

ALERT DEFENSE—The alert defensive play of the San Francisco Giants is one reason they are leading the National League. In the top picture the Philadelphia Phillies' Richie Ashburn is nailed at the plate. Ashburn tried to score on Wally Post's double but a relay throw from Giant shortstop Ed Bressoud to catcher Hobie Landrith caught him at the plate. Giants won, 1-0.

Youngest Oregon Team Might Be A 'Sleeper'

EUGENE (UPI) — Few expect the University of Oregon to set the football world on fire this fall. But Coach Len Casanova, in his ninth year here, might just have a sleeper.

True, it's the youngest Oregon team since 1951. Twenty-four of the 45 varsity players are sophomores, and only 15 of the players are lettermen.

But Casanova has a swift backfield led by three speed merchants from San Diego. He's got a potential all-American center in Bob Peterson. And he has Dave Grosz back at quarterback.

Grosz, now a junior, has shown flashes of greatness. He was the regular quarterback all last season. The trouble was, Oregon lost six out of 10 games although giving up only 50 points to the 93 it scored. The Webfoots couldn't penetrate the goal line when it counted.

"Has Matured"

"Grosz has matured and I expect him to have a fine season," Casanova said. Sandy Fraser and Paul Grover, who backed up Grosz last season, are out of school so its up to the 196-pounder from Kent, Wash., to handle the bulk of the ball-handling chores.

Willie West, all-coast last season, and Dave Grayson, a speed merchant, are scheduled for regular halfback duty. They're both from San Diego as is Cleveland Jones, a five-foot-five, 150 pound half back who has been burning up the practice field. Dave Powell, a fine plunger who wrecked Oregon State last season, will hold down the regular fullback spot.

The end positions are strong. Still another San Diegoan, Alden Kimbrough, will hold down one spot with letterman Greg Allenhoren at the other. Kent Peterson, a fine soph from Long Beach, Calif., and Greg Willener of Eugene, both are ranked high.

A Great Center

Casanova calls Bob Peterson as fine a center as he coached here. The first string line also has lettermen Tom Keele and John Wilcox at tackle and Dave Urell and John Willener at guard.

The big question mark up front is whether Casanova can come up with a strong second unit from tackle to tackle. When Oregon went to the Rose Bowl in 1958 the teams' "Ugly Ducklings," or second string linemen, were among the top factors. Right now, however, the outlook is not too bright.

Oregon will be an independent this year, but is still eligible for the Rose Bowl under the agreement with the Big Ten.

The schedule:

Sept. 19 — Stanford at Pal Alto

Sept. 26 — Utah at Eugene

Oct. 3 — Washington State at Eugene

Oct. 9 — San Jose at San Jose

SUBSTITUTE BOUT SET

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Heavyweight contender Alex Mitoff of Argentina will meet Billy Hunter of Detroit in a nationally televised 10-round bout at the Syracuse Auditorium, Sept. 25. The match replaces a scheduled heavyweight fight between Charlie Powell and Mike DeJohn that was postponed because Powell is suffering from a virus.

Charlie Coe Faces Challenge For Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Tommy Aaron and Jackie Nicklaus, the babies of the U.S. Walker Cup team, and a 45-year-old outsider who gabs like Casey Stengel posed new threats to Charlie Coe and other "old guard" favorites today in the National Amateur golf championship.

The guy with the Stengels line is Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., who keeps insisting "I'm lucky as hell" as he fashions an impressive string of upset victories.

Coe, the 35-year-old defending champion who says little and lets his golf game do his talking, resumes his quest of a third amateur crown in the fifth round today against Ted Gleichmann of Salicoy, Calif.

Joe Gordon Feuds With Indian Brass

BOSTON (UPI) — Manager Joe Gordon of the Cleveland Indians headed for Kansas City today—his future in doubt following his latest verbal duel with General Manager Frank Lane.

Gordon was steaming Wednesday about what he called "second guessing" on Lane's part. Lane, in turn, thundered that he was "in charge of this ball club" and had every right to do so.

Their latest feud stemmed from what Lane termed "an obvious" bust situation in Tuesday night's Cleveland game here. Gordon had rookie Chuck Tanner hit away on the first pitch and a resulting double play killed Cleveland's best scoring opportunity in a 1-0 loss to the Red Sox.

Before Wednesday's 6-5 defeat by Boston, Gordon said Lane was talking out of turn.

"I don't think any general manager should second guess a manager publicly," he said. "If he wants to do it in private that's another story. But not in public. I've told him that before."

To which Lane exploded: "Second guessing my neck (or some such part of the anatomy), I'm supposed to be running this ball club and if I don't have the right to an opinion I don't know who does."

Two more rounds are scheduled for today on the Broadmoor course to narrow the field to four semi-finalists. In addition to Coe, Aaron and Nicklaus, the Walker Cuppers who started play in the fifth round were Harvey Ward, big Bill Hyndman and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor.

Coe again was Mr. Precision Wednesday as he finished strongly on the back nine to beat Bob Baldorff of Hershey, Pa., 3 and 1, and Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kan., 4 and 3.

But on the strength of Wednesday's performance by Aaron, Nicklaus and Draper, Coe must regard these three as threats to his crown as serious as his experienced Walker Cup colleagues, Ward, Hyndman and Taylor.

Draper, who is the Midwest representative for a resin manufacturer and holds degrees in both chemical and mechanical engineering, eliminated 1952 champion Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., in Wednesday's third round, 1 up, and followed with an even bigger upset over Walker Cupper Billy Joe Patton, 4 and 3.

The 22-year-old Aaron, who was beaten by Coe in last year's National Amateur final, turned in the clutch performance of the tournament when he rallied from a five-hole deficit after 10 to defeat Dick Spangler of Lincoln, Neb., 1 up. Aaron had beaten Neil Cronquist of Hopkins, Minn., 6 and 4, in the morning.

Nicklaus, the 19-year-old Ohio State junior, was two-under-par for each of his matches as he trounced Don Massengale of Jackboro, Tex., 6 and 5, and Orville Goens of Des Moines, Iowa, 5 and 4.
