Giants Kick Underdog; Lead Chewed By Phillies

United Press International
Kick an underdog and you'll wind up with a piece of your league lead chewed out.

That's an age-old baseball axiom and if the faltering first-place Giants didn't know it before they sure know it now.

All season long, the Giants have been beating the last-place Phillies with a minimum of difficulty. But then they went and stirred up a beanball ruckus with the tail-enders Thursday. That did it.

The suddenly aroused Phillies swept a doubleheader, 7-2 and 2-1, and the weary Giants limped out of Philadelphia with their National League lead sliced to two games.

Most of the fireworks took place during the sixth inning of the opener with the score tied at 1-1. Joe Koppe put the Phils in front when he led off the frame with a home run off Mike McCormick. After Gene Freese also homered, McCormick hit Harry Anderson on the head with a pitch.

Explode In Fifth
Anderson fell to the ground, stretched out. It took him some time to get up, but when he did he shouted angrily at McCormick and had to be restrained from getting at the Giant pitcher. McCormick insisted he didn't throw at Anderson intentionally.

The Phils didn't believe him, though. They scored five runs in the sixth to earn Jim Owens his 10th victory.

All the scoring in the nightcap came during the first inning. Willie Mays hit his 22nd home run in the top of the frame but the Phils came back with two off Al Worthington in the bottom of the frame on a walk, a single, a sacrifice fly, an infield out and another single by Wally Post.

St. Louis beat Milwaukee, 5-4, and Cincinnati took Chicago, 5-0, in the other N.L. games. Los Angeles and Pittsburgh were idle.

The first-place Chicago White Sox stretched their lead to 1½ games with a 5-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the only American League game scheduled.

Happy Birthday
Joe Cunningham celebrated his 28th birthday by collecting a triple, double and two singles in the Cards' win over the Braves. Cunningham's performance lifted his batting average to .349, only nine points back of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who leads the league.

Rookie southpaw Jim O'Toole of the Reds limited the Cubs to five hits in pitching his first major league shutout and registering his fourth victory of the year. O'Toole fanned 10 and didn't allow a hit until the fifth.

Two youngsters, 23-year-old Barry Latman and 25-year-old John Remano, led the White Sox to their victory over the Red Sox. Latman blanked Boston for eight innings before Ted Williams teed off for his 10th homer in the ninth.

Carmen Basillio Meets Gene Fullmer On TV For Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gene Fullmer, a country boy from Utah, and Carmen Basillio, an onion farmer from New York, clash tonight for the NBA version of the world middleweight crown in the San Francisco Cow Palace.

Fight time is 10 p.m. e.d.t. and the two lads will be picking up some of the biggest checks of their varied careers for the scheduled 15-round bout.

A crowd of about 15,000 is anticipated, with a gate of $200,000. Another $100,000 will come from radio and TV nights. Of the total, Basillio gets 35 per cent, Fullmer 25 per cent.

The two bruising body-punchers, both former holders of the now-vacant crown, battle pretty much alike—but think differently.

Basillio Expects To Win
Thursday, for instance, Fullmer whilled away the time reading books on philosophy and religion. Basillio loafed and played poker.

"I expect to win it," says Basillio, the crag-faced veteran, "it's the most important fight of my career. My future depends on it."

Basillio's co-managers, John Net-and John DeJohn, will be at ringside in an unofficial capacity. They have not applied for manager's licenses because they know they would be denied by the California State Athletic Commission.

"We would have been turned down," says Netro. "There was no use in applying. We told an inquiry in New York that he paid Gabe Genovese money for 'services rendered.' So we get black-balled for it."

Trains Hard
Genovese was sentenced to two years last month for being an undercover manager of Ludwig Lightburn in 1956.

Basillio will be managed for this fight by Angelo Dundee, his chief second.

Fullmer, with 151 rounds of boxing, plus dozens more with an axe handle on the heavy bag, believes he is at the peak of his career.

At 28 years, he is four years younger than Basillio. He will weigh seven or eight pounds more and will have a two-inch reach advantage.

"I've trained harder for this fight than ever before," says Fullmer. "And I have developed a new punch—extra power that should win it for me."

PAN-AM GAMES OPEN WITH U.S. HEAVY FAVORITE TO WIN

CHICAGO (UPI)—Pomp and ceremony over, the Pan American Games settled down today to their objective—athletic competition.

In it, the United States was heavily favored. Today, five championships were to be decided and the U.S. was expected to win four of them.

Up for gold medals were the hammer throw, high jump and 10,000 meter run in men's track and field, the women's javelin throw, and the bantamweight weight lifting championship.

Of those, only in the 10,000 meter did the U.S. figure to lose. Oswaldo Suarez of Argentina, was a top-heavy favorite over the three U.S. entries—Robert Soth of Long Beach, Calif., Alex D. Breckenridge of Buffalo, N.Y., and Russell Bennett of Hollywood, Calif. U.S.'s best bet in this event, Max Treux of Warsaw, Ind., withdrew to compete in the 5,000-meter run only.

Look For Sweep
The U.S. looked for a sweep in the hammer throw with world record holder Harold Connolly, now living in Los Angeles, Albert Hall of Southington, Conn., and Robert H. Backus of Marshfield, Mass., as its entrants.

In the high jump, world record holder Charlie Dumas of Los Angeles, Harold Williams, also of Los Angeles and Vance Robinson of Norfolk, Va., figured to be better than anyone the other 23 competing nations from North and South America had in the field.

Marjorie Larney of Woodhaven, N.J., appeared the best bet in the women's javelin with Amelia Wood of River Edge, N.J., and Margaret Schaller of Brooklyn her chief threats.

Charles Vinci Jr., of Cleveland the defending Pan American champion who also won the 1956 Olympic title, looked like a stand-out for the gold medal in bantamweight weight lifting. Each nation is permitted only one entrant in each weight lifting division.

Run Qualifying Heats
On the schedule were qualifying heats for the 400-meter hurdles, 100-meter dash and 800-meter run in men's track and field, and the 60-meter run for women.

In baseball, the U.S. faced Venezuela; in basketball, the U.S. men's team, an overwhelming favorite, faced Canada and the women's team had Brazil as its first foe. Soccer had the U.S. meeting Argentina and in men's volleyball it was the U.S. against Cuba.

These are all team round-robin sports.

Men's and women's tennis also were to start, so was fencing and the first of the series of races which will decide the yachting championships in seven classes.

Wallowa Night Shift Wallops Day Shift 13-1

WALLOWA (Special)—The Wallowa Night Shift cleaned up on the Day Shift in a Sunday game by wide margin, 13-1. Don Martin hurled a one-hitter and struck out 11 batters to get the victory.

The lone tally for the Day Shift came on Vernon Walker-made's home run.

Joseph will play the Wallowa Day Shift and then meet the Night Shift with the winners meeting for the championship.

RIDES FOUR WINNERS
CHICAGO (UPI)—Willie Shoemaker, seeking to repeat his 1958 title as champion jockey, rode four winners at Arlington Thursday. The Shoe, who has already won the honor three times and shares another with Joe Culmore, scored with Klingsor, Leap Year Maid, Official Seal and First Fair.

Colts Test New York In Pro Tilt

United Press International
The Baltimore Colts, National Football League champions who have allowed a total of three points in their first two pre-season games, open the pro circuit's six-game week-end program Friday night by entertaining the Washington Redskins.

Washington, which averaged 23.5 points in splitting its first two warm-up games, now faces a Baltimore team which shut out the College All-Stars 29-0, and drubbed the New York Giants, the league's Eastern Division champions, 28-3.

A rugged defensive unit led by such star linemen as 288-pound Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, 270-pound Art Donovan and 240-pound Gino Marchetti helped the Colts win their first Western Division and league title last year.

Baltimore's defensive backs, aided by these huskies charging into rival backfields, led the league in pass interceptions in 1958 with 35. It was the same story in Baltimore's first two exhibitions this year. The Colts intercepted 10 passes in those games and made them pay off in easy victories.

Francis, former Oregon State star, will be up against the Eagles' Norm Van Brocklin, who played his college football at Oregon.

Lack Of Gridders Hurts Tiger Drills

The lack of gridders during the first week of practice has cut into the effectiveness of the drills according to Head Coach Franz Haun. Although the small turn has caused some problems Haun and the rest of the coaching staff were quite pleased with last night's drill.

"Some things looked real good and some looked real bad," Haun said.

The sophomores looked good last night and Haun thinks that they will be more help to the squad than previously anticipated.

Otherwise the team looked sluggish according to Haun. It's the natural reaction after four days of drills Haun said. The timing was slow and the players were reacting poorly and this made things look worse than they were.

The Tigers bumped heads briefly last night and the scrimmage showed that there will have to be some changes made but Haun didn't want to talk about the changes until they were complete.

A few players have dropped from the drills and bumps and bruises have slowed down a few other but no serious injuries have occurred to hamper players.

The passing offense got praise from Haun. Ray Westenskow and Rick Gerry did a good job of throwing and Haun is again looking forward to a fine passing attack to help carry the running game.
