Church Rites Unite Gulzow, Barton

The First Christian Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony uniting Miss Lana Mae Gulzow and Richard L. Barton, the evening of June 12. Miss Gulzow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gulzow, La Grande, and Barton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Quebbeman of Imbler.

The Rev. Lester Wells Jr. of Elgin, performed the ceremony in the La Grande church, decorated with large baskets of glads all pink and white with blue daisies and large pink bows.

Janis Robertson sang "Because", "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly". Avery Millering provided the music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace and net with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline with mother of pearl trim. A mother of pearl crown held the elbow length tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

In keeping with tradition she wore a blue garter, made by her great aunt. Mrs. Harry Giltner of Seattle. Something old and borrowed was a lace hankie from her grandmother, Mrs. Emil Gaertner. Jewelry was a string of pearls and earrings to match, which were a gift from the groom. She also carried a lucky penny.

Ardyce Gulzow, sister of the bride was the maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length blue lace dress and a headband of blue net. She carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Bridesmaids were Wenda Gulzow, sister of the bride and Karvel Gulzow, her cousin. They wore blue lace dresses identical to the maid of honors and carried mixed flower nosegays.

Gail Ennis, niece of the groom, and Carol Gaertner, cousin of the bride were the flower girls. They were dressed in blue nylon dresses and headbands of white flowers. They carried baskets of rose petals. Candle lighters, Linda Gaertner and Sandra Gulzow, cousins of the bride, wore blue taffeta dresses and carried candles.

Keith Barton acted as best man to his brother, and Bob Hanson and James Scott were the ushers. David Gulzow a brother of the bride was the ring bearer. He carried a white satin, heart shaped pillow with streamers.

Mrs. Gulzow chose for her daughters wedding, a dress of pink taffeta with gray lace overtop, white accessories and a rose corsage. The groom's mother wore a royal blue taffeta with blue lace overtop. Her accessories were white and a rose corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlor, with large baskets of Iris as decorations. The four tiered wedding cake was decorated by Elton Mullenburg a cousin of the groom. The decorations included white swans, roses and on top the usual bride and groom. Mrs. Maxine Ennis and Mrs. Virginia Stillman, sister of the groom served the cake.

Louise Feder served at the punch bowl and Charlotte Coffin, cousin of the groom, poured coffee. Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Ella Koeter, Mrs. Wayne Gaertner, Mrs. William Gaertner, Bradfords Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bradford of Long Beach, Calif., were guests visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard England. Mrs. Bradford (Avis Vinacke) is a former resident of La Grande. She is a graduate of La Grande High school in the class of '18.

They visited a number of friends while here, then left Tuesday to further their trip by visiting in Canada and also with her uncle J. W. Vinacke of Canby.

Galloway Chapter Hears Program 'Africa Emerging'

The Galloway Chapter of the missionary society of the First Church of the Nazarene met for a regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Phil Martin. Devotions were given by Mrs. Don Smith, and Mrs. Bill Blakeney presented the prayer requests for June.

"The African in the Dark," chapter two of the study book, Africa Emerging, was given by Mrs. Ed Alexander. This dealt with his appearance, home, language, and customs at the time of David Livingstone. It was brought out that much of this has not changed.

Mrs. Lawrence Abila, chapter chairman, presided over the business meeting.

Upon adjournment the hostess, Mrs. Martin, served refreshments to the following ladies: Mrs. Bill Baca, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. Lyle Hanson, Mrs. Lawrence Abila, Mrs. Bill Blakeney, Mrs. Don Hasse, Mrs. Marvin Fager, and Mrs. Edwin Alexander.

Hobby House Plans Future Activities

The Riverside Hobby House reports a successful year and are making plans for the coming year. Their plans include a Harvest auction, booth at the County Fair, rummage sale and a Christmas toy repair and sale.

The boys classes will start in September and the girls will be held in the spring. The boys class was quite small but plans are underway for a bigger and better class. The girls class was attended by 120 this spring.

Several items are needed at the Hobby House at this time, among them are benches or chairs that are still usable, and small articles such as pieces of new material, laces, ribbon, small plastic or china figurines, cigar boxes, small jars or cans with tight lids for paint storage, small amounts of paint or rubber base paint, plastic berry boxes and also rummage.

Someone will pick up any of these articles that you may have to spare, if you will call Mrs. Oliver Romine.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is just crazy about the Three Stooges. He watches them every chance he gets. We have two children, a boy 3, and a girl 2.

The boy is beginning to act like Moe. At first we thought it was cute. Now we aren't so sure. Do you think this may handicap him in later life? We are young parents who want to do right by our children. Please tell us how to handle this situation—Mother of "Moe".

Dear Mother: Children often imitate movie stars and TV performers. Usually it's just a passing fancy—unless too much is made of it. If you don't want your son to act like Moe don't reward his imitations with approval. No one wants to perform for an unresponsive audience. One of the healthy aspects of American culture is that the third rate stuff on TV (of which there is plenty) seldom lasts long enough to do serious damage.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so crushed I don't know which way to turn. Our daughter, 18, is pregnant and not married. I know it happens every day, but like everyone else, I never thought it would happen in our family.

Mildred went with this boy for two years. He's 20. A couple weeks ago he stopped coming over. At first she said he was getting "too difficult to handle." Then she broke down and told me the truth—she's four months along. I asked if he knew and she said "yes." When I inquired what he intended to do about it, she said "nothing." I told her to phone him at once and tell him we wanted to talk to him. He promised to come over that night but he didn't show up. The next morning I telephoned his mother. She got hysterical and screamed "No tramp is going to ruin my boy's life" and slammed down the receiver. My husband has tried to contact the boy's father. He's always "out of town."

Why should Mildred have to face this alone? The boy is as much to blame as she is. We think they should be married right away. Can we force it through the law? What advice do you have for us?—Heartbroken.

Dear Heartbroken: Laws vary according to the state, but in NO state, can a marriage be forced. And why would you want to force this marriage anyway? Mildred has enough trouble without being permanently shackled to a fellow who doesn't want her.

If you think it's tough to be an unwed mother, plenty of women will testify that it's worse to be a despised wife. You need a lawyer. In some states the boy is responsible for the support of his out-of-wedlock child. Check immediately.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) Copyright 1959, Field Enterprises, Inc.

No rest for this Chevy... round the clock the engine never stops!

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thrift-master 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action.

The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability—in any weight class—at any price.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!
