

WPB Shortly To Approve Auto Plant Plans

Expect Output Of 6,000,000 Cars Yearly Eventually

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (UP)—The war production board shortly will approve plans by the automobile industry to construct $150,000,000 in new plants and additions necessary for maximum production of civilian cars, it was learned today.

A high WPB official told the United Press notification of the approval probably will go out to the industry some time next week. He explained the construction applications will be okayed on grounds the expansion program will provide for "additional insurance against unemployment next year."

Requests for construction authority have flowed in a steady stream to the WPB since it met with the automobile industry last July 11 and asked for prompt notification of requirements for eventual full production. It was estimated that the proposed additional facilities might increase the productive capacity of the industry up to 6,000,000 cars a year compared with an estimated pre-war peak of 4,000,000 cars.

In approving the application, the WPB will make it clear it cannot at this time give the automobile companies priorities. That means the industry will have to compete for limited quantities of construction materials.

Some companies are now relatively free of war work, but lack of materials and manpower would prevent them from attaining the peak. On the other hand, there are others whose facilities are now tied up almost 100 percent on war work. These firms want to build new plants to make automobiles for civilians so that they will not be left behind when all restrictions are lifted.

Geneva Appears Likely Site For United Nations

LONDON, Aug. 8 (UP)—Well informed observers believe Geneva will receive highly favorable consideration when the executive committee of the united nations conference international organization meets in London to consider proposed sites for the new world group.

The executive committee was expected to open deliberations tomorrow. Besides nominating prospective sites for UNICO, it will select a candidate or candidates for the post of secretary general, arrange for taking over the work and archives of the league of nations, and nominate justices for the new world court.

Well qualified observers believed Geneva would be considered as the most practical site in view of the fact that the league plant already is established and available there.

Two major objections have been raised to Geneva, however. First, is the psychological objection due to the failure of the old league, and second is the fact Russia does not have diplomatic relations with Switzerland.

Brussels and Copenhagen also have been mentioned as possible sites.
