Fat Salvage Must Continue on High Level in Nation

Collection of salvaged fat for Oregon for 1945 has run well over 1944 figures, but there is still an urgent need for continued salvage at high level, it was announced today.

Every month except February, June and July, salvage has shown increased collections in Oregon over the corresponding months of 1944. June and July collections dropped markedly, although the August total is more than 8000 pounds above corresponding 1944 figures.

Because there appears to be no indication of early relief from the fat shortage through resumption of imports, the department of agriculture is urged continued and increased fat saving, particularly in rural areas, from which much of this year's salvage has come.

Waste fats are needed to meet certain industrial requirements—waste fats are an essential ingredient in the production of nylon stockings, tire, electrical appliances, telephones, automobiles, upholstery, and in hundreds of other peace time goods.

Two new members, Donald Haffy, and N. W. Lange, were initiated, and an application for membership was received by James M. Ritchey.

Fourteen members were present, including Lile Dailey, national service officer, and David King, state adjutant. King presented the charter.

The organization's next meeting will be 7:30 p. m. Nov. 12 in the city commission rooms.

DOES CHEVRON SUPREME MAKE DRIVING IN TRAFFIC EASIER?

Quick pick up is one remedy for traffic headaches . . . and that's where Chevron Supreme shines. It's a highway version of the Chevron Aviation Gasoline that was built to give fighting planes extra pep—and Chevron Supreme does the same for your car.

Like fighting planes, your car runs best—in traffic or on the highway—with a gasoline designed for its own special requirements. So, even though Chevron Supreme comes from a flying fuel, it's tailored for cars; has the qualities they need most.

You'll like the way Chevron Supreme doesn't sputter when you need quick getaway in a traffic snarl. And you'll like the way its high-octane power hums you over the highway. Not even gasoline straight from a fighter plane's tanks could put better performance in your car.
