HEARINGS

 urer for the city, told Lorenzen he was not billed for any amount. The amount was merely indicated to give him some idea of the charge but no bill was sent.

After apologizing to Young, Lorenzen thanked the commission and walked out of the meeting. Mrs. Ted Sidor also protested to the commissioners for action taken by the city in laying water mains. She objected primarily to the fact that neither she nor her husband had been notified of the proposed district or given an opportunity to join or reject the district.

Mrs. Sidor told the commission that she felt the hearing should be held and all objections taken care of before the work was done. She was referring to the city placing a water main in the street fronting the Sidor property prior to the hearing.

"This is just a little government service we are not getting," Mrs. Sidor stated.

Earl Miller attended the hearing to straighten out an agreement reached with the city in regard to Improvement District No. 7 on Foley between Spring and Adams.

Miller presently has five dwellings connected on a one-inch pipe that he installed at his own expense. Under the agreement reached last night the city will look up three of the dwellings at the city's cost and Miller will pay the $75 installation charge on the other two buildings.

City Engineer Dave Slight explained to the commissioners that Miller had provided the original installation and both he and the water superintendent felt that this would reimburse Miller for the expense he incurred originally.

Lack Of Bids Holds Action

Action on the purchase of two new vehicles for the police department was held over until next week when only one of the three expected bidders submitted offers at the commission meeting last night.

The bid from Hand Ford Sales exceeded the budgeted amount by $900 and commissioners were reluctant to go ahead until further investigation of the matter could be made.

Gettings-Lynch and M. J. Goss had been expected to make bids on the contract but did not.

The commission requested bids on 1959 station wagons because it was felt delivery would be sooner and the expected cost increase created by the steel strike would make 1959 more expensive. Model changes and price lists are not available on 1960 models and delivery couldn't be expected until October according to the commissioners.

Hand Ford submitted a bid of $4,150 for the two vehicles plus the trade-in on 1956 and 1957 vehicles now operated by police.
 The budgeted amount for the purchase of the two vehicles was $3,250.

Judge Will Rule In Mattison Case

Archie Ray Mattison who pleaded guilty to a District Attorney's Information charging contributing to the delinquency of a minor has been remanded to the custody of the county jail, pending sentencing.

Dist. Atty. George Anderson told the Observer today that arguments in the matter were heard by Judge A. F. Brown yesterday. "He has taken the case under study and will render his decision at a future date," the prosecuting attorney stated.

Mattison has been in the Eastern Oregon State Hospital at Pendleton for the past 60 days where he was committed by Judge Brown for observation. A hospital report was submitted to the court yesterday.

City Library Boosts Fines

Library fines will be increased September 1 to two cents per day for each book, magazine, or phonograph record which is kept overtime at the La Grande Public Library.

This brings local charges in line with charges which are being made in other libraries.

The trend at present is toward even higher charges, some libraries making an assessment of four and five cents per day per book.

It is pointed out that fees collected by the La Grande Public Library for fines are not retained by the library, but are turned over to the city to become part of the city's general fund.

It is the hope of the library staff that this increase in fines will cause the library's patrons to make a greater effort toward returning books on time and thus cut down on much clerical work involved in sending out overdue postal reminders.

The library reminds its patrons that a "Book Drop" has been provided at the outside entrance, where books may be returned when the library is not open.

Main Improvements Asked In Petition

The city commission accepted and placed on file a petition from Doyle Wilson and Clare McManus for Water Main Improvement District No. 10 on Oak St. between K and L Avenues.

Specifications call for the laying of four inch pipe for a distance of two blocks to connect with existing facilities. The water district will effect only those portions of the area already having water service.

There are more than 500 different species of humming birds.

National Guard Seeks City Lots For Parking Area

The city commission held over a request from the Headquarters Company, 185th Infantry for the use of city lots as parking space near the armory until the next meeting.

The letter addressed to the commission requested the city give the property to the Oregon National Guard to convert into parking space and the National Guard would stand the expense of the improvement.

According to Col. Boyd the National Guard would budget funds for black topping the area in their next budget. Until such time as Falk's L. D. store took first place in the window contest last night in conjunction with the Fall Opening.

Birnes Jewelry came in second. Ann Johnson's was third. A drawing was made from the winning store's ballots for a $15 merchandise certificate. Mrs. J. A. Mitchell was the winner.

The funds were available the area would be graveled for use.

The city would be able to use the parking lot for civic functions held at the park and armory and the Guard unit would use it on drill nights.
