Oklahoman Dies For Murder of Teacher

SALT LAKE CITY, July 13 (UP) — James J. Roedl, 27-year-old Oklahoma City epileptic, paid for the clawhammer murder of Agnes Abigail Williams, San Leandro, Calif., school teacher today, when a five man firing squad blasted him into eternity.

The rifles, four of them loaded and the other containing a blank cartride, cracked at 5:56 a.m. He went to his death with little show of emotion. Prison warden John E. Harris said the condemned man faced the firing squad with more courage than any other person he had seen.

A few minutes before he walked down the two flights of stairs from the prison chapel where he spent his last night, Roedl served representatives of the press law enforcement officers and guards huge slices of banana cream pie and coffee.

Except for a high-pitched strained laugh, the slightly-built, soft spoken prisoner was completely composed.

Roedl was convicted Sept. 19, 1943 of the hammer slaying of the California school teacher together with Edward Leroy Ritchie, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, for his part in the crime. Roedl had contended several times the "wheels of justice turn wrong when the well man is given life and the sick man is shot."

Government Does Not Expect to Ration Soap

By RUTH GMEINER

WASHINGTON, July 13 (UP) —Housewives may be having difficulty buying soap, but the government has no immediate plans for rationing, the agriculture department said today.

The reason, according to William A. McConologue, a soap official, is that no one yet has devised a successful ration scheme.

Surveys conducted by the department and the office of price administration show the industry is distributing supplies as farily as possible through a voluntary program. The government doesn't think it can do any better.

The use of soap, unlike most other commodities, can vary widely in cities of the same size, McConologue said, and this is an mpoirtant factor goiverning distrbution of supplies.

Cities with hard water use more than soft water localities. In some communities, laundries get most of the dirty clothes. Industrial cities such as Pittsburgh use far more soap than communities of office workers.

Soap manufacturers and dealers know these consumption habits and limit supplies accordingly, McConologue said.

After Tipper was placed on reserve status in the army, he was employed at the Puget Sound navy yard. He then received his discharge and asked for his old job, from which he had been granted a leave of absence.

A pipe that is flowing completely full of water will not discharge as much as one only partly filled. Surface friction slows down the flow in the full pipe.

Japanese Officer Favors Hirohito's Death in Bombing

NORTHERN LUZON, July 13 (UP)—A Japanese officer said today that it would be well for the future of Japan if Emperor Hirohito were killed by an American bomb.

This same officer, recently captured in the Philippines, stated further the Japanese people should be blamed both for the war and for their blind acceptance of the dogma the emperor is descended from the sun.

Other Japanese prisoners believe any removal of Hirohito would result in utter chaos. Some believe he should be retained as a figurehead.

Language officers of the 14th. corps can count on one hand the number of Jap prisoners who arrogantly think Japan is winning.

More Japanese prisoners have been taken on Luzon than in any other campaign except Okinawa. Many Japanese officers are now surrendering because they are beginning to feel that they should dedicate their future to the reconstruction of a new Japan.

One Japanese-speaking officer with the 14th corps believes the Japanese will be extremely hostile when American forces first land on the home islands, but many civilians will change their attitude when they discover the Americans will treat them decently.

Flying Fortress Sets New Record

SEATTLE, July 13 (UP)—A Flying Fortress set a new world altitude record for four-engine aircraft Wednesday when it reached 43,499 feet while on a test flight, the Boeing Aircraft company announced today. The flight also set a new national altitude record for all types of airplanes.

A crew of five Boeing engineers made the record ascent in a laboratory-equipped, black-bottomed Fortress, "The Shadow."

Crew members wore oxygen masks throughout the flight. Before the takeoff they were "denitrogenized" to guard against aeroembolism of "the bends."

During the trip of four hours and four minutes, the engineers conducted complex tests. Piloted by James Fraser, the Shadow remained above the 40,000 foot level for two hours and 21 minutes.

According to records of the National Aeronautic association, the Shadow surpassed the national altitude record of 43,166 feet, established June, 1930, at Anacostia, D. C.

An Italian airplane, not a four-motored craft, reached 56,046 feet over Itily in October, 1938.
