

Errol Flynn Had Three Loves - Wine, Women And Adventure

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Three loves had Errol Flynn — wine, women and adventure. The women came first. On his death trip to Vancouver, B. C., he was accompanied by his latest protegee, Beverly Aadland, 17, who appears in his last film, "Cuban Rebel Girl."

"I shall devote the rest of my life to women and litigation," he said in the grand Flynn manner at Vancouver Airport, although, at 50, he was once-dashing figure.

By litigation, he referred mainly to his estrangement from his third wife, actress Pat Wynmore. She didn't want to divorce him even though she told friends she was humiliated by his dating of Miss Aadland.

"I wish I could hate him, but I can't," she said.

Flynn charmed them all. He sailed his yacht where he wanted — and it was up to his wives to keep up with him, if they could. His first two wives were French actress Lili Damita and Nora Eddington Haymes.

Miss Wynmore, who earlier this year hadn't seen Flynn for 11 months, said:

"For eight years, I attempted to find out whether Errol wants to take root somewhere. But I still don't know."

He went through money as if it were water.

"I'm worth about four million bucks," he told an interviewer last year. "But three years ago I was stone broke and up to my ears in hock."

"I have a great talent for spending. The public expected me to be a playboy, and I didn't want to let people down."

He got his grounding from Olympian actor and stammer John Barrymore.

"Once Jack stopped by my house for an evening of drinking and stayed three weeks," said Flynn.

The madcap, Tasmanian-born actor laughed at his troubles.

Flynn was warned years ago about his bad heart — after the Army and Navy turned him down in World War II — but he refused to slow down.
