Mrs. Ashby And Daughter Entertain

At a very lovely party, 16 friends were guests Wednesday of Mrs. H. N. Ashby and Miss Ashby who were complimenting Miss Jane Stange, bride-elect. The luncheon was served at 1:00 o'clock, the dining room of the Ashby home being very beautiful. On a small table in the center of the room was a gorgeous bridal bouquet and from the chandelier was a pom-pom of white tulle and white tulle. The tables at which the guests were served a three course luncheon were placed about the room.

Contract followed during the afternoon. Miss Stange received the guest prize, Mrs. Kinzel of Merrill, Wis. the out-of-town guest prize, Mrs. Francis Oreluch prize for high score and Mrs. Fred Lanzer, for second high.

CO-OP CREAMERY PLANNING PICNIC

UNION, Ore. (Special)—The Union County Co-operative Creamery will soon complete its third year of business and since its opening on Sept. 1, 1931, it has nearly doubled its output of butter. When the creamery began operating the patrons had signed up 2400 cows and the first month's output of butter was 40,355 pounds. At the present time the creamery is receiving cream from 6000 cows and is manufacturing 80,000 pounds of butter a month.

The report for the first three years is as follows: Butter produced, first year, $16,248; paid out to farmers, $63,769.92; second year, 650,422 pounds; paid out to farmers $106,942.20; third year, 704,000 pounds; paid out to farmers, $112,050. Total butter produced, 1,860,870 pounds; paid out to farmers $301,809.

During the past year the creamery has sold between sixty and seventy thousand pounds of butter to its patrons alone showing that despite the talk about farmers using oleomargarine or other butter substitutes, the percentage can not be very large. Six tons of Sunshine cheese have been sold to patrons during the past year.

Over 95 per cent of the butter put out is of the highest grade bringing a 92 score. This shows that the farmer takes excellent care of the cream. The co-operation of the farmers has built up the creamery business in Union county and helped to put it on the sound basis that is now shown. The future outlook is good with prices making a gradual advance.

The plans for the annual picnic to be held at Cove are progressing and the program will soon be completed. Among the prominent speakers to appear are State Grange Master, Ray Gill of Portland, and Representative Walter Pierce. Musical features will include the Orton orchestra of Cove, the Wranglers of Union and others from La Grande, North Powder and Cove. Everyone is invited to come and bring a basket lunch. The creamery will furnish the ice cream and coffee.

Chats With Parents

SENSE OF FAILURE
By Brooke Peters Church

Nothing is more harmful to a child's morale than constant criticism. Persistent correction, lectures, scoldings, will finally reduce the child to a state of despair in which he feels that nothing he does is right, and it is no use trying.

Children are generally far more sensitive than one might suppose from the crust of indifference with which they are apt to receive the running fire of censure. Often a child who seems impervious to reproof and correction cries himself to sleep with a feeling of hopeless discouragement.

It may take years for a child who feels his inadequacy too strongly to build up enough self-confidence to meet the world on equal terms. Having been told only of his faults he has never realized his good points, and so has no defense against other people.

Where possible criticism should be balanced by praise, and for every defective remark something constructive should be given to take the place of what is gone. The child who is scolded for dirty hands might be reminded that his hands look well when they are clean; the hot-tempered child should be encouraged with praise of his personal charm when he is in good mood; a selfish deed should be compared with the generosity of other occasions.

Such training builds up in the child the desire to be at his best so that he may receive commendation. Instead of leading him down with a hopeless sense of failure and taking away his ambition to improve, it shows him that his shortcomings are only part of the picture, and can be blotted out by merely changing the balance of good and bad.

Life then becomes to him, not a constant struggle against impossible odds, but a fight with every chance of ultimate victory.
