Economic Impact Made Here By EOC Explained To Lions

Let's look for a moment at Eastern Oregon College as an industrial and economic asset to Eastern Oregon, and also particularly to the community of La Grande," challenged Dr. Frank Bennett at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club here.

"The college has been in La Grande for 31 years now. There are some 778 students enrolled for the fall term of 1959, and authoritative education sources quite confidently predict an enrollment of at least 1,400 by 1970. The college has grown from primarily an elementary teaching training normal school, to a liberal arts college. The college plant represents a capital outlay of nearly $4 million dollars, with this sum being received from three sources: taxes, student fees and dormitory fees, by and large; and at this point let me remind you that several of the largest buildings on the campus are self-amortizing, in other words, no burden to the taxpayer," he explained.

Large Income

"The school's annual budget of around $740,000, plus the estimated expenditures of nearly $1,000,000

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks held to a narrowly irregular pattern with a majority of issues at or slightly above their opening levels. A note of caution prevailed as the Street looked for the Supreme Court ruling on the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley Act to come possibly today.

Steels edged lower. U.S. Steel was off a major fraction and came back somewhat after opening down more than a point. Youngstown and Bethlehem eased.

Some electronics came under pressure with Texas Instruments off more than a point after being up more than a point in earlier dealings. Litton dropped 1, while Motorola firmed.

American Motors, a market leader Wednesday, dropped more than 2. Studebaker-Packard, its when-issued, and Ford trading ex-dividend, all eased. Revlon lost more than a point.

Robbed Bank Because She Wanted Jail

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — Mrs. Irene Collier Quinn, 42, robbed a bank so she could go to jail. That's where she is today.

"I want to go to prison," Mrs. Quinn told officers when they arrested her. "I'm the one who robbed the bank."

Mrs. Quinn set out Wednesday apparently with robbery in mind and seeking detection. She wore a bright green shirt.

Police said she went into the Commercial National Bank and was seen wandering around. She left in alarm when a teller asked if he could help her, police said.

Mrs. Quinn then went across the street to the Home State Bank and approached Miss Mary Moody, a teller.

"I want some bills," Miss Moody quoted her as saying. "She said she had a gun, but I didn't see it as her arm was below the counter."

Miss Moody pressed an alarm button with her foot while doing out more than $400 in currency.

Mrs. Quinn left the bank and disappeared in the early afternoon crowd.

Police surrounded several blocks in the area. They had little difficulty finding Mrs. Quinn from the description of bank employees. She was about a block from the Home Bank and very noticeable in her green shirt.

Mrs. Quinn had $439 in her pocketbook, almost the same amount believed given her at the bank.

She was arrested, arraigned and held in lieu of $5,000 bond on charges of bank robbery.

DEBT FIGURES ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer indebtedness climbed to another record of $48,394,000,000 last month. But the September jump was smaller than the August increase. The Federal Reserve Board said Friday the new indebtedness total was 499 million dollars higher than in August on a seasonally corrected basis.

AGAINST WELFARE STATE

NEWCASTLE, Mo. (UPI) — "Welfare statism" is making the American people weak and less self-reliant. Reuben Anderson, president of the Wyoming Farm Bureau, warned Tuesday. "People who become accustomed to federal aid soon clamor for more and more," Anderson asserted.
