Tracy, Hepburn Here in Comedy "Without Love"

An outstanding cast, headed by co-stars Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn and including such tried-and-true comedy experts as Lucille Ball, Keenan Wynn and Felix Bressart, has been brought together by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to provide one of the most mirthful movies of the season in "Without Love," which opens Sunday at the Liberty theater.
Based on the play by Phillip Barry, author of "The Philadelphia Story," the new attraction is the story of a scientist-inventor (Tracy) and a girl (Miss Hepburn) both of whom shun love.
Each has different reasons for rejecting love, and both are determined to stay away from it.

● SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Observance of Two Commandants Would Insure Lasting World Peace

Scripture: Matthew 22:36-39; Mark 12:28-34; Luke 10:25-37

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
From the story of ancient Israel, ending with the Israelites in Egypt, and the restoration of Joseph to his father, Jacob, we turn now to a series of lessons in the fourth quarter of the year on the general theme, The Christian and His Relationships. First of these lessons is on The Christian Way of Life.
No lessons could be more needed at the present time. We have seen the conclusion of a long and terrible war, in which,
in the sheer business of preserving our very lives and liberties, we have been forced to stop aggression by the use of violence in opposing and conquering violent men. The atomic bomb has emphasized as never before the horror of war, and the cleavage between the destructiveness of war and the life and teaching of Jesus. He said He had come, not to destroy men's lives, but to save them; to give life, and to give it more abundantly.

This is not the place to discuss the vexed issues between pacifism and military service.
Most of us believe that violent men, out to destroy all we hold dear, forced us to use violence to defeat violence. We never believed in war; we never took up weapons, or made air raids willingly. Our boast was that we were fighting to preserve democracy and liberty. We wanted to restore a world in which men could practice religion and brotherhood.
Now, in the time of victory, comes the supreme test. Do we really believe in the Christian way of life for which we have been fighting? How closely and truly are we going to follow it, now that freedom to follow it is restored? The war has been like a great epidemic of disease, threatening to destroy us; but now, with normal health restored, shall we find and keep the highest things to which man can commit his whole heart and soul?
The Christian way of life is defined, in Matthew, Mark, and Luke, explicitly and in the whole New Testament generally, in the two great commandments.
