sider business of vital importance to the organizations; to aid the rank and file of the membership to obtain a better understanding of what the organization should mean to them and, to give every member a chance to voice his sentiments for the up-building and welfare of the brotherhood.

The program follows (all meetings at Sacajawea Inn unless otherwise specified):

BAKER CO. HOLDS SECOND FIELD DAY

UNION (Special)—The second annual Baker county field day was held at the Eastern Oregon experiment station last Sunday with an attendance of about 300. It was an all-day affair and a big basket dinner began about 11:30. The Baker chamber of commerce served ice cream for the crowd and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Richards of the station furnished coffee, sugar and cream. A short program followed the dinner with Clifford Jenkins, assistant county agent in charge, Mrs. Mill Nolle, of New-Bridge, sang several numbers and Bud Biskely made entertaining charcoal caricatures of different characters in Baker county. D. E. Richards gave the address of welcome. Prof. G. H. Hyslop, of Corvallis, astronomist of the Oregon experiment station, gave a talk on the experiments with grains and grasses conducted over a period of 20 years.

the station. D. E. Richards conducted the tour and explained the different experimental plots with their schemes of fertilizing and rotating crops to secure the best results. The tour wound up at the fattening pens where a carload of baby heaves are being fattened for the Pacific International this fall. A prize was awarded to the one guessing closest to the weight of the carload lot. Prizes were to be announced later on the Baker grange having the largest representation, the member who traveled the greatest distance and the weight guessing contest.

There will be no swim week activities next week because of the Semi-Centennial U. P. celebration.

FARM-DEBT ADJUSTMENT BODY ACTIVE

records made public by County Agent H. G. Avery, who has served as secretary of the group.

Those who have served on the committee, all without pay, are: E. H. DeLong, Merrell Conley, T. B. Johnson, A. K. Parker and Charles Bean.

Working without legal status, though part of a state and nationwide set-up of state and county committees to assist in farm-debt adjustment, this committee has in Union county, assisted 14 creditors and debtors to get together, conducted six hearings on cases, and has to date brought about four agreements involving $54,000 where debtors and creditors alone were unable to reach a satisfactory settlement. Creditors have in many cases taken material discounts on mortgages and accounts. Frequently all indebtedness has been lumped together and covered by a new loan from the Federal Land bank.

at Spokane, thus effecting considerable saving in interest and giving more time to meet obligations.

In carrying out its work the committee usually determines first about how much can be obtained as a loan from the federal land bank or as a commission's loan, or both. The farmer and his creditors are then brought together for conference with the committee, at which time the secured creditors are asked for an adjustment and the unsecured creditors share the discount necessary in order that all may be cared for under the new loan.

The committee in this county has encountered a fine spirit of co-operation from the many creditors, which are chiefly insurance companies and banks, says County Agent Avery. Even where mortgage loans were fully secured, the holders have shown a desire to negotiate for settlements, rather than to foreclose. By providing the machinery for such negotiation, the committee has been able to prevent a considerable number of farmers from losing their places.

One result of the debt adjustment work has been the cleaning up of considerable delinquent tax accounts. The federal land bank loans obtained carry an interest rate of five per cent, with the principal payments amortized and not starting until three years after the loan is made. The commission's loans are to be paid off in 10 equal installments, starting in three years.

practically understood that the local post would receive support for the next convention. A committee appointed to begin working on the publicity for La Grande was Fred E. Kettle, past state commander; Hugh H. Brady, past state vice commander; C. J. Shorb, adjutant; W. E. Wilkins and Victor Eckley.

A representation from the Veterans of Foreign Wars presented a plan whereby veterans organizations here would hold two or three joint meetings each year. The officers of the legion and three persons each from the Spanish War Veterans and V. F. W. will form a committee on this matter.

A letter of thanks was voted to be sent to Ray Buell for the use of the dance hall for the dance which was held for the benefit of the playground fund. It was also voted that $15 be donated by the legion to the playground fund.

Two visitors were present from the Baker post and Bert Trexler, commander, expressed appreciation for the assistance given by the La Grande legionnaires in their recent celebration, and promising the support of the city of Baker in the coming Old Timers celebration here next week. They also promised their support of La Grande as the next convention city, and a letter was received from the Union post making a similar promise.
