

Peace Treaty For Italy On Program At Big Three Talk

Russia Has Only Minor Interest In Settlement

LONDON, July 10 (UP) — Reliable information declared today proposals for a peace treaty with Italy will be considered at the forthcoming big three meeting. The time of the conference has not been announced although President Truman was revealed to be on his way.

The plan behind the proposals obviously would be to establish Italy soon as a full-fledged independent nation at peace.

However, the treaty would not imply automatic membership in the United Nations, nor would it necessarily settle territorial questions.

British sources said it is unlikely a peace treaty in anything resembling final form will emerge from the big three powwow. Truman, Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin may decide the scope and timing of the treaty but they will leave any detailed negotiations primarily to Britain, the United States and Italy.

The British feel Russia has only a secondary interest in Italy and the French must be consulted.

British attitude toward Italy is believed decidedly more friendly now than it was six months ago. The formation of a new government under Ferruccio Parri is cited to show that Italy is wiping out her sins.

Oregon Surpasses State E Bond Goal

PORTLAND, July 10 (UP) — Seventh war loan officials congratulated the people of Oregon today for surpassing the state's E bond goal.

Total E bond sales throughout the state processed Monday were $35,300,000, $300,000 above the $35,000,000 quota, according to E. C. Sammons, state chairman.

Sammons said the citizens of Oregon did themselves proud by beating one of the toughest quotas ever given a state. Oregon was given an over-all goal of $110,000,000 with $55,000,000 in E bonds. No other state had a 50 percent E bond quota.

The baby weighed seven pounds at birth.

Oregon Marine Has Close Call With Japanese Grenade

By S/SGT. VIC KALMAN OKINAWA. (Delayed) (UP) — Marine Cpl. William H. Lyons, 28, of Grant Pass, Ore., a veteran of three major campaigns in the Pacific, had his strangest and narrowest escape during the battle for this island.

Lyons, preparing to demolish a cave, sat on what he thought was a log just inside the entrance. It turned out to be a Jap soldier's leg. The Jap sat up, pulled the fuse on a grenade and held it against Lyons.

The marine pushed the Jap aside and ran from the cave. Outside, he found, to his horror, the grenade was caught in his shirt. He flocked it aside and hit the dirt just as the grenade went off. He was shaken up, but uninjured.

Night Flying From Baby Flat Tops Stops U-Boats

WASHINGTON, July 10 (UP) — The first night flying from "baby flat top" aircraft carriers was done in the Atlantic last year to combat the German submarine menace, the navy reported today.

When German submarine wolf-packs adopted the tactics of remaining submerged all day and attacking at night, navy carrier fliers arose to the occasion by going after the U-boats at night.

The first night flights were made from the U. S. S. Crotan, an escort carrier then in command of Capt. John P. W. Vest, Gunstan Farm, Centerville, Ind. None of Vest's pilots had ever made a night carrier landing, but he called them into the ready room aboard the Crotan and explained that the way to beat the German sub maneuvers was to "attack them at night."

The fliers all volunteered and the first night operation resulted in the sinking of the German submarine, the U-856.

Red Points Not 'Extra' At All

PORTLAND, July 10 (UP) — It was all a mistake about those four restaurants in The Dalles being given extra red points to keep open during the cherry-picking crisis.

So Mayor Early Riley of Portland knew today, after he'd written the OPA office here to ask if Portland restaurants couldn't have some "valvet" points, too, please. Replying, McDaniel Brown, district OPA director, said the points advanced had been charged back against the allotments of these establishments.

SAYLER HEADS BOARD
SALEM, July 10 (UP) — Jerry Saylor, Portland insurance man, late Monday was sworn in as executive director of the public employees retirement board, which was created by the last legislature.

Cleanse Your Skin After Sun Bath

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Cleanse your skin when you come steaming in from fun in the sun. If you'll use soap, warm water and a complexion brush while pores are relaxed by the heat, you can dig in and give yourself a first-class clean-up.

But if you wait to cleanse your skin until feverish activity abates, and pores contract and close in on soil and make-up, you may find at summer's end that pores look grainy and — perish the thought — a nice skin is polkadotted with blackheads.

While pores are relaxed by the heat and are clean from scrubbing is the time to massage in a softening cream. If you'll allot a 10 or 15 minutes' stint to this ritual — using a brisk upward motion of your fingertips — you can give yourself the benefits of a first-class facial.

Anderson Hopes To Help OPA Plug Up Black Market Leak

WASHINGTON, July 10 (UP) — The new secretary of agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson, is teaming up with the OPA to "plug up leaks which give rise to the black market," one of his aides said today.

Anderson, it was said, believes supply shortages and price inequities are the "breeders" of illegitimate trading, and intends to do something about both.

In his first step toward relieving the meat shortage, Anderson announced yesterday the requirements small slaughterers must meet to qualify for removal of quota restrictions and to ship non-federally inspected meat across state lines.

Lifting of slaughter quotas for approved packers is expected to increase the nation's meat supply. The packers, however, must give assurance the meat will move in legitimate channels and meet sanitary standards.

Other ships arrived included the Hermitage, with Maj. Gen. Harold W. Blakely and part of the fourth infantry division; the Hawaiian Shipper, with 2,259 men and the Sea Pike, with 2,616 men.
