WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House
Government Operations subcommittee was considering setting up a new department of urbiculture, and what Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) wanted to know was weather this meant plans were afoot to plow under some city dwellers.

According to Rep. Martha W.

Police held Ralph Peralto, Portland, for questioning. Bartender Alex Elizendro, 42, told police that just before the stabbing, he broke up a fight at the bar between Williams and Peralto. Elizendro told police he ordered Peralto out of the place. He said the man subsequently re-entered the tavern several times and was put out each time.

Another witness told police that the last time Peralto entered, Williams was walking down the bar, and was stabbed in the back. He said Williams ran out of the building with Peralto following. Williams collapsed around the corner

"Everybody else is paying sub-sidles," Brown said. "So maybe he'll pay people not to have babies, or not to drink water." Rep. Dante Fascell (D-Fla.) who wants to create a study commission on city problems instead of a new government department suggested helpfully maybe Mrs. Griffiths' secretary of urban affairs could just pay city folks to move out of town.
