

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing in regard to the letter concerning boys visiting girls who are baby-sitting. I agree with you that this should not be permitted. My reasons, however, are not entirely the same as yours.

When people hire a sitter they trust her with their most valuable possessions—their children. If the sitter is entertaining a boy friend she's not so likely to give her full attention to her responsibilities.

The girl who goes to work in an office or a retail store wouldn't think of entertaining friends on the job. Why, then, should she expect to do this while baby-sitting? She's being paid for her time and her employer has the right to expect her undivided attention. Sitters should have this explained to them from the outset. It should not be assumed that they "know better." Most of them don't—Mother of five.

Dear M.O. Five: Many mothers and a surprising number of conscientious sitters wrote along these same lines. There's no question about it—She sits best when she sits alone.

Dear Ann: It happened again last night for the 20th time. I decided to write for advice before

I lose my temper and hit my big-headed husband over his dumb head.

We've been married 10 years. He's loyal, loving, and has never caused me any trouble. The problem I'm having with him has never been mentioned in your column that I know of.

When we're with family or friends someone invariably admires my earrings, a pin, a scarf, a navel eye-glass case or even a hat. My husband puts me on the spot by saying "Give it to her honey. You can get another one." What can I do but hand it over or look cheap?

Last night I lost a lovely hand-painted scarf to his sister. I tried to smile and be gracious but I was boiling inside. If you can think of a solution to this one you're a genius.—Stripped.

Dear Stripped: I wish they were all this easy. Simply tell your husband (when you're alone) that you shop, hunt and pay good money for things you like because you want to enjoy them.

If he insists on putting you in this awkward position after you've explained your feelings privately, then publicly pretend you have a sound-proof head.

Kenney Included Hawaii For Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, the front-runner for the Democratic Presidential nomination, will carry his speaking campaign to Hawaii this summer.

The Massachusetts Democrat told United Press International today that any other details of his planned visit to the nation's 50th state would be announced by his island hosts.

But Kennedy, who also visited Alaska last November, is the only one of the four leading Democratic presidential possibilities who now has definite plans to go to either of the new states this year.

A check showed that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) have no visits to the former territories scheduled.

Kennedy has been stumping the country for months. Both Humphrey and Symington are nearing a peak stride in their out-of-Washington appearances. Johnson, who insists he is not and will not be a candidate, is spacing his speeches more widely.

HE'S TRYING FOR MORE MONEY NOT TO DRAFT MORE MEN WITH

By FRANK ELEAZER
UPI Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One way or another, most young fellows these days are being passed up by the draft. So here was Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the draft director, asking for more money, not to draft 'em with.

From all the signs, he may get it too, although it is true a Senate Appropriations subcommittee which heard Hershey's plea had hoped things would work out the other way around.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) told the general folks are beginning to say, "look at that Hershey fellow, spending 30 million dollars a year to take 100,000 men into service." He said it looks to him, too, like drafting these few fellows is getting kind of expensive.

The House gave him only $29,000,000.

He asked the Senators to restore the $1,650,000 reduction. Not only is there endless paperwork involved in deciding a man ought to be deferred, Hershey said, but once he's deferred, his local board always has to keep him in sight. It's a lot less work just to draft him.

But even then Hershey's troubles aren't over.

He said 40 per cent of the men he sends to the induction station are turned down as unfit, for reasons that sometimes leave him scratching his head.

"We had a fellow once turned down on account of a bad back," Hershey recalled. "They said he couldn't lift. Now he is a stevedore by profession."

Miss Universe Loser Gains Starring Role In New Film

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Blonde Evy Norlund, a loser in last year's Miss Universe pageant, came up a winner this week with a studio contract and a starring role in her first movie.

As Miss Denmark of 1958, Evy made the semi-finals and was heading back to Copenhagen when she was spotted by a Columbia Studios scout who obviously believed the contest judges goofed.

Timid and beautiful, the shapely Dane is undergoing the same glamour build-up expended on Rita Hayworth and Kim Novak (both Columbia graduates).

But it may be an uphill battle. Evy frequently is mistaken for Kim, and on occasion she is confused with Brigitte Bardot.

Evy speaks English with a slight accent, and is baffled by our units of measure.

Asked for her measurements, she answered, "my bust is 90, my waist 58, and my hips 90."

Means Centimeters
A studio press agent gave an imitation of a man suffering apoplexy.

"That can't be right," he cried. "When you say '90' what do you mean—90 what!"

"Centimeters, of course," Evy answered, somewhat alarmed herself. "Is that so bad?"

Called the sharp-tailed grouse include chickenlike cacklings and a gobbling note.

Leukemia Death Toll Increasing

NEW YORK (UPI) — The death rate from Leukemia is increasing faster than that of any other form of cancer except lung cancer but the leukemia death rate among children appears to be decreasing, the American Cancer Society said today.

The society said in a special report that medical progress in the fight against the disease has increased the life span of the leukemia victim although leukemia still is relentless in its claim on life.

Whereas life expectancy in cases of acute leukemia used to be only a matter of weeks or months, therapeutic agents has stretched this to as much as a few years. Chronic leukemia patients may survive for several years to as much as 10 or even 20 years, the society said, adding that the best chance was held by those who contracted chronic leukemia in later life.

The cancer society said the leukemia death rate among males of all ages has risen from 2.5 per 100,000 in 1930 to 7.4 in 1956. Among females, less susceptible to the disease than males, the death rate increased from 1.8 to 5.1 during the same period.

The report said the increase in incidence of leukemia was greater among persons 50 years and older.

Although leukemia often is thought of as a children's disease, the society said that the 11,000 who die annually of the disease in this country less than 2,000 are children.

Other Findings
The report also said:
—The incidence of leukemia is greater among the privileged classes than among the less privileged and greater among urban than among rural dwellers.
—The disease rarely is present at birth.
—Research among mice has disclosed leukemia may be caused by a virus.
—The Cancer Society is spending nearly one million dollars this year for leukemia research.
—Research has identified some of the causative agents of animal leukemia as X-rays, certain coal tar products, specific hormonal imbalances and cell-free or virus-like agents.

Hermiston Man Found Innocent In Outdoor Trial

HERMISTON (UPI) — A Justice Court jury returned a verdict of innocent Tuesday evening in the outdoor trial of Hubert R. Ramsey, 52, Hermiston, who had been charged with holding game birds without a state permit.

The open-air trial, first of its kind in more than 100 years here, was held on a lawn outside the courthouse.

Judge Don E. Hurrle said earlier his courtroom, 13-by-14 feet, was inadequate for a jury trial and announced plans to conduct the proceedings outside if the weather was nice.

About 100 spectators watched the trial in bright sunshine. The jury deliberated one hour and five minutes and returned the innocent verdict about 5:20 p.m.

The jury members were seated on chairs brought from the courtroom and Judge Hurrle had his desk and chair moved outside.

The case went to the jury about 4:15 p.m. and the panel conferred in the courthouse before returning outside and announcing its decision. Ramsey, operator of a hardware and plumbing supply store, acted as his own defense.

There are some 16 million guys around who can testify to the efficacy of that one page. Greetings from the President, it said. But although 118,000 young men turn 18 each month, and must register for the draft, only about 10,000 each month now get this cheery announcement.

"We are going on the assumption, now with a reasonable supply of manpower, that where anybody is doing anything in the national interest, we let 'em go ahead and do it," Hershey explained.

Scientists and engineers of course are deferred. So are teachers. So are youngsters who look like they are going to be scientists, engineers, and teachers. So in fact are students of just about anything else, as long as they keep up their grades. So are fellows in all kinds of jobs held to be useful.

His Budget Cut
Farmers don't go. Fathers generally don't either.

With Hershey's declining business in mind, the House recently ordered a cut in his budget. For the year starting July 1, he asked for $30,650,000 compared to the $29,556,800 which he currently has.
