"We hope every member and friend of the church will be present so we can arrange for organizing the work for another year," the pastor states.

Everyone is cordially invited.

Baptist Church
(Spring and Sixth)

At the Baptist church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. B. Marcus Ogden, will use as his subject "The Words of Eternal Life." The choir will sing the anthem "Come Thou Almighty King" by Pettrie.

A cordial invitation to any or all these services is extended to the public.

The Salvation Army
(211 Fir Street)

Stanley Jones says: "Christianity must be defined as Christ — not the Old Testament, not western civilization, not even the system built around Him in the west, but Christ Himself; and to be a Christian is to follow Him."

To follow Christ means to leave off sham and sophistication and to keep in contact with a Higher Power as even Christ kept in contact with His Father in Heaven. We are too self-minded.

"Following Jesus to the End" will be the captain's subject for Sunday evening. A message especially for those interested in their future destiny.

Other services include:

Sunday: 10:00 a. m. Sunday school to which people of all ages are invited. 11:00, Holiness meeting; 8:30, Y. P. Legion.

Week-day services on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8:00 p. m.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The golden text is "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself" (John 5:26).

Among the citations which comprises the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life that both thou and thy seed may live" (Deut. 30:19).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We all must learn that Life is God. . . . This Science teaches man that God is the only Life, and that this Life is Truth and Love; that God is to be understood, adored, and demonstrated; that divine Truth casts out suppositional error and heals the sick" (pp. 469, 471).

Confessions are heard Saturday afternoons and evenings from 3:30 to 5 o'clock and from 7 to 8 p. m.

Henceforth no confessions will be heard on Sundays or holidays or before the 8 o'clock mass. Confessions will be heard before the 8 o'clock mass.

Sermonette
Edited by Harriet R. MacDonald

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths.

"Guidance" is a word that has become prominent in our religious vocabulary. It is stressed particularly in the Oxford Group Movement. The idea of it is that if we look to the Lord for guidance we shall certainly experience a guided life, even as to minutest details. The Spirit is not poured into us, but it makes its impact on us and our reaction to it constitutes our livingness. Its tendency is towards bringing us into harmony with its own nature and purpose. The "urge" of inborn life is guidance. And we are being led by devious paths to the best possible fulfillment of a heavenly destiny. What happens in the course of this leading depends on various factors, chief among which is the reaction of our affections and thoughts.

Of guidance we are not ordinarily aware, for the Lord respects our freedom. There is nothing of a mark-making quality, nothing character-building in a compelled life. If we have delight in the heavenly life, the leading is more direct than if our delight is associated with what is opposed to heaven. Indeed, the troublesome experiences which perplex us are mostly, if not entirely, due to our self-willed antagonism to the Lord's purpose for us. But whatever we do, the guidance is never failing. We are led to detect the folly or wrong action by its painful consequences. Every detail of our life is governed and controlled by the Divine Overrule.

The Sunday School Lesson in Rhyme
By Carlos A. Plummer

ELIJAH HEARS GOD'S VOICE
I Kings 19:9-21.

Elijah of Mount Carmel fame
Whose prayers brought rain and flame,
Afraid as Jezebel became
And troubled at her vow.

He runs away the prophet, fine
Mt. threatening life to slay,
And his despair to mortal mind
In Heaven's accordance, now.

He lodges in that solemn retreat
Where some felt God was near;
Quite to make God's voice repeat,
"What are you doing here?"

Elijah thought God's children rude
Who all hallowed him, quite,
And gratitude of saving good
Akin to stone, was flint.

No, no! "The prophets Ours have slain,
And stand to scandal Thee
I only, of Thy saints, remain
And they are seeking me."

The Lord replies "Return again,
Why thus discouraged, so?
I've seven score thousand men
Who serve and worship me."

Elijah then dismisses his fears
And goes God's will to do,
And through all his remaining years
His heart was brave and true.

MILITIA MEN ARE IN CAMP AT PORTLAND

the dock, near the city center, and moved a crowd of about 150 maritime union strike pickets a block and a half from the piers.

There was no disorder as the police moved to the wharves and ordered the pickets to retire a safe distance.

Guardsmen Called Out

Meanwhile the Oregon national guardsmen, supported by rifles, bayonets, machine guns, gas companies and small howitzers, held themselves in readiness for a quick dash to the city should developments require their presence. The troops were mobilized last night on order of Governor Julius L. Meier to prevent loss of life and bloodshed should violence occur during the attempts to open the port of Portland to commerce. (La Grande and Union guard companies were not called out.)

Hillman Lapsdellmann, northwest manager of the McCormick Steamship company, declared today "a full schedule on all our services will be resumed at all coast ports on Monday."

Acting immediately on the basis that the ports here will be opened, the American-Hawaiian Steamship company announced it will dispatch the steamer America to Portland from San Francisco tomorrow to load 12,000 tons of cargo for the east coast. The company said the vessel will discharge about 2000 tons here.

R. A. Green, attorney for the state federation of labor, described mobilization of the national guard as "most unwise at this time."

Green said calling out the troops was most unfortunate, as "at this time the controversy was nearer a settlement than at any time since the beginning of the strike."

A minor blast was discharged shortly after midnight in the area in which the tie-loading operations were being conducted today. Police said probably not more than two sticks of dynamite were used. A hole eight feet long was torn in a board fence. The bombing was attributed to the labor strife.

Conservative labor leaders, while expressedly indignant over the mobilization of the Oregon national guard for waterfront protection, today urged their followers to "keep your feet on the ground."

United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, a conciliator of labor disputes, said as he left by plane for San Francisco this morning that he had received assurances that labor will remain calm, at least until he has had time "to work things out in San Francisco."

TRADE WAR GAIN AGAINST BRITAIN SEEN BY JAPAN

By Glenn Babb

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — May, the month in which Great Britain imposed quota restrictions on Japanese textile imports into the United Kingdom and British colonies, saw Nippon's cotton goods set a new high record.

Statistics published by the Japan Cotton Spinner's association support the Japanese contention that they have wrested from Britain her century-old leadership in cotton textiles exports, for generations the first staple of world commerce.

Nippon Wins First Clash

Thus the advantage in the first phase of the Anglo-Japanese trade war inaugurated by Walter Runciman's quota announcement, is claimed by Japan.

In May the Japanese cotton industry exported 265,623,000 square yards valued at $14,350,000, surpassing the previous high mark of March, 1934, by 42,000,000 square yards and $2,500,000.

According to the association's figures British exports for May were 150,000,000 square yards, the lowest figure since August, 1933, the month in which the rising tide of Japan's sales passed the falling British figures.

For the whole of 1933 Japan's cotton goods exports were 2,000,000,000 square yards and Britain's 2,031,000,000.

Gains In British Lands

Indicating that the new British barriers were ineffectual, the figures showed that some of Japan's largest gains were made in British territory, especially India, the Straits Settlements, Australia and South Africa.

For the first five months of 1934 Japan's cotton goods exports to the markets in which competition with Britain has been keenest — India, China, Dutch East Indies, Africa, Malaya and Latin America—amounted to 622,000,000 square yards against 457,000,000 for Great Britain.

Japan's gains at Britain's expense were especially marked in the Dutch Indies, Africa, Malaya and Central America.

The Japanese advance in the new Latin America in May bought 13,615,000 square yards of Japanese cotton goods, a new record for that territory.

Dutch Shut Best Market

Japan's largest single market was the Dutch East Indies, which bought 55,943,000 square yards. This is likely to be the highwater mark for the Dutch possessions for some time, since new import restrictions have gone into effect.

For the first four months of 1934 Japan's booming cotton goods export trade gained 19 per cent over 1933, being valued at $42,600,500 as against $36,700,000 for the corresponding period of last year.

Rev. Walz Home From Attending Synod of Oregon

Rev. J. George Walz returned this morning from the meeting of the Synod of Oregon, holding its annual meeting at Albany this week. Mr. Walz as moderator of the synod delivered the annual sermon on Tuesday morning. Outside speakers were Dr. William P. Klein of Philadelphia, representing the Board of National Missions; Dr. Judson Ballard of Occidental College; Miss Virginia McKenzie of Japan; Drs. Frank W. Bible and Weston T. Johnson of New York; representing the Board of Foreign Missions; Prof. Gurdon C. Oxtoby of San Francisco Seminary.

Mr. Walz as chairman of the committee on National missions reported on the work of the year, announcing that the national board was able the past year to close the year with a balanced budget, indeed with nearly $20,000 to the good. This committee recommended that the synod of Oregon enter into organic union with the Oregon Council of Christian Education, which has been merged with the Home Missions Council of Oregon. This organization is engaged in the effort to eliminate all overlapping of the work of the various denominations in the state, assigning certain territory to each for supervision and care. A committee was appointed to study the advisability of redistricting the presbyteries of the state, which may finally result in the consolidation of the presbytery of Pendleton with the presbytery of Grande Ronde.

The next meeting of the Synod will be held in Portland on corresponding dates with the Synod of Washington, that both synods may have the services of Dr. Robert E. Speer, internationally known secretary of the Presbyterian church.

EDWARD WALZ AND WIFE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Walz, eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. J. George Walz, arrived at the manse on Wednesday evening from Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Walz is manager of the Multigraph and Promotional Mailing department of the Meredith Publishing Co., of Des Moines, publishing Better Homes and Gardens and Successful Farming. He is chairman of the Executive Board of the Iowa Credit Union League composed of all the credit unions of Iowa, 120 in all with 4000 members. As a veteran he holds his membership with the Baldwin Patterson Post of the American Legion. Mr. and Mrs. Walz will visit at the parental home for several days before returning to Iowa.

TWO GRAND CIRCUIT RACE TRACKS ENLARGE STANDS

NEW YORK (AP) — With new and larger grandstands being rushed to completion at two grand circuit tracks and an extended meeting at Lexington, Ky., the 1934 big league harness loop is taking on greater speed and enthusiasm as it progresses.

At Goshen, N. Y., scene of grand circuit races August 13-18 and the $40,000 Hambletonian August 15, William H. Cane, sponsor, is extending the grandstand to accommodate a greatly increased throng, which reached 30,000 last year.

Steady work on the Goshen mile track is putting the harness speedway in ideal shape for the Goshen trots which will follow the 10-day card at Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H.

News from Lexington is to the effect that an "old-fashioned" Blue Grass grand circuit meeting will be held there over an extended period, from Sept. 20-Oct. 6. With a brand new grandstand at the old trotting track harness racers will once more be seen at the colorful Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association grounds.

DUCKLINGS EMBODY LUCK FOR LONDON LAWYERS

LONDON (AP) — Lincoln's Inn, one of London's ancient and famous legal societies, finds its luck hanging on the fate of two ducklings.

It is traditional that good fortune comes to the Inn in years when ducks are hatched in this quiet spot buried away from the rush and noise of the city.

A pair of mallards came this season, built a nest and 11 eggs were laid. The custodian of the Inn, to help the birds, moved the nest for protection. The mallards flew away.

With the luck of the Inn at stake, a hen was placed on the eggs. She pecked to death all of her brood except two, but they are being treated as carefully as the Inn's most precious toms.

Coast Owners Do Double Duty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two Pacific Coast league baseball club owners also act as managers of their teams. They are Earl McNeely, of Sacramento, and Tom Turner, of Portland. Turner took over the manager's role when Walter McCredie was forced to the sidelines with illness.

Shipment of Florida green peas was the largest on record this season, totaling 744 carloads.

Few applications for federal relief have come from Florida farmers who followed a "live-at-home" program advocated by state agricultural authorities.
