

Teaching Training Available

Excellent preparation for teaching and supervision in the elementary and junior high schools is available at Eastern Oregon college for men and women discharged from the armed services. Veterans may also elect any of the various semi-professional or vocational courses of two years' duration or may take the first two years' work in most fields with a view toward transferring to the state college or university to complete work toward a degree. The financial benefits relating to education in the "G. I. bill of rights" and the rehabilitation law (public law 16 and public law 246) are available to eligible veterans who attend these colleges. These benefits cover the cost of fees and supplies and include a substantial allotment for living costs. Recent state legislation adds other benefits for Oregon veterans.

Veterans who are high school graduates are admitted with freshman standing. A veteran who is within a few units of high school graduation may, with the approval of his high school principal, enroll as a special student; a program can be worked out to clear these deficiencies while attending college so that he may go forward toward a college degree. Veterans who have already attended colleges should arrange to have sent to the registrar full transcripts of all college work completed.

Credit up to six term hours or more may be granted for military service; the amount of credit will depend upon the type and length of the service. Courses completed in special training will be evaluated and appropriate college credit allowed.

Any student who wishes may, by attending summer sessions, complete the three-year program leading to a teaching certificate in a little more than two calendar years, and the B. S. degree in elementary education may be earned in three calendar years. Any student planning an accelerated program should write to the institution he wishes to attend for further information. The adviser may be consulted in person or by letter. He will welcome inquiries from veterans. Those interested in attending Eastern Oregon college should write or call the veterans' adviser, Lyle H. Johnson, Eastern Oregon college of education, La Grande.

Central School Made Record in Sales of Bonds

An outstanding record has been made by Central school in the war stamp and bond program. 1,841.35 was purchased in stamps and $6,636.55 in bonds, $8,477.90 for the year's activity.

Several music groups gave outstanding contributions under the leadership of Mr. Brunette. The Rancheros, a small chorus of sixth and seventh grade boys, entertained many community affairs. The Modernettes, a similar group of girls, was organized later in the year and participated in a number of performances. A chorus, made up of pupils of the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades participated in the high school Christmas program and also gave a spring concert.

For the first time in several years it was necessary to install two divisions in the first grade.

The lunch room project, carried on under the P.-T. A. sponsorship, has had a successful year. Two hundred have been served daily.

Harvey Carter is principal.

TYPICAL SCENE OF THE sewing room of the Union county chapter of the American Red Cross where production has not ceased in spite of the war end. In the picture are, left to right, Mrs. Mae Moran, chairman of the sewing committee, Mrs. A. I. Andrews, Miss Margaret Newlin, Mrs. Fred Gehring, sr., chairman of production, and Mrs. Julia Heitler. The end of the war has not abated the amount of work by the production department. Mrs. Moran has just received 1,000 yards of white material which is to be made into garments for the people of the Philippines. A report of this department through the war years shows many women have given of their time and energy. There has also been much financial assistance. Money raised throughout the county financed 2,000 soldier kits filled with comfort articles. Soldiers and sailors have received more than 1,000 garments made by the women of this county. Included were knee bands, socks, helmets, sweaters and mufflers. For war relief sewing, which consists of garments made for the civilian population of war-torn countries, dresses, layettes, slips, nightgowns, pajamas and knitted articles have been made. There were also many toddler's packs, a kit containing clothing for children of two years. One thousand, eight hundred twenty-two articles were sent and 1,500 knitted pieces. The scraps left from cutting were utilized for quilts and 225 were made and shipped. Scraps were used for baby blankets. Five thousand three hundred and thirty-two hospital comfort articles have been shipped.

New Stokers Save Considerable Carry

New stokers are now installed in the coal bins at the college. These stokers carry the coal directly from the bins to the furnace, thus eliminating the work of keeping hoppers filled. For many years coal had to be carried for a considerable distance from the bin to the hoppers. The late Perry Caldwell, former superintendent of buildings and grounds at one time figured he had made enough trips from the bin to the hopper to have carried one shovel of coal from here to Germany. The bins were later moved near the furnace so that the work was lessened a great deal.

With the new installation now complete, the superintendent will

College Offered Summer Courses

For the second consecutive summer, the college offered a special short course for emergency. Elizabeth Harris, Eva Wear, and Mabel Hawkinson conducted upper, primary, and rural sections and teachers learned through lectures, discussions, and demonstrations of the effective practices in the modern elementary schools of Oregon.

Seventy teachers enrolled for the intensive conference which lasted seven days. They were enthusiastic in their praise of the course and expressed a desire to return again.

have more time to perform the numerous other duties required of him.

Scholarships Help Bring Worthy Youths

Business firms, clubs and organizations, and individuals of La Grande and eastern Oregon again made it possible for the college to attract worthy high school graduates through the availability of numerous all-tuition scholarships. Approximately 70 scholarships have been awarded to beginning freshmen with an additional four or five going to returning students.

Dr. Roben J. Maaske, president, in behalf of the college expressed his appreciation for the splendid cooperation of the citizens of eastern Oregon and their interest in keeping that college alive during the difficult war-time years when many colleges have had to close their doors.
