PAPERS PRAISE LA GRANDE FOR ITS CELEBRATION

The following comments on the success of the Semi-Centennial U. P. celebration held here this month, appeared in Union and Willows county newspapers last weekend:

LA GRANDE DID WELL The citizens of La Grande may well feel proud of their success in staging the semi-centennial railroad celebration. It was the greatest undertaking of its kind ever staged in Eastern Oregon, and it was put over in a manner that was unexcelled from all who witnessed it—Union Weekly Republican.

LA GRANDE CELEBRATION BIG SUCCESS La Grande has received publicity far and wide regarding the success of the Union Pacific Semi-Centennial celebration staged there this past week.

People from all over the Northwest have commented on the big three day event. It was a success in every phase. The entertainment was complete. Every member of the program was presented in the most advantageous way. La Grande was a busy place those three days, and the whole community seemed anxious to extend every courtesy that was possible to make comfortable those who came from afar to visit and take in the celebration.

The program put on Saturday was spectacular in its nature. People on every hand were heard to express their approval of the showing. Jim McLaughlin, manager and A. W. Nelson, assistant of La Grande, are to be congratulated on the success they made of the big program. La Grande did herself proud at the instance of these men—Willows Sun.

LA GRANDE'S PARTY "It was some party," this is a composite description given by those who attended the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of railroading in La Grande.

Three days of joy and fun, marvelous parades and gorgeous pageantry, thousands of happy people all out for a good time, handshaking and back slapping of old timers, home again to help the people of La Grande with the greatest celebration ever undertaken by the city.

It was a time of home coming for hundreds of native sons and daughters, filled fathers and grandfathers who had migrated to other cities, here to the old home town for a vacation with their loved ones.

The railroad has played a big part in the history of La Grande. It was fitting that La Grande should celebrate such an occasion and its citizens be so commended for the spirit which prompted them to honor the old timers in such an elaborate and conservative demonstration, thus preserving the memory of those intrepid and hardy men and women of a generation past passing through the corridors of time.

Those far seeing first citizens of La Grande have builded well and in the comparatively brief space of half a century, they leave to their progeny a city of beautiful homes, tree shaded avenues and magnificent buildings. And the railroad, with which they have been so closely identified, still serves them with ever increasing efficiency. May the stalwart sons of the metropolis of Eastern Oregon carry on until their home town is also the metropolis of the Inland Empire—Enterprise Record-Chiefdom.
