 a "serious matter" and that the Indian ambassador in Peiping had lodged a strong protest with the Chinese government.
 In the case of the Nefa, he said, the Chinese replied that the Indians attacked and the Chinese fired in self defense.
 He said the Chinese Communists have not yet replied to the protest about the Laddakh engagement.
 Nehru said that between October, 1957, and February, 1958, the Communists built a road that crossed the northeast corner of Laddakh. They were asked to stop.
 Last month, the Indian government finally sent a reconnaissance party to the area and on July 28 it was captured by a strong Chinese detachment inside Indian territory, he said.
 He said the Indian patrol was released Aug. 18.

 one right on the spot if his hip pocket would have been large enough. The pigs—the baby ones—won his vote.
 There was a lot of nostalgia attached to that stroll through the fair barn and other buildings last night. Some things were new but our sense of smell was true. After being away from it all for 16 years the nose sensed it first—cow barns still smell the same.

'K' Ignores Small Towns On U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's forthcoming 12-day tour of the United States is shaping up as an all-out propaganda effort on the part of the energetic Russian leader to sell his "peace and friendship" theme to the American people.
 This was the view expressed today by some of the officials engaged in working out with the Soviet Embassy the details of the Khrushchev visit. It begins in Washington Sept. 15 and takes him to six other American cities.
 They said Soviet officials have shown particular interest in scheduling Khrushchev to appear before large crowds in mass population centers where radio and television connections are good.
Ignores Small Towns
 The Soviet leader has shown no interest in visiting smaller towns to get a more representative cross-section view of America's life.
 President Eisenhower himself noted this at his latest news conference when he declared that the closest Khrushchev would come to the "thinking people" of rural America was when he makes a brief visit to Iowa State College at Ames.

Republicans Deny 'Dragging Feet' On Civil Rights Bill

By RAYMOND LAHR
 UPI Staff Writer
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican leaders in Congress are insisting that they are not dragging their feet or making deals to prevent the passage of a civil rights bill.
 GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told the Senate this week there was no truth to a newspaper report that the administration was not interested in passing a bill now because it felt it could get a better one in the 1960 election year.

 The Democrats, he reminded, are in control of Congress.
 And House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, using the White House as a forum, has denied that House Republicans would help stave off a civil rights bill this year in exchange for Southern Democratic votes on the labor reform bill.

When asked if the Republicans on the rules committee would vote to send the bill to the floor, he said he didn't know but pointed out that the committee is 8 to 4 Democratic.
Revival of the Coalition
 Regardless of a "deal," spoken or unspoken, the House vote for the administration-backed bill was the best evidence yet of revival of the coalition of Republican and Southern Democrats which once plagued Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.
 Now it plagues the liberal Democrats who up to a few months ago had thought the 1958 election had put them back in the saddle.
 There was ample evidence last winter that House GOP leaders were in no mood to crusade for a civil rights bill this year. It could be that they wanted help from Southern conservatives to keep the Democratic new dealers from running the show. In any case, they have had most of the help they needed.

Housing Bill Fate In Hands Of President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House held the key today to the fate of the billion-dollar Democratic housing bill.
 Republicans said it wouldn't surprise them if President Eisenhower vetoed it, just as he did a costlier measure eight weeks ago. Some Democrats predicted that if he did, the Democratic Congress would override his veto—for the first time since he took office.
 There was some talk about a special session of Congress this fall to deal with the problem.
 The House late Thursday approved the "second try" bill 283-185 and sent it to the White House after defeating a series of attempts to revise the measure and make it more to Eisenhower's liking.
 Democrats said they already had sealed it down to meet most of the objections Eisenhower listed in his veto of a $1,375,400,000 bill July 7 and it was time for the President to "give," as one put it.

struction years, the civil rights issue provided a good football.
 With Southern Democrats dissenting, each party declared itself against racial discrimination, but few in Congress took the commitment very seriously. Among men who had to live with each other on dozens of other issues, it was easy to lose a civil rights bill in the cumbersome machinery of Congress.
 Now the pressure has grown greater and the racial and labor groups demanding civil rights legislation seem more aware of how the congressional machinery is used.
Knowland Forced Showdown
 William F. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, forced the 1957 showdown in the Senate, where all civil rights bills had died for years, although he later had to yield management of the bill to Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson.
 In his Senate speech this week, Dirksen applauded Knowland for his "daring step" in 1957. Yet he has contented himself so far this year with applying the needle on Democrats rather than taking the lead to force a showdown.
