ON THE WRONG TEAM

Pete Zimmerman, state senator from Yamhill county, self-propelled into the nomination of the "true progressives" candidate for governor, has a fantastic platform which he offers for the digest of the Oregon electorate next fall. Among those who stop to really digest and investigate, we predict for Pete no chance at all. Nevertheless, there are still many exercisers of franchise not only in this commonwealth but the country over, who strangely continue to live, breed and appear each election time despite apparent lack of any digestive apparatus in such matters about their anatomy at all. Therefore "the fearless sponsor of progressive legislation for the common people" from Yamhill county will probably garner in quite a few nods from various nooks and corners of the state where his freakish efforts may convert "believers" to his fantastic banner.

Pete has much to say about distribution of Bonneville power, by the taxpayers of Oregon; he declares for higher income tax; he proposes state ownership of banks; says he will give state aid for schools and old age pensions; will remove interest bearing public improvement bonds and work toward equal pay for laborers with doctors, lawyers, bankers merchants and the like.

Our "true progressive" candidate is reported to have some time since admitted himself as a ripe socialist at heart and disguising himself in the republican ranks only in order to get elected. His present platform would seem to be a final coming out in the open except that in some respects he would appear to outdo the most rabid exponent of so called socialistic desires.

Pete's proffer to "suffering humanity", just mildly gone into, seems to have overlooked a few things. In considering the disposition of the Bonneville dam power it is not considered that this matter will rest almost solely in the decisions of the federal government; it is not taken into consideration at all that Oregon already has the highest income tax of any other state; or that other commonwealths who have tried have gone worse than bankrupt through attempting to conduct state ownership of banks. In its further unfolding, the Zimmerman banner would tend to intimate to the unthinking that at the present time there were no state aid for schools or benefits and pensions to our aged, when on the contrary we are up to our neck in the same. It would be nice to remove coat of interest from improvement bonds but who in heck would ever buy them in such a form. Lastly even Russia has discarded equality of wages as proven destroyer of individual incentive. And at that, in these days, there are many doctors, lawyers, merchants and others who would like to convert into cash sufficient on their books to equal a net return comparative with the laborers salary.

Under the circumstances, Pete, we feel we can afford to be kind in a certain respect and extend our sympathies. We don't think you will even get started toward first base. What comparative few misguided believers you manage to gather under your banner we do not believe will give you the strength to bat out much more than a worthless "fungo" and at best you'll go out on a pop up foul. You're apparently out in the open at last but on the wrong team and, though some may be concerned, we are of the opinion that your battery won't make an impression on the averages of either of the two major clubs.

Trout In Lakes In Wallowa Co. Are Large, Fat

ENTERPRISE, Ore. (Special) — Trout are large and fat in the high mountain lakes, fishers report after visits to several of the best known lakes. C. L. Booth, R. E. Slivers and Rev. Carl A. Reetz went to Aneroird recently and found the water alive with the red bugs and fresh water shrimp which furnish such good food for trout. It is thought the warm winter may have been favorable for the growth of these small creatures. Slivers, who has charge of the distribution of fish in the lakes, went to Aneroird the first of the week, taking up 10,000 small diversides from the Enterprise hatchery.

Ask Your Grocer For 'WHITE SATIN' SUGAR

A fine and pure sugar that hundreds of consumers in the La Grande territory have found — for every use to which it has been put — to equal any other sugar they have ever used. That's WHITE SATIN SUGAR!

WHITE SATIN Sugar is wholly a product of Western farms and Western refineries.

Immense quantities of coal and lime rock — products of western mines and quarries — are used in the sugar refineries of this territory.

The clean, useful white bag which was FIRST offered as a container by WHITE SATIN is also wholly a product of American farms and mills.

MR. AND MRS. CONSUMER — IS THIS NOT WORTH THINKING ABOUT? —

American farmers and American workmen in state and districts adjacent to you are producing and refining WHITE SATIN Sugar, and these same people provide a market for the products of your farms and mills, and employment for people engaged in transportation in these territories.

For successful canning you do not need maple, cane, beet or palm sugar. You need PURE SUGAR. And you can never get a bag of WHITE SATIN Sugar that is not pure. Also, if you have an idea that fruit does not jell successfully unless you use sugar from some particular source.

Please remember that sugar does not make jelly—it takes pectin, either contained in the fruit naturally or added to it, to make the jelly. Your jam or jelly will not be imperfect because of the sugar used, as long as you use pure sugar. And WHITE SATIN Sugar is PURE SUGAR.
