

Summerville Members Host District Rebekah Convention

The annual district 22 Rebekah convention was held in the IOOF hall in Summerville, Oct. 28, with Jewel Rebekah lodge as hostess.

The registration committee, Lucy Daugherty, Thelma Oliver and Merle Pugh, registered in 102 Rebekahs from the various lodges.

The meeting was opened by officers of Jewel Rebekah lodge with Mary Sanderson, noble grand in the chair, after which the meeting was turned over to the convention officers who were seated by Mt. Gem, 97. Convention officers were Veta Behrens, chairman, Elaine Hanson, vice chairman, Ruth Rollins, secretary, Mae Rasmussen, treasurer; Eleanor Starr, RS chairman; Sibel Wyland, LS chairman; Beth Counsell, LS vice chairman; Arlene Fihn, LS chairman; Mary Sanderson, warden; Illa Dial, conductor; Ruth Baker, inside guardian; Evaline Shaffer, outside guardian; Ruth Hurst, chaplain; Dorothy Stalter, musician; Nona Lane, color bearer and Lottie Goble, junior past chairman.

Members of the seating drill presented each officer with a gift. Rebekah assembly officers introduced by the marshal of Rebekah assembly, Arlene Hahn, were Ruth Vose, president, Loretta Emerson, vice president; Louise Smith, secretary, also Evaline Shaffer, officer of Patricia's Militant Auxiliary, and the following district deputy presidents, Beth Counsell, Nona Lane, Vivian Richards, Mae Rasmussen, Gladys White.

Address of welcome was given by Doris Rhoads with the response by Elaine Hanson. Veta Behrens, chairman, then appointed the following committees: Courtesy—Ina Townsend, Reta Gaertner, Ruth Coriell; Resolutions—Bernice Billebeck, Gerry Smith, Gertrude Kincaid; Memorial—Audra Behrens, Marlene Turner, Irene Kennedy; Thanks—Emma Richards, Della Posey, Gladys Fihn; and Press—Kathryn Martin, Gladys White, Belle Dewey.

Roll call of past chairman was called with 14 present. Ruth Coriell gave a fitting tribute as each was presented with a gift. Secretaries of each lodge in the district, gave a report on the activities, membership and finances of their respective lodges. A count of lodges showed 21 present from Crystal, 14 from Mt. Gem, 19 from Violet, six of Wild Rose, and 25 of Jewel.

Other lodges represented were two from Washington State, one each from Elva, Carnation, Silver Lake, Myrtle, Baker City and Haley Rebekah lodges from over the state. The following simplifications were then made: election of delegates and alternates to assemble by Mt. Gem. Visiting in another jurisdiction with card by Wild Rose, balloting by Crystal, draping the charter by Violet.

A very clever tribute was then given president, Mrs. Vose with chairman presenting her a gift.

An entertaining reading was given by Sister Fisher of Violet. The convention was invited to Elgin in '61. Election of officers for 1960 convention in La Grande was held.

Four assembly officers present, conducted an instructive workshop with each officer conducting a group.

Officers for the 1960 convention who were seated by the Rebekah Assembly officers, Louise Smith, Loretta Emerson, and Arlene Hahn, were chairman Elaine Hanson, vice chairman Gladys Fihn; secretary, Reta Gaertner; treasurer, Ethel Kennedy; RS chairman, Beth Counsell; LS chairman, Arlene Fihn; RS vice chairman, Kathryn Martin; LS vice chairman, Bessie Winters; Warden, Sibel Wyland; conductor, Margaret Stewart; inside guardian, Della Posey; outside guardian, Emma Richards; chaplain, Ruth Baker; musician, Nellie Roulet, and junior past chairman, Veta Behrens. The meeting was then closed by Jewel Rebekah lodge.

A banquet was served at 6:30 by women of the grange to 103 Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. The tables were decorated with the president's flower, the rose, carried out in all motifs including bouquets of pink and red roses and white candies adorning the tables as well as the lodge hall, was Hester Glenn, Inez Pries, Sibel Wyland, Anna Park and Ruth Rollins.

In the evening Mrs. Vose paid her official visit to Jewel Rebekah lodge 96. Following a short meeting a joint meeting was held with attendance of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Cove, Union, La Grande, Elgin, Washington State, Hillsboro, Silver Lake, and Baker. Introduced by Arlene Hahn, marshal of Rebekah Assembly, were grand master, Vernon Hahn, and Rebekah Assembly officers; president Mrs. Vose, secretary Louise Smith, vice president Loretta Emerson, and Martha Jane Colvin, inside guardian. Also introduced were the district deputy presidents, Ernest Pugh, Gladys White, Beth Counsell and Mae Rasmussen.

The group heard informative talks given by—grand master, Hahn and president, Mrs. Vose. Noble grand, Mary Sanderson, presented Mrs. Vose with a money corsage for her project for the old people's home.

A short drill was given by officers of Jewel and while they stood in formation, Bernice Billebeck presented the president with a gift from the lodge. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Local Art Guild Proposes Library

The Union County Art Guild met Wednesday evening in the Art room at the college, with viewing and criticizing the current month's painting of some of the members.

A business meeting was held at which it was proposed to form a lending library of paintings so as to encourage the appreciation of to fellow member's work.

Also there was discussion about the January Union County Art Guild exhibit at the State house, Salem, with more definite plans and a committee being set up at the next meeting in December. This exhibit will be one of the year's highlights for the local art group.

As the evening wind-up, Merrill showed a film, "Boundary Line," a much lauded film because of its artistic and unusual techniques employed, although the story was an old old one.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a young man, 19 and work in a downtown office. I'm new in this job and make just barely enough money to get by.

My problem is embarrassing and I need an angle. Several girls in the office like me. We all sit at a table for six and when they leave they all hand their checks to me. Although it's never more than 18 or 20 cents, it adds up.

Last week I averaged 75 cents a day for morning breaks and 20 cents average for afternoon breaks. In other words the week cost me $7.25.

Any suggestions you can offer in any way this badly needed $29 a month would be greatly appreciated.—J. M. Broke.

Dear U. R. Broke: The girls have been playing you for all you're worth — and so far you have been worth about $29 a month. At the next break, tell the dames you won't ask them to pay for your coffee if they won't ask you to pay for theirs. If they think you're kidding hand back the checks and say "It's Dutch from now on — I'm tapped out."

Dear Ann: I've been married 11 years to a man I believed in and trusted. We have three children. My husband's sister was my dearest friend. And I wrong to feel that she betrayed me?

I learned that this past year my husband has been dating three different single girls behind my back. His sister has been letting him bring these girls into her home and she has treated them like well-loved guests.

When I confronted her with this she said, "I'm not going to tell you whether you're right. What he does with his life is his own personal business."

I still if she were a good friend she would have told me what was going on. I've been in the whole family line but the divorce is not an excuse. My husband and I are trying to work out the best in ourselves. What I want to know is, with my sister-in-law's attitude, should I divorce her?—The Dumb One.

Dear Dumb One: Your sister-in-law was wrong to offer hospitality to her married brother and his girlfriends' copies. She put her stamp of approval on the whole stinky business and even encouraged it silently by treating him as if his behavior was acceptable. I don't agree that she should have told you, but she should not have told him that his sneaking and cheating was reprehensible.
