Island City School 'Feed' Big Success

ISLAND CITY (Special)—Committee chairman Lillian Herrmann, and Ethel Blackman, with the help of the mothers and teachers of Island City school, were commended for the success of the annual chili feed at the school.

Serving began at 5:30 p.m. with approximately 240 persons served. The menu consisted of chili, hot-dogs, relishes, pie or cake and a choice of coffee, milk or cool-ade.

Lucille Crouser's table decorations were beautifully carried out in a very attractive autumn motif.

Girls Assisted
The gracious and capable way the upper grade girls helped also aided to accomplish the handling of the crowd.

After the feed, concessions of bingo, darts, and toss-ball were enjoyed, with the Mastertons, Lyons, and Ron Lovely assisting in the games. Prizes for games were donated by La Grande and Island City merchants.

Principal Ron Lovey was also in charge of posters and tickets.

Mrs. Orville Lentz donated a cake for door prize which went to the winning door, No. 234.

All teachers of Island City made plans for attending the annual regional conference at Pendleton Monday. There were no classes in the schools.

Harold Herrman was one of the fortunate hunters to return with a two-point deer on the first day. Herrman states he was hunting in the Bain Creek Reservoir district.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Judith Fugit, David Shepherd

Miss Judith Jane Fugit, daughter of Mrs. Karee J. Fugit, La Grande, became the bride of David Alan Shepherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shepherd, Scotts Mills. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wallace Hastings, Sept. 25, in the First Christian Church of La Grande.

Mrs. James Sargeant, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because," accompanied by Avery Millering, organist. Church decorations included white candles with blue candles, white gladioli and blue chrysanthemums.

The bride was given in marriage by Henry Malstrom, her uncle. She wore a ballerina length gown of white lace with three-quarter sleeves and a scooped neckline. It was accented with a white satin belt and shoes. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She wore short white gloves, and a shoulder length veil held by a cap of lace and pearls. She carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book, topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Kay Abel was the matron of honor, wearing an aqua blue sheath dress, white clip hat and heels, and also white gloves. She wore a heart shaped crystal on a chain, gift of the bride. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and blue carnations.

Bridesmaids, Miss Sally Shepherd, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Becky Mardock, wore medium blue street length, full skirted dresses, white clip hats, white shoes and crystal necklaces. Their flowers were white gladioli buds and blue carnation bouquets.

Paul McKillop, cousin of the groom, from Scotts Mills, was the best man. Ushers were Ernest Westerland, Baker, and Robert Stimmel, Baker. The best man presented the ring.

The bride's mother wore for the occasion, a navy blue two piece crepe suit, a pink clip hat and gloves, and a corsage of pink and white carnations and rose buds. The mother of the groom wore a royal blue two piece wool suit, white hat and gloves, and corsage of pink and white carnations and rose buds.

A reception was held in the church following the ceremony. Decorations used here were white gladioli, blue chrysanthemums and white candles. The four tiered cake was trimmed in pink and blue rose buds, white hearts and topped with a bride and groom.

Mrs. Blanche Sanders of Hood River, aunt of the bride cut and served the cake. Mrs. Alice Norton, Baker, aunt of the bride, poured, and Mrs. Betty Wigenton, Pendleton, cousin of the bride, assisted.

Mrs. Roberta Spencer was in charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Elaine Sergeant and Melonnie Fugit were in charge of gifts.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from Fed Fred who screamed because he'd been taken for a ride in the divorce court prompted me to write my first note to a newspaper.

You sat down and cried with the big goof, too — which annoyed me no end. Generally you're smarter than that, Ann.

You said one day you were going to lie yourself down to the state legislature and plump for equitable divorce laws. Well, when you finish in Illinois, Honey, I wish you'd come to this state. Here, you'll find it's the woman who comes out second best.

I would like to offer specific suggestions which would improve divorce laws in every state in the union. These suggestions would insure a greater degree of justice and offer added protection to men, women and children everywhere—in case of a family split. Here goes:

1. All couples should be forced to confer with a marriage counselor or clergyman before a divorce is granted. Sometimes people file in a fit of anger then foolishly go through with a divorce they don't want because they don't know what else to do.

2. A restraining order should be placed on both parties while the counseling is going on so all property remains intact. This would prevent sleight-of-hand tricks—transferring ownership, titles, raiding bank accounts and liquidating assets. Such stunts know no particular gender. Both men and women have done it.

3. All worldly goods accumulated before the couple married should not be considered community property. Assets held before the marriage should belong to the original owner. This would help to put the gold-diggers and fortune hunters out of business.

4. When children are involved, the home should go to the parent who is going to rear the children.

5. We need child support laws with teeth. The allotments should be brought up to date to keep pace with current living costs. It's impossible to feed and clothe a child today on the amount considered fair in 1949.

If you'll come to our state capital, Ann, I'll go with you. Helen.

Dear Helen: I'm printing your letter and inviting rebuttal.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife was married to a roughneck before she met me. He treated her shabbily and she almost had a nervous breakdown after living with him four years.

We've been married seven months and everything is fine—except for one thing. When she gets too many beers she calls me John — which is his name. Does this mean she's still in love with him? I'm worried.—George.

Dear George: Stop worrying. The fact that she calls you by her ex-husband's name doesn't mean she still loves him. It only means she thinks about him occasionally.

I'll bet she's so happy to be married to a nice guy like you after her first miserable experience her thoughts probably go something like this: I'm certainly lucky to have such a wonderful husband, after that rat John.

Wallowa Minister Officiates For Two Weddings

WALLOWA (Special)—The Rev. Willis Ludlow, pastor of Wallowa Methodist Church, performed the ceremony which united in marriage, Merrilyn L. Estes and Reid Johnson Friday afternoon. It took place at the Community Church in Enterprise, where Mrs. Johnson is a teacher in the schools.

On Saturday evening, Rev. Ludlow performed the wedding ceremony for Phyllis Storms of La Grande, and Jack Coleman of Wallowa. A reception at the ballroom of the Sacajawea Hotel at which about 200 were present, followed. The couple will live in Wallowa in the former McBeth residence.
