Coasters Are Ready For Season Opening

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (UP)—The old familiar "play ball" cry next Saturday should get the Pacific Coast league off to its most successful baseball season since the war put a crimp in the nation's favorite pastime.

Observer, Shell Quintets Take Bowling Honors

The league leading Service Wholesale keglers last night dropped three points to the Observer five, while Shell Oilers made a similar showing against the Cherry Florists in the men's bowling league.

As long as the Angels, admittedly a powerhouse at the plate, are lacking in pitching strength, a merry battle should ensue that will bring the coin jingling in at the box office.

It was forty-two years ago when Joe Corbett of the Angels pitched the first ball in the initial Pacific coast league contest. Jimmy De Whale pitched the opener for the Seals in San Francisco, and "Doc" Moskman of the Oaks dished up the first pitch in Oakland.

D. W. Hall of the Shell five was away out in front with both high game and series, chalking up a 220 for top game and a series total of 607 pins.

Pirate Comedy Stars Bob Hope

Deeds of the buccanera of the Spanish Main in the 18th century are given a comedy twist in the Bob Hope technical movie currently showing at the Liberty theater.

The action centers around Hope, in the role of a boastful actor, and Margaret Mayo, as a British princess who is fleeing to the West Indies. Their capture by a buccanier, played by Victor McLaglen, and their unexpected delivery from his hands, are the climax of the hilarious story.

precious oil and gasoline to Spain without which the Franco government would fall overnight.

UNRRA's position was made clear when it was urged to buy 2,000,000 wool blankets from Spain. Governor Lehman and staff then issued the following order:

"The question of purchasing relief supplies from neutral countries arose on several occasions, lately through European regional office requests for authority to purchase 2,000,000 wool blankets from Spain. It is the view of the bureau of areas that since the government of Spain is known to be pro-axis, there should not be any UNRRA procurement in Spain."

Note — Nazi troops still holding seven vital French ports and hampering the landing of U. S. supplies in France have managed to hold out partly through supplies smuggled in by Franco's ships. Six of these ships were sunk by U. S. submarines recently.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By JACK CUDDY
UP Staff Correspondent
SUMMIT, N. J., March 27 (UP)—The greatest publicity hound in the history of pugilism is at it again. Lou Nova, who gave skeptical fans the thumbless glove, the yogi relaxation, the cosmic punch and the dynamic stance, now shifts to the "impudent sparmate."

They say Jack Kearns "made" Jack Dempsey; they say the late Joe Jacobs "made" Tony Galento; and they say that the late Jack Blackburn made Joe Louis; but when they come to Lou Nova, they all admit that it was he who stole the show personally and drew, for example, nearly $600,000 with Joe Louis in 1941.

During his 10 years of professional fighting, it was always Nova who needed his own publicity campaigns; but in the late stages of his recent comeback he felt the need of a greater expert than he. So he employed James J. Johnston as pilot and mouthpiece. Jimmy Johnston has been working overtime on the angle: "who says Nova is a bum?" and Johnston has been getting some fair results.

But the Johnston results cannot be compared with the native achievements of Nova as he goes to work upon Joe Baksi, the Kulpmont coal miner, who once was an expensive sparmate and who fights Nova 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden Friday night. California Louie is conditioning here for the brawl.

Nova says, "Baksi was an impudent sparmate. He trained with me in 1941 before both the second Maxie Baer bout, which I won on a knockout in the eighth round, and for the Joe Louis title scrap in which I was knocked out in the sixth round."

"I paid him $10 a round for sparring. He worked with me for at least 50 rounds—which means $500. In addition, he cost me a fortune in the steaks he ate and in his raids on the camp ice box. Moreover, he delighted in making me look as bad as possible in training. He shouldn't have done that when I felt out of sorts."

Nova says Baksi should have improved since he was his sparmate. But he emphasizes: "I have improved too. Although I'm 30 years old now, my work here at Bey's training camp convinces me that I at last have learned how to fight — have learned how to punch."

"It will give me the greatest gratification of my life to knock out this egotistical, tangle-footed, big-eating coal miner Friday night. I always wanted to do it in training, but my manager—then—implored me not to do it, lest people think I was showing off at the expense of a book. So I refrained—at my own expense."

Despite these heroic words, despite Nova's come-back record of 18 victories in 18 fights; and despite the new guidance of James J. Johnston, Nova is a 3-1 underdog in the betting. His smart utterances may fill the Garden with customers, but they will not influence the "smart-money" boys to back him against Baksi with their dough.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Announcement of the award of the bronze star to Private Howard Slyter for meritorious service in combat in Italy has been received by his mother, Mrs. Anna Halvorsen of route 2, La Grande.

Slyter, whose family recently came to La Grande from North Dakota, is a member of the 34th "Red Bull" division, fighting with the Fifth army in Italy.

The announcement said Slyter, a wireman and driver for a communication unit, on numerous occasions completed missions under extremely hazardous conditions, and once swam a swollen river, against a strong current, to repair a break in a telephone line on the opposite bank.

"The courage and tireless efforts of Private Slyter have made his services of extreme value to his company," his citation said.

Lt. Eugene S. Becker of Alico, who has been serving as an infantry officer in Europe, arrived yesterday at Mitchell field, New York, for hospitalization.

Lt. Becker has been wounded three times since the Normandy invasion. In the telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Becker of Alico, he gave no information other than that he had arrived.

Cecil C. Post, merchant marine radio officer, has returned from 7 months sea duty, and is visiting his wife, and two sons. This was the first time he had seen the younger son, aged two months.

Post has traveled more than 30,000 miles, including most of the Pacific and the Canal zone. He has a 30-day leave.

He is the nephew of Mrs. George Tiss.

Cpl. Terry Tuttle, son of Lee Tuttle of Elgin, who was home on furlough, has returned to Boca Raton, Fla., to complete a radar course. He visited his wife, the former Evelyn Buntin, and their small daughter.

First Lt. Howard K. Dixon of 2212 First street, is now the commanding officer of an ordnance maintenance company on Saipan.

A small combat group of two ordnance officers and 28 enlisted men of the company accompanied early units in the landings on the island. The rest of the company arrived about six weeks later and cooperated with other army units in converting the island into an American island fortress.

Oscar Theodore Aas, 33, ship's cook second class, serving in the south Pacific.

Before entering the navy, April 28, 1943, he was employed as a meat cutter. He received his basic training at Farragut, Idaho, and spent 10 months in the south Pacific, was stationed for a time in San Francisco, and is again on Active duty.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary Aas, formerly of Cove, and now of 201 Adams avenue, La Grande. On June 14, 1941, he was married to Leila LaVerne Berry, who also resides in La Grande.

Lieutenant Dixon's company has enjoyed a good reputation throughout its period of service, receiving several letters of commendation for services rendered in the fulfillment of its primary mission of maintaining and repairing ordnance material.
