

HOLLYWOOD WINS FROM ANGELS AS REDS TRIM SEALS

By The Associated Press

Its becoming a common occurrence for Coast League entries to take it on the chin one week and bob right back into the pennant fight the next. Hollywood is the latest member of the comeback club. The Stars let Oakland club them out of the circuit leadership and the first division two weeks ago and then took a series licking from the Missions. Now, over the bodies of their redoubtable townsmen, the Angels, they have climbed back into fourth place. They did the trick yesterday, drubbing the pacemakers 7-3 for the second day in a row to move past San Francisco into the first division as the Seals ran afoul of Wayne Osborne's six-hit tossing and were trounced by the Missions, 9-3.

Oakland-Seattle and Sacramento-Portland games were rained out.

Pitchers Keep Detroit Tigers In Pennant Race

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)

A glance at the major league mound records for the current season reveals one good reason why the Detroit Tigers are up on top of the American league standing despite the undoubted strength of their rivals, the Yankees. The reason is found in Eiden Auker, a big, strong young right hander who came up from Beaumont last year.

The 23-year-old Kansan, who has been taking his place with Fred Marberry, Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe, recorded his ninth victory of the season against four defeats yesterday when he shut out the third-place Indians with four hits to gain a 3-0 triumph.

This gave the Tigers "Big Four" a total of 47 victories out of 62 scored by the team. In contrast to these performances the Yankees have been able to show only three consistent winners, Lefty Gomez, Charley Ruffing and Johnny Murphy.

The Yankees gave Ruffing a chance to take it easy and still win his 12th.

F. R. GIVEN OVATION BY ROSE CITY

the first lady of the land, despite a short, brisk shower that beat down from above.

Standing tall, erect, his head high and with a radiant smile upon his face, President Roosevelt again and again greeted his countrymen from the deck, the gangplank and later from his open automobile.

There was no statement from the president. He chatted happily in a low voice with members of his family and with those of his party.

Through the streets of this proud and happy city the president went in an open car, the second of the parade formation. Mrs. Roosevelt was with him in the rear seat of the large automobile, and Governor Julius L. Meier sat between them.

As the presidential caravan left the city center, crossed the Willamette river and headed eastward over a wide boulevard to the Columbia river highway, it gained speed. Not too much speed, though, as secret service operatives instructed. The highway was slippery in spots.

The caravan proceeded up the scenic highway route to the site of the Bonneville power and navigation dam on the Columbia, where other tens of thousands had waited for hours to see the president. At the site of this $31,000,000 project the president was to deliver a brief address at 3 p. m. This done, and having made a casual tour of the workings of the dam, he was to board the presidential train for Spokane. Arriving there tomorrow, he will make a side trip to another huge federal undertaking, the Grand Coulee dam, where again he planned to address a great assembly.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 3 (AP)—Crippling rainfall, moving eastward, fell over the inland Empire today and last night, improving forest fire conditions and insuring President Roosevelt a dustless trip on his inspection tour of the Grand Coulee and Bonneville damsites.

Conlan Crashes Big Time After He'd Lost Hope

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO (AP)—John "Joekie" Conlan, a 31-year-old Irishman from Chicago's west side, is making good with the White Sox — two years after having given up hope of fashioning a major league baseball career.

Conlan, stubby and somewhat pug-nacious, quit baseball in disgust before the 1932 season because the Newark International league club wanted to make a sharp reduction in his salary. He decided if he wasn't worth more than he was offered he might better get out of baseball.

It was not his first disappointment. After working up from the Wichita club of the Western league to Rochester of the International between 1924 and 1926, he was regarded as a prospect for the big time. Cincinnati had about decided he was worth $15,000 and three ball players, for 1926 delivery, when he suffered a severe leg injury.

Back to the Sand-lots The deal fell through. He stayed in the International league for a while, then played with Toledo in the American association. Back he went to the International loop, with Newark. Then clear out of baseball.

Back in Chicago, Conlan could always get a ball-playing job with a semi-professional team. In addition, he became physical director for a west side playground. He still loved baseball, but had dismissed the big league angle from his mind.

preacher July 27, 1834 held the service at Fort Hall, while that fort was being built by Capt. Wyeth.

Dr. H. G. McCallister, district superintendent of this district presided at the meeting and Miss Genevieve Asler at the organ played the hymns "For The Beauty of The Earth" and "America The Beautiful" which were sung by the congregation as beautiful illustrations were thrown upon the screen. Rev. Mr. Archer, of Joseph, offered the prayer and Dr. Stowell introduced the members of the party.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Richardson who spoke in detail of Jason Lee's conversion at the age of 23, his ministry during the remaining 19 years of his life including his work in the northwest. Edward Winter, Moon the 18-year-old Indian, who is a very good speaker, as well as musician, gave some glimpses of the trip, spoke of the religion of his people and sang some of their religious songs, accompanying himself on the tom-tom. His part of the program concluded with two piano numbers.

Dr. Stowell furnished the last part of the program—a lecture illustrated with slides having to do with the life of Jason Lee. The slides were exceptionally good and the story was striking and impressive.

Proceeding the meeting in the church auditorium, the visitors from the other Methodist churches of Union and Walla Walla counties enjoyed a pot-luck supper together in the church dining room. The special went from here to Pendleton where they are spending today.

MARKET IGNORES INFLATION RUMOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Although foreign exchanges were spurred to renewed strength against the dollar by fresh inflationary rumblings, stocks today failed to respond to this former tonic. Led by the motors and utilities, leading issues drifted lower in another dull trading session. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.
