give the same attention to his living as does the animal. Yet the average man is passing on after little more than doubling his years to maturity."

"There are seven important principles of good health and longevity. They are: breathing, elimination, drinking, sleeping, eating, exercise and clothing. We all do all of these things but it is the way we do them that counts for longer and better life. Do them all perfectly as nature

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Joseph W. Harriman, former president of the Harriman National Bank & Trust company was sentenced today to four and one-half years in prison on a conviction of causing false entries in the books of the bank.

Federal Judge John C. Knox directed that Harriman be turned over to the custody of the attorney general of the United States for confinement in the penitentiary for a period of four and one-half years on each count on which he stands convicted.

Hitler's Fall Seen By German Writer

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The New York Post, in the last of a series of copyrighted articles by Johannes Steel, says a reversal of Nazi policies must come if "Germany is not to drop into a bottomless pit of social and economic chaos which would bring the gravest repercussions the whole world over."

"This reversal will come soon," Steel writes, "for Hitler is at the end of his tether and only confusion prevails among his associates. He is left without any plan with which he might oppose the consistent drive of his opponents."

Steel, in previous articles of the series, predicted that the Hitler regime soon will be succeeded by a military dictatorship. In today's article he says the new regime will try to restore Germany's export trade and to do this will enter into "negotiations with the Jews who alone are able to stop the boycott."

"Although no absolute and complete reversal of the Nazi policies as regards the Jews can be expected immediately after the new regime assumes power," Steel writes, "it is certain that the desperate plight of the Jews in Germany will be alleviated by a liberal interpretation of the so-called 'Aryan Paragraph.' Finally, their rights as citizens will be restored."

The article concludes: "As for Hitler himself? 'He will go out of power, just like he got into power—' 'Through the back door.'"
