PROPAGANDA CAN'T FOOL YOUNG MIND
Teachers in the Soviet Union, as everybody knows, take pretty seriously the idea that the purpose of education is to fit the individual for a place in contemporary society. And since contemporary society, to a young Russian, means a Communist state, Russian school children get a heavy dose of Marxism along with the three R's. In their work and in their play, they are forever being inoculated with the idea that everything which is not Communist in its origin and purpose is more or less worthless.

But Maxim Gorky, famous Russian novelist, got curious, recently, and decided to find out just how the child mind reacts to all this. So he set to work to make a survey of the Russian school child's views on literature. Russian school children, it should be explained, are allowed to read plenty of books by non-Marxist writers; but the books that are most constantly put in front of them, the ones they are urged to read, are, of course, Communist.

Well, anyway, this investigator found that the five writers Russian children most liked to read were none other than Jonathan Swift, Jules Verne, Daniel Defoe, Charles Dickens and Mark Twain—most of whom never so much as heard of Communism! All of which indicates, to begin with, that Russian children have pretty good taste in their reading. But it also proves that the wiles of propagandists are utterly powerless before the magic of the genuine literary artist.

Working up tales about tractors, Communist youth, and the building of a praiseworthy occupation; but where is the man who can give such a tale the sheer enchantment of a "David Copperfield" or a "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea?"

The youngster who visits Robinson Crusoe's never-never island and hears the surf thundering along its yellow beaches, or who travels in lacy contentment down the Mississippi with Huck Finn on Huck's immortal raft—he has taken a trip beyond the bourne of time and place and he knows what literature can do for the human spirit.

He may be the most soulful of young Communists; but to ask him to turn his back on such adventures and prefer the put-up job of a Marxist propagandist is to misunderstand human nature about as completely as possible.

EXPANSION OF WALKOUT MAY BE NEW STEP
will meet tonight to discuss the possibility of a general strike in sympathy with the maritime unions.

"Governor Frank Merriam did a rotten thing when he called out the national guard," O'Connell declared. "It was unnecessary and uncalled for and the labor unions are up in arms."

Crim fenced national guardsmen, wearing trench helmets and with bayonets fixed, officially took control of the strike-torn San Francisco waterfront today.

Trucks mounted with machine guns rumbled over the cobblestones along the five and a half mile thoroughfare, but there was a peaceful calm in contrast with the riotous scenes of yesterday in which two men were shot to death and 34 wounded in fierce clashes with police.

At Oakland, however, a striker was perhaps fatally wounded when four men attacked a steamship company electrician, Clayton Miner, 37, Oakland, was shot through the abdomen and physicians said he probably would die.

Headquarters of the national guard were established in the city's famed Ferry building here, located at the foot of Market street.

Col. O'Sullivan said that a total of 6,500 troopers could be placed in the district within a day if the need arose.

Sentries were placed on the side of the embankment by the piers, while police, relieved from their strenuous duties of yesterday, kept guard at strategic points to keep traffic away from the "hot spots" of the rioting which resulted in the fatalities.

No violence was reported today and only a few strikers were observed along the waterfront.

Meanwhile the labor disputes board appointed by President Roosevelt held issued no statement regarding the status of strike settlement negotiations.

at the many oil plants and terminals during the morning. About 500 participated in last night's disorder, police reported.

The strikers were successful, however, in preventing the movement from the Union Oil company plant of a train of nine tank cars of gasoline.

Following these tournaments he will join the eastern circuit of shows, which will be climaxed by the national championships at Forest Hills.

HOLD ONTO THAT HAMMER FIVE MORE YEARS, JIM!
LONDON (AP)—Due to the stringent rules of the Professional Golfers' association of Great Britain, it will be five years before James Wallace, who turned pro after reaching the final of this year's amateur championship at Prestwick, can play in money tournaments.

The old line pros protect their own, and every player who deserts the amateur ranks must serve a five-year apprenticeship at a club of recognized standing before he can branch out as a full-fledged teacher or money player.

All are eligible, however, for the British open tournament.

"Your Advertising of 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE is all WRONG"

Reports pouring in from G-3 users everywhere read like these: "43% more non-skid mileage is too conservative"—"60% would be closer"—"Feel I'll receive 100% more non-skid mileage." Maybe we have put the figure low, but—Goodyear's 43% statement is based on the toughest tire tests ever devised—speeding up to 50—jamming on brakes—every few miles—day and night—tougher use than most people give tires. Come see this wonderful new G-3 that "The Public Test Fleet" says is better than we claim—the costlier-tire-to-build that costs YOU nothing extra to buy!
