

Jap Suicide Plane Bases Attacked By Yank Airmen

GUAM, June 6 (UP)—Thirty "smaller-type" planes, apparently from new American airfields on Okinawa, attacked Japanese suicide-plane bases on Kyushu in southern Japan for an hour today, Tokyo broadcasts reported. The raiders were said to have concentrated on airfields on Osumi and Satsura peninsulas. "By this bombing raid," Tokyo said, "the enemy apparently intended to forestall the activities of our special attack (suicide) corps, which is wreaking havoc with enemy warcraft in Okinawa waters."

Superfortresses shot down at least 20—and perhaps many more—Japanese fighters over burning Kobe during yesterday's 3,300-ton air raid.

Okinawa Conquest In Final Stages

Invasion May Be Delayed

However, a Washington dispatch indicated they might have to "wait out" the invasion of their homeland quite a while yet. It was pointed out by military observers that it took 30 months to prepare the European invasion. Troops being redeployed from Europe will need from three to five months for travel, home allowances, and new training. D-J may even not come until next year, it was said.

But the forces already are gathering for the big battle. The New Delhi radio reported two more British battle squadrons were on their way to join the Royal navy's Pacific fleet.

Stock Prices Slip in Market 'Shakeout'

NEW YORK, June 6 (UP)—The stock market had a shakeout today and losses in the main ranged to a point or more in such leaders as U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Dow Chemical and Santa Fe. Selling was described in Wall Street quarters as a technical reaction to the recent sharp advance to new highs for around eight years. It was noted, moreover, that as customary on declining price movements in past months, volume dwindled during the day, although sales again topped 1,500,000 shares.
