ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We've been married 17 years and have finally reached the financial plateau where we get invited to all the nicest parties in town. Naturally we must reciprocate.

My husband announced last week that he's sick and tired of spending a fortune to entertain people he doesn't give a hoot about. I agree he has a point. We invite most of these people to our home simply because they invited us to theirs. We aren't really friends. We see each other only a few times a year.

How do people unwind from the social rat-race without giving the impression they've gotten high-hat or gone broke?—Weary.

Dear Weary: When entertaining means spending money you hate to part with, to wine and dine people you don't care about, merely because you must "pay them back"—then it's time to quit. The hostess who'd rather be stricken with bubonic plague than stricken from a party list inevitably becomes trapped by her own stupidity. One "unwinds" from the social rat-race by having the courage to say NO to people they don't care about. The next step toward maturity is to widen your circle of friends to include a few people you like.

Dear Ann: I'm a bachelor, 47, not bad looking, high school educated and employed by the City Transit Company. I hope you won't think I'm a nut. I need help with a personal problem.

Newspapers are my hobby and I buy half a dozen out-of-town papers every weekend for fun. Three months ago I picked up a big city paper and read an interesting ad in the personals:

"Widow, 38, financially independent wishes to correspond with respectable single man. Object, friendship. Must be willing to exchange photographs."

For a laugh I sent my picture to this woman and also a nice letter. When her picture arrived I was surprised. She's very good looking.

We've exchanged 34 letters and I find myself thinking of her night and day. She wants me to quit my job and move out to get "better acquainted." She has a nice home and has offered to rent me a room in it till I get some work lined up. I know it sounds crazy but I've never felt this way about any woman before. Do you think I may have something?—ROY

Dear Roy: Yeah—you have something—strudel in the noodle. A man who would quit his job to follow up a mail order romance has a loose connection somewhere. If you think your pen pal has possibilities, go out there on your next vacation and STAY AT A HOTEL. Meet her family, friends and clergyman. Get acquainted. But don't be too hopeful. When a "financially independent woman of 38" must advertise in a newspaper for friends—something's wrong.

No matter how careful one is with personal grooming items, extra caution pays. Even in tweezing eyebrows, there is danger of infection. A bit of rubbing alcohol or an antiseptic lotion dabbed on after tweezing helps avoid infection.

Relief From Hemorrhoids Possible Without Surgery! Persons suffering from hemorrhoids (piles) need no longer resort to painful hospital surgery, thanks to a relatively new electronic method of treating rectal and colon disorders, practiced by the Dean Clinic in Portland, Oregon.

The Dean Clinic treatment is proving more effective than surgery in many cases and requires no hospitalization or confinement. Uncomplicated cases are often corrected in as little as 10 days. Since the method involves no cutting, there is practically no discomfort during treatment, and none of the common after effects of surgery. Information without obligation may be obtained by writing the Dean Clinic, Chiropractic Physicians, 2026 N. E. Sandy Blvd., Portland 12, Oregon.

MISS SANDRA WILSON
Engagement Revealed

August Wedding Plans Set By Miss Wilson, Ferguson

The engagement of Miss Sandra Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Wilson of Coos Bay, and Jim Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Ferguson of La Grande, was announced at the AZ breakfast dance at The Sands, in Gearhart.

The announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson was revealed to Ferguson's fraternity brothers and their dates at the breakfast.

Miss Wilson has just completed her sophomore year at Pacific University at Forest Grove. She is a member of Phi Lambda Omicron, a social sorority.

Ferguson just completed his junior year at Pacific University and is a member of Alpha Zeta, a social fraternity.

The wedding is being planned for late August.

The business meeting was conducted by retiring president Lois DeLong.
