College Baseball Draft Ban Urged

AUSTIN, Tex., April 28 (UP)—Baseball's new commissioner, Son A. B. Chandler today was urged to put a halt to the professional baseball clubs' practice of "drafting" collegians.

The plea came from Dana X. Bible, athletic director of the University of Texas, who lost his prize southpaw, 19-year-old Henry Culp, without warning last week to the Southern association's Memphis team.

Former Football Star Gets Biggest Thrill in First Homer in Big League

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK, April 28 (NEA)—As Fordham's passing and smashing fullback, Stephen Charles Filipowicz appeared in the Cotton and Sugar bowls and the East-West Shrine game.

Jack Kimbrough and his phenomenal Texas A. and M. crew had a terrific job edging the Ram when Steve Filipowicz was a sophomore. Young Filipowicz and his mates shaded Missouri, 2-0, on a rainy New Year's day in New Orleans. Filipowicz played 50 minutes as the East beat the West in San Francisco.

Climaxing an illustrious football career, Filipowicz, then of the marine corps, switched to tailback to help the College All-Stars trim the professional Washington Redskins, 24-14, in the all-star game in Chicago. In his final season of football, spent with the Georgia pre-flight school team, Filip was in only one losing game.

So, you see, the stocky Polish lad from eastern Pennsylvania's hard coal district has had more than his share of big moments in football.

Yet it remained for baseball to furnish him with the biggest one. That came at the Polo Grounds the other afternoon when he bunched a home run into the low right field stand with Mel Ott on base to give Bill Vosselle and the Giants a 3-2 decision over the despised Dodgers. It was Filip's first home run in the majors.

Manager Ott's hope is that he can keep the present New York National league lineup on the field, so the man who goes with the lease at the Polo Grounds must be satisfied with Filipowicz in left field.

Muscles Medwick's cantankerous sarcollae gave Filip, also known as The Barrel, his big opportunity, and he's making the

Padres Topple Seals, Beavers Strengthen Lead

By United Press
The San Diego Padres were in undisputed possession of third place in the Pacific coast league today after a 3 to 2 victory over the San Francisco Seals credited to Charley Wensloff, husky right-hand mound artist on loan from the New York Yankees.

In other games Portland defeated the Oakland Oaks 3 to 1 in the year's fastest PCL contest—one hour and 24 minutes—and the Los Angeles Angels slugged out a 12 to 9 win over the Sacramento Solons. Wet grounds kept Hollywood idle at Seattle.

Wensloff, who fanned 10 Seals including five in the first two innings, wound up the game with a bang when he struck out Neil Sheridan, Seal big gun, in the last of the ninth with the tying run on third. Bernie Uhalt died there after a pretty triple. The next two batters fouled out, with Sheridan going down swinging.

Homers Sew Up Game
The Angels drew up into a three-way tie for fifth place with San Francisco and their opponents. Mel Hicks and Lou Novickoff paced Los Angeles' offensive with three circuit blows. Hicks drove in three men with two home runs, as did Novickoff's sixth inning homer with the bases loaded.

Pitcher Ad Liska held the Oaks to four hits as the Beavers increased their league leadership by half a game. They nipped Ralo Chelini, Oak southpaw, for six singles, bunting three of them, including doubles by Johnny O'Neill and Liska for two runs in the second frame.

Ted Gullic's circuit clout over the left field wall in the third accounted for the third run.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 28 (UP)—These are trying days for Frankie Frisch. His Pittsburgh Pirates and his arthritis must be driving him almost as daffy as the gas house gang did in the old days.

For his Pirates, tagged as one of the teams to beat in the 1945 pennant race, can't get going. They've won only two of eight games so far and are down in the National league cellar with the Philadelphia Phillies.

That's no way for a team eyeing a championship to be playing ball and it hardly is the way to treat a man who already has had enough trouble this spring. Arthritis kept him confined to his New Rochelle, N. Y., home when the Pirates went through their spring training drills.

As severe as it was the arthritis didn't bother the old Fordham flash nearly as much as the current Pirate losing streak is upsetting him now. For if there is one thing in the world Frisch hates, it's losing ball games.

There's the matter of Pittsburgh fans to be considered, too. Frankie has been popular there, but the happenings of last Sunday may indicate a change in their attitude. When his team was dropping the second game of a double-header to the Chicago Cubs after having lost the first game, the crowd of 27,000 began showering cushions around the Pirate dugout. It's been a long time since a demonstration like that has been seen around Pittsburgh.

But Frisch is too tough to let a little thing like that get him down. He's been in tougher spots, and they never have gotten him down. His only record of failure has been arguing with the umpires, but Frisch still is in there trying on that score, although no manager ever has won out in that particular endeavor.

Christopher handed the visit to Boston Red Sox their eighth straight defeat 5 to 3, permitting only one earned run.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals still no impressive, were beaten by one of their former hands at Cincinnati. The east-of-the-River Reds' pitcher, Ed Hoeser, Reds' pitcher, deserved his second shutout in a row, saving up only four hits, but an error set up the Cardinals run.

The Washington Senators can't shake the dizziness at New York, slugging five times in a 6 to 4 triumph. George Myatt, who had a perfect day at bat with three singles and a double, drove in two runs and stole three of the five bases, scoring on a double tie with Jay Kohler.

All other major league games were postponed because of rain.

Derringer Gives Cubs 7-3 Victory Over Pirate Gang

NEW YORK, April 28 (UP)—Paul Derringer, a seasoned traveler up and down baseball's glory road, was heading for the top again today and if there aren't too many detours he might well pitch his Chicago Cub teammates to a National league pennant.

Derringer's chief stock in trade, almost perfect control, enabled him to top the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3, yesterday. He didn't walk a man and struck out four in the eight-hit performance. Moreover, he was entitled to a shut-out, all of Pittsburgh's runs being unearned as result of a dropped fly ball.

Two other pitchers, Bill Vosselle of the Giants and Russ Christopher of the Philadelphia A's, named their third victories with standard jobs yesterday.

Filipowicz Sparks Giants
Vosselle shut out the Dodgers at Brooklyn, 5 to 0, getting only a hitting support from rookie Steve Filipowicz, who hit a homer, two doubles and a single. Vosselle permitted only eight hits in out-pitching Curt Davis, who lost his first game.

Christopher handed the visit to Boston Red Sox their eighth straight defeat 5 to 3, permitting only one earned run.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals still no impressive, were beaten by one of their former hands at Cincinnati. The east-of-the-River Reds' pitcher, Ed Hoeser, Reds' pitcher, deserved his second shutout in a row, saving up only four hits, but an error set up the Cardinals run.

Pyle Says Good By to Marines; To Leave Okinawa

Before joining the marines he worked on a section gang for the Pennsylvania railroad. He usually wears one of those wide-brimmed green cloth hats instead of the regulation marine cap.

He always carries a .45 and it has a slightly curved 25-cent piece imbedded in the handle. As Pyle says, "To make it worth something."

Brady found two huge photograph albums in a cove. The albums are full of snapshots of Japanese girls and Chinese girls and young Japs in uniform and of family poses. He treasured it as though it were full of people he knew. He studied it for hours and hopes to take it home with him. "Anything for a souvenir," could be the motto of the marines.

Another Indianapolis marine I met on Okinawa was Pfc. Dallas Rhude, who used to be a newspaperman himself.

He worked on the Indianapolis Times. He started carrying the Times when he was eight, then got into the editorial room as a copy boy and kept that job till he joined the marines.

He is a replacement; in other words he is in the pool that fills up the gaps made by casualties. But since there have been very few casualties he hasn't replaced anybody yet.

Dallas spent 22 months in Panama, was home for a little while and now has been over here for four months. He says this Okinawa climate sure beats Panama.

Marines may be killers, but they're also just as sentimental as anybody else.

There is one pleasant boy in our company that I had talked with but didn't have any little incident to write about him, so didn't put his name down. The morning I left the company and was saying goodbye all around, I could sense that he wanted to tell me something, so I hung around until he came out. It was about his daughter.

This marine was Corp. Robert Kingan of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. He has been a marine for 13 months and over here 11 months. His daughter was born about six weeks ago. Naturally he has never seen her, but he's had a letter from her!

It was a V letter written in a childish scrawl and said: "Hello, Daddy, I am Karen Louise. I was born Feb. 25 at four minutes after nine. I weigh five pounds and eight ounces. Your daughter, Karen."

And then there was a PS on the bottom which said:

"Postmaster—please rush. My daddy doesn't know I am here. Bob didn't know whether it was actually his wife or his mother-in-law who wrote the letter. He thinks maybe it was his mother-in-law—Mrs. A. H. Morgan—since it had her return address on it."

So I put that down and then asked Bob what his mother-in-law's first name was. He looked off into space for a moment, and then started laughing.

"I don't know what her first name is," he said. "I always just called her Mrs. Morgan!"

Jobs Are Declared Essential to Keep Nation Democratic

SPOKANE, Wash., April 28 (UP)—Maximum employment is the most important postwar issue in America and if it is not attained, democracy will give way to another form of government, Irwin H. Jones of Wenatchee, Wash., member of the American Legion's national employment committee, said yesterday.

Addressing the closing session of a two-day postwar employment conference, Jones told 100 representatives of industry, business, labor and agriculture that "The men and women in our armed services today will not stand idly by through another period of mass unemployment such as we went through in 1932 and 1933."

Jones, co-chairman of the conference, said the Legion's national executive committee will assemble the suggestions of labor and industry from this and 11 similar regional conferences and from them fashion a pattern to supplement the Legion's program for maximum postwar employment.

Ralph H. Lavers of Washington, D. C., national employment director of the Legion, declared that at present, there "is no such thing as veterans' preference" under civil service commission requirements.

He said current laws make it simple for federal agencies to pass over war veterans and hire non-veterans by simply submitting in writing their reasons for not hiring the war veteran applicant.

Missing Girl Found 'Hanging Around'

SEATTLE, April 28 (UP)—Thirteen-year-old Patricia Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riley, who had been missing from her home for 12 days, was held for questioning today after being found in a bowling alley last night.

She was reported to have been "hanging around" the establishment for a week and was recognized from newspaper photographs.

Panic Blamed for Plane Fatalities

WASHINGTON, April 28 (UP)—James Wilmott, president of Page Airways, said today that panic among the passengers was responsible for the fatalities and serious injuries when a Page plane burned as it was attempting to take off from National airport here yesterday.

Four of the passengers were fatally injured and the other seven were seriously burned in the fire that destroyed the plane after it nosed into a ravine at the edge of an airport runway.

Wilmott said the pilot and co-pilot told him no one was "even scratched" when the plane struck the ravine.

The giant saguaro cactus grows to heights of 40 feet, but at the age of 10 years it seldom is more than five inches high.
