HE'S TWO AND A HALF, BUT ALREADY LIKES HIS PIPE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two-and-a-half year old Mickey Buehr's favorite pastime is smoking his grandfather's corn-cob pipe — which is plenty strong. The pipe prodigy, whose parents live on Pittsburgh's north side, comes from a long line of smokers. On the feminine side, his great-grandmother — aged 103 — still smokes regularly. The child's father, W. J. Buehr, said Mickey learned to smoke by soothing his gums on the corn-cob while the grandfather nodded in his chair. He had formed the habit before he was found out. "If you want to see him take a rumpus," said the father, "just try to take the pipe away from him."

GERMAN WOVEN LEATHER MAKES NOVELTY PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Woven leather, a novel product for shoes, ladies' handbags, upholstery, etc., now being produced in Germany, has brought inquiries from many countries, in 15 of which it is protected by patents, says the department of commerce. Lightweight sheepskin is cut into squares, the edges beveled for seamless joints and glued together in an endless band. This is cut on a special machine into continuous strips. A weaving loom weaves the multi-colored strips into a fabric in which the warp is leather, while the weft is strong yarn.

CODE EDUCATION CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED SOON

A state-by-state nation-wide campaign of education, stressing the importance to the consumer, the producer, and the trade of the National Food and Grocery Distributors' Code, will be launched in August by the national code authority for that industry, C. H. Jassen, executive chairman of the national body, announced today in a telegram to Lester King, head of the La Grande area code authority.

The Jassen telegram read as follows: "By authority of a resolution adopted by the National Food and Grocery Distributors' Code Authority, a nation-wide campaign of education by means of forty-eight state-wide conferences of local food code authorities will be launched about the middle of August and continue into October. Conferences will be attended by at least one member of the national code authority and one member of its executive staff, and will be held in each state under the auspices of the state code authority. Attendance of a member of the N. R. A. administration staff is hoped for. "Representatives of all local code authorities are urgently requested to attend, and special invitations will be issued for attendance by representatives of consumer, producer and labor groups and by the public at large. "The purpose of the campaign is to present the advantages that have accrued to the nation as well as to the trade itself during the eight months of operation under the code. "Definite announcement will be made later as to the time and place of the Oregon conference."

TO COMBAT DROUGHT

One of the brightest ideas brought forward in Washington in a long time seems to be that suggestion for a great "shelter belt" of trees to minimize drought in western farm lands and to prevent dust storms. This scheme, now under consideration by the president, is a fine example of the sort of thing that human beings can do to improve the climatic conditions under which they live.

As tentatively outlined, it would call for the planting of a great belt of trees—a belt 100 miles wide, and reaching from the Canadian border to the Texas Panhandle, stretching 1300 miles through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma. This belt would not be solidly wooded. First there would be a strip of trees, then a broader strip of farmland; then another strip of trees, another strip of farmland, and so on, throughout the 100 miles of its width.

According to Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree association, "such a program will go far toward preventing wind erosion of the soil, such as occurred during the recent drought, and would add vastly to the fertility of farm lands in the enormous section east of the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi river. Certain it is that we have been wasting our soil resources in almost as spendthrift a manner as we once wasted our timber resources. Vast areas of good farm land in the west will eventually become useless, through drought and erosion, unless something is done. Establishment of a shelter belt like this would be a great step forward in conservation of an irreplaceable natural resource.

To be sure, it would cost money, but as long as we are spending as we are, it is well to spend on things worth while. Mr. Pack estimates the cost of this project at $75,000,000. The job would take from 10 to 12 years to finish, and would call for services of thousands of workers. Money spent in such program would be money very well spent. We cannot afford to let the nation's granary turn into a semi-arid waste land. China affords a striking example of the way in which good land can become worthless when protective measures are not taken. No one wants to see the United States go the same way.

SPOKANE, Wash. — Federal crop estimates released in July show that

ALL-BRAN MADE HIM REGULAR AS CLOCK

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Constipation

We quote from his voluntary and enthusiastic letter: "After reading your advertisement, I decided to use ALL-BRAN. I had been taking pills right along. But now I don't have to take pills.

"I take ALL-BRAN every morning, and am as regular as the clock. It has done me a lot of good." — Stephen Higgins, 51 S. Main St., South Norwalk, Conn.

Common constipation frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet this condition can be overcome, usually, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Tests show this delicious cereal provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking harmful patent medicines? Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Use it also in making fluffy muffins and breads, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

the states of Washington and Oregon are the only two states showing an increase in apple production for this year over 1933. On the other hand the national yield is reported as down more than one-fourth.

One-third of the entire nation's apple crop is placed within the state of Washington.

the time of the inception of the commission until July 1, and that only $107,089 of the original $400,000 appropriation for organization purposes has been used.

Profits from operation of stores and agencies netted $136,265.52. Income from licenses, $68,014, and gallonage tax on liquors of not more than 14 per cent alcoholic content, $103,284. Officials estimated that the total revenue for the first 12 months of operation would reach one million dollars.

A steadily increasing volume of sales by stores and agencies was revealed by the fact that in June sales totaled $54,824, a gain of $41,632 over May.

would serve both as a partial guarantee against a wheat shortage in case of another bad drought, and would furnish food for livestock if ordinary forage ran short.

Secretary Wallace said that "if the drought keeps up for three weeks we will have a real serious situation on our hands." He said the AAA program softened nature's blows by saving much corn for future food and stimulating pasture and hay production.

Other drought developments: 1. The HPC will lend $10,000,000 to a company to purchase surplus hides of cattle bought by the farm administration.
