No Censorship to Mar Coverage of German Trials

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP)—There will be absolutely no press censorship when Hermann Goering and other accused war criminals go on trial for their lives in Nuernberg next month, regardless of what embarrassing diplomatic secrets Hitler's fallen aides may reveal.

That assurance was given the United Press today by U. S. Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, American co-prosecutor in the fourth coming trials.

Jackson's flat statement indicated Britain, France and Russia have agreed to the American position.

It set at rest uneasiness among correspondents the court might try to withhold publication of part of the German leaders' defense. Jackson said accommodation would be made for about 250 press and radio correspondents.
