

Solons Clip Beaver Lead as Rainiers Humble San Diego

By United Press
Husky Bob Joyce of the San Francisco Seals turned in his 15th victory of the Pacific league season last night, shutting out Hollywood on a four-hitter, 6 to 0.

In another four-hitter Bud Beasley of the fifth place Sacramento Solons blanked the league pacing Portland Beavers 3 to 0 to give the Sacs the series.

Other league games saw Los Angeles defeat the Oakland A's 10 to 2 as Seattle in two big innings beat San Diego 7 to 2.

The four hits which Beasley allowed the Beavers were widely scattered occurring in the first, third, fifth and ninth. Veteran Roy Helser of Portland was nipped for 11 safeties and walked five men. The victory gave Sacramento the short series, 2 to 1. Charlie Cuellar of the Angels hit a seven-hitter against Bill Raimondi's A's. The Oaks had the bases loaded in the second but collected only one run on a single by Damon Hayes. The two clubs move to Oakland tonight for the rest of the series, with the Oaks, holding a 2 to 1 series lead so far.

Carl Fischer allowed the Padres only six hits in his ninth win of the season. Two big innings did the trick for Seattle. The Rainiers got four across in the second on two walks, a single by Joe Dobbins and a triple by Bob Garbould.

Oregon Girl Bids For Golf Crown

INDIANAPOLIS, June 22 (UP)—The spectacular west meets the steady, dangerous east today in the semi-finals of the 18th women's western open golf tournament, with favorites' honors even.

Defending champion Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Los Angeles, and ambitious little Babe Freese, Portland, Ore., have the razzle-dazzle brand of golf that pulls big galleries, and they hope to meet in the finals.

It would be a "natural," but they faced peril today, however, in Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, Pa., the 1944 western open runner-up and winner of the western amateur crown for the past two years, and Mrs. Alfred J. Becker, Englewood, N. J.

Mrs. Zaharias, the favorite to repeat, meets Mrs. Becker, who has stalked her way easily through early competition and who reached the quarter-finals last year, while Miss Freese tackles the experienced Philadelphia. The winners will meet tomorrow.

The little Portland girl pulled the biggest upset of the tournament so far in defeating professional Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., while competing in the western open for the first time, and she appeared untruffed at her prospects against Mrs. Germain, the betting choice.

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—Saturday's $50,000 Belmont stakes will add uncertainty to the scramble for the championship among this year's three-year-old thoroughbreds, instead of affixing the "triple crown" upon the head of one.

Because of the goodness of racing luck, neither the winner of the Derby (Hoop, Jr.) nor the winner of the Preakness (Polynesian) can win the third end of the "triple" triangle: The Belmont Stakes.

For the first time since 1938, the Belmont classic must be won by a horse that took neither of the other fixtures. Remember—in '38, Lawrin won the Kentucky Derby; Dauber came first in the Preakness, and Pasteurized was victor in the Belmont Stakes.

This year, Hoop Jr. won the Derby, and Polynesian the Preakness. But Hoop Jr. has been withdrawn from the Belmont because of a leg injury suffered in the Preakness; and Polynesian is not eligible for the Belmont.

It's an ill wind that blows some horse no good. As a result of Hoop Jr.'s injury and Polynesian's ineligibility, Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep will go to the Belmont post a heavy favorite. Jeep has won three stake races in four starts.

At least two other prominent three-year-olds also will not compete Saturday. Darby Dieppe, which finished third in the Derby and in the Preakness, is not eligible. And Calumet Farm's Pot o' Luck, which came second in the Derby, was sent to Chicago because his handlers were afraid of Hoop Jr. in the Preakness.

Dodgers and Tigers Show Pennant Case

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—A "golden opportunity" to run away with the pennant races faces the leading Brooklyn Dodgers and Detroit Tigers today.

Whether or not they will be able to take advantage of it is another matter, but strategically, they are better fixed than any of the close contenders in this season of "hot and cold running baseball." Both are about ready to begin long home stands, both have improved their position in recent road trips, and both are better fixed for manpower than at any time since the season began.

Brooklyn Welter Is Favored To Win From Zivic

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—Ancient Cpl. Fritzie Zivic pits his Pittsburgh "bag of tricks" against the youth and speed of Harold Green, young Brooklyn welterweight, tonight in Madison Square Garden for 10 rounds or less.

Green, unbeaten in 24 bouts since his discharge from the army, is favored at 4-5 to beat 32-year-old Fritzie, who launched his professional career 15 years ago when Green, a kid of six, was playing marbles in knee pants.

Green, 21, is favored because his blazing pace is expected to wear down the old master who wrested the welter championship from Henry Armstrong in 1940 and lost it in a thundering upset to Freddie Cochrane in 1941.

Fritzie is expected to have a weight advantage of about 152 pounds to 149.

A crowd of 14,000 and a gate of $60,000 are expected.

Coasting Along

By GENE FRIEDMAN United Press Staff Correspondent

ARCADIA, Cal., June 22 (UP)—A lively lady moves into some high class competition tomorrow when she takes the next step—and the biggest step so far—in her bid to become the champion three-year-old thoroughbred of the year.

The lady is movie magnate Louis B. Mayer's fast-stepping filly, Busher, famous daughter of a famous father—War Admiral. Busher has won three races at Santa Anita in three starts, two of them $25,000 handicaps, and the last one—the San Vicente handicap—against top competition.

Saturday she races in the colorful $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, hoping to become the second filly to win that event. The other coo champion was Cicenia in 1939.

A victory in the race would bring the chestnut filly's earnings for the season over $100,000 more than taking care of the $50,000 it cost Mayer to purchase the colt from Col. E. R. Bradley last year.

Busher won herself top filly honors in 1944, amassing $60,300 in seven races and finishing first in five.

Classy Field Set For Arcadia Race

ARCADIA, Calif., June 22 (UP)—Entries in Saturday's $50,000 Santa Anita derby narrowed today to 11 horses comprising the classiest field in the event's history.

Pre-race betting favors Louis B. Mayer's filly Busher, winner of the San Vicente handicap, with Johnny Longden aboard. Other toppers are Charles S. Howard's Sea Sovereign, Santa Catalina handicap winner, with Ferril Zufelt up; Henry Forrest's Checkerhall, Mexican champ with jockey Dunice Dubois; Jay

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (UP)—Walter Driver, a member of the Australian Victorian Baseball association, Melbourne, set a new world record in the Fungo hitting for distance in the fifth international telegraphic baseball field games. It was announced today. Driver clouted the ball 503 feet, three inches to surpass the former record of 492 feet on April 12, 1939, by Frank Maderag, St. Mary's College, Moraga, Calif.

FROM A HUMBLE BEGINNING..

MANY FINE PRODUCTS, like many fine men, began their careers in humble surroundings.

Ninety years ago, in a log cabin plant in Walla Walla, Washington, a fine product was born. Those were the days before modern brewmeisters, modern brewing methods, modern packaging. But even then—in 1855—quality counted most... quality, in a product of temperance.

The Saga of the Walla Walla Valley, the history of our great Pacific Northwest, the richness of land and resources, the courage, skills and character of people—all these leave a heritage to us who come from a humble beginning.

We, now known as Pioneer Brewing Company, began but two years after the "Territory of Washington" was organized by an act of Congress and signed by President Millard Fillmore.

In the two years which preceded us, Major Isaac Stevens, Governor of Washington Territory and Superintendent of its Indian Affairs, organized the expedition which explored the route for a railroad from the Mississippi to the Pacific Ocean across the northern part of the continent. The building of the Northern Pacific Railway followed, in the main, the lines of this survey.

In 1854, one year before our beginning, Governor Stevens estimated the total number of Indians in Washington Territory as 21,712 and the number of white persons as 3,965.

From May 28 to June 16, 1855, five thousand Indians—2500 Nez Percés and 2500 other Indians of the Yakima, Walla Walla, Cayuse and Umatilla tribes—were assembled on the present site of the city of Walla Walla in council with Washington's dynamic territorial Governor. From this, and similar councils held by Governor Stevens throughout the territory, came assurance of peace and understanding with our Indian neighbors.

But just a few months later, while Governor Stevens was negotiating a treaty with the great Blackfoot Confederacy, an exhausted messenger brought the terrifying news that the Cayuses, Yakimas, Walla Wallas, Umatillas, Palouses and all the Oregon bands down to The Dalles, had broken out in open war.

How Governor Stevens returned, surprising the Coeur d'Alenes and Spokanes before they had time to kill him—how he held a visit of friendship with the Nez Percés—how these troublous conditions were righted so that men of good will could work and till the soil and care for their loved ones in safety—we shall relate from time to time.

For it shall be our purpose to remind us all again of the courage and character of men who founded this great section of America.

We, like other pioneer business people of this area, are determined that our business principles and practices shall be in keeping with our heritage of the past and that the quality of our product shall never be surpassed.
