

New Bomb to Add 3,000 Fold Power To Superforts

By FRED SCHERFF
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP)—New atomic bomb has theoretically multiplied the destruction power of the American fleet of Superforts at least 3,000 times. The 800 B-29s which recently raided the Jap islands would have the blasting effect of 2,400,000 planes carrying TNT.

Latest figures show B-29s are each carrying seven-ton loads of explosives on their raids. The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had more power than 20,000 tons of TNT—or about 3,000 times the blasting effect of the seven tons of old-type bombs carried by one B-29.

These computations are based on the premise a Superfort can carry only one atomic bomb at a time. However, no information concerning their size, shape or weight has been disclosed. It is believed the explosive atomic matter is comparatively small but the fuse mechanism to set it off may possibly be ponderous.

It was also pointed out these figures were largely theoretical in the sense large-scale raids as we now know them with atomic bombs would be impossible. The blasting effects would be such that closely packed aircraft would be blown up as well as the target.

Robins Expects Big Developments

PORTLAND, Aug. 7 (UP)—The Pacific northwest is bound to become highly developed because of its natural resources, Maj. Gen. Thomas M. Robins, deputy chief of army engineers, said here today.

He reported army engineers are planning for this post-war development through the Willamette valley project, the Umatilla dam and four or five dams along the Snake river.

Government Still Needs Workers For Atomic Bomb Plants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP)—The government still needs workers for the atomic bomb project. More than 179,000 have been recruited so far. Because of the extreme secrecy involved, the job of getting workers was one of the most difficult ever undertaken by the war manpower commission.

The recruited workers were unaware of the nature of the project even after they had been employed some months. U. S. employment service officials, in dealing with prospective workers, merely referred to a "highly secret" job.

Of the 179,000 workers recruited, 80,000 were for the Hanford plant in Washington, approximately 90,000 for the Clinton project in Tennessee and about 9,000 for all other phases of the activity.

Producers Ceiling On Pears Unchanged

PORTLAND, Aug. 7 (UP)—Producers' ceiling prices for the 1945 pack of canned and frozen pears in Washington and Oregon will be the same as those in effect last year, the department of agriculture and OPA offices here announced today.

An average grower price of $73 per ton will be used in construction of processors' ceiling prices. Prices for certain grades based upon the average price have been set. The announcement stated that if the average price paid by a processor for each grade classification is less than the announced price for such grade classification the ceiling prices for processed pears will reflect this reduced raw material cost.

Father of Quads Urged to Return

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7 (UP)—William (Red) Thompson, former army sergeant, was in receipt of a message today sent by Nora Carpenter, unwed English girl who bore him quadruplets 17 months ago, to return to England. Film History Repeats Itself

Nine years ago there flashed on the screen one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced. It was Ernest Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms," a poignant love story told against the brutal background of the Italian rout at Caporetto in World War I. Its stars were Gary Cooper and Helen Hayes.

Today Gary Cooper is starred in another great Ernest Hemingway war romance. It is Paramount's technicolor "For Whom the Bell Tolls," playing at the Liberty theater today and Wednesday with the lovely Ingrid Bergman portraying Maria to Cooper's Robert Jordan. This Hemingway love story is drawn against the excitement and heartbreak of the Spanish civil war and it resembles its memorable predecessor in dramatic power and romantic appeal. "For Whom the Bell Tolls" has, in addition, a technicolored scenic splendor that makes it one of the most beautiful pictures ever filmed.

Rejection by VFW Of Veteran Draws Ire of WRA Head

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP)—Director Dillon Meyer of the war relocation authority said today the members of post 51 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars should reconsider their rejection of Pfc. Richard Naito, Japanese-American soldier, for membership.

"I fully concur with Colonel Miller's keen indignation," Meyer said, "over the action taken by a minority of members of post 51 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spokane, Wash., in excluding Private Naito from membership on the grounds of his ancestry. The great majority of Americans and of VFW members everywhere will, I feel sure, repudiate this act. They will join with Col. Miller in insisting that the Japanese-American soldiers returning from battle and their parents coming home from relocation centers must be treated with decency and fairness."
