AFL Fills in For 300 Out on Strike

PORTLAND, July 16 (UP) — Workers recruited from AFL organizations in Salem, Hillsboro and Vancouver today are filling in for 300 sympathy strikers at the Libby, McNeill & Libby cannery here after efforts to bring soldiers from Vancouver barracks into the strike-bound plant failed, said Charles R. Smith, receiver and administrator of the AFL cannery workers local.

Smith said the commandant of the barracks turned down the request for soldier workers because so many are engaged in fighting forest fires.

"The AFL will continue to supply help," Smith said, "to can all the fruit ordered from the plant by the government."

About 300 workers struck Friday in protest against the discharge of Kenneth Smith, former president of the cannery workers AFL union and later active in a move to obtain a CIO charter for the employees.

Lamb, Beet Sugar Subsidies Proposed

WASHINGTON, July 16 (UP) — Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., today introduced a bill to subsidize production by means aimed at increasing lamb and of subsidy payments to producers.

Under provisions of his bill, beet sugar producer subsidies would be increased by $2 to $2.50 a ton. The lamb subsidy, to be paid directly to the producer, would range from two to 2 1/2 cents a pound, at an estimated cost to the government of $50,000,000.

O'Mahoney said subsidies constitute the only means of obtaining the needed production of both commodities in the absence of price increases, which the office of price administration will not allow.

Man With Staring Eyes Talk of London

LONDON, July 16 (UP)—From Fleet street to Hyde park, Londoners today talked of the short man with staring eyes who can't keep his hands from women's throats.

He apparently doesn't want to kill them. He has twined string about his victim's necks, and he has gripped their throats in his hands, but never hard enough to cut off their breathing.

Thirteen-year-old Betty Barratt told her parents she awoke to find the man in her room and she felt his fingers on her throat. She screamed and he fled.

Another girl reporting the same experience said he whispered, "Let me kiss you."

65 Cents Hour Low Wage Requested

WASHINGTON, July 16 (UP) — Congress was asked today to endorse a minimum wage rate of 65 cents an hour to correct sub-standard living conditions of millions of workers who now receive less.

After a lengthy series of hearings, a senate education and labor subcommittee recommended approval of a resolution which says "It is the sense of congress that a straight time hourly rate of 65 cents is the minimum below which the national war labor board and national (railway) mediation board shall consider any wage rate substandard."

B-29s Follow Up Fleet Attacks; Emperor Appeals

The crushing assault raised to 31,650 tons the weight of bombs heaped on 29 Japanese targets this month by 3,150 to 3,425 Superfortresses. Earlier it was announced more than 135 square miles had been burned out in other Japanese cities and the toll was rising almost hourly as every type of warplane and warship in enemy homeland in attacks the American arsenal raked the Japanese were unable even to challenge let alone halt.

Kuwana, with a population of 42,000 is the site of bearing, aircraft and electrical equipment factories; Numazu, population 55,000, contains ordnance, armament and electrical factories; Hiratsuka, population 43,000, is an important aircraft center; while Oita, population 76,000, is the site of the new Japanese 12th naval air depot as well as a big railroad hub.

The emperor urged all aviation units throughout Japan "to fight with all their power and spirit for continuation of the safety of the throne." But the Mainichi Shimbun held little hope for immediate counter-measures by Japanese airmen until the allied ground invasion.

"Until then," the newspaper said, "the Japanese air force will avoid all wastage and reserve her power for the final battle."
