

Nehru Birthday Is Saddened By Chinese Border Trouble

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Staff Writer

Events continued to transpire in India this week which Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru sincerely wished he could ignore. One is his birthday, occurring Nov. 14.

The other is the continued presence of Red Chinese troops on soil claimed by India, and their obvious determination to remain there. Nehru is 70 years old this week, a fact he would like the Indian people to overlook. It is not a happy time because it finds him embroiled in a bitter dispute with Red China which involves the crumbling of his very cornerstone upon which his foreign policy has been based.

That policy since 1954 has been based on the five principles of co-existence which he and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai worked out at the same time Nehru recognized Communist rule over Tibet.

Loses Buffer Zone
The policy continued in effect until this year when the Red Chinese forcefully confirmed suspicions that they were looking beyond Tibet and into India's north-east territory, Bhutan, Sikkim and the Ladakh section of Kashmir. In the meantime, Nehru has found it necessary in notes to Peking to "regret" Chinese actions and to dispatch elements of his 500,000-man army to the border to prevent further Communist incursions. A Chinese proposal for a 25-mile buffer zone still would leave

STRIKE VOTE BILL

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A bill to require secret ballot voting by union members before all strikes will be introduced in Congress next session by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Goldwater, in making the announcement Friday, said he had not introduced the bill before because he did not think it would pass, but now believes "the temper of the steelworkers and their wives is such that it would have a good chance of passing."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department economists estimated that net farm income for 1959 would be about $11,200,000,000, down 15 per cent from 1958 and close to the lowest level recorded during the Eisenhower Administration.

For 1960, the experts predicted another decline, perhaps about half as great as the drop from 1958 to 1959. This would bring farm income for 1960 down to about $10,300,000,000, the lowest for any year since 1942.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today it had no surplus stocks of butter or nonfat dry milks and only about 13,650,000 pounds of cheese at the end of October.

These stocks are the lowest since 1952. The department said this would allow dairymen to move into the heavy production season without a big government surplus stock to depress their prices.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The total assets of American farmers rose again this year, mostly because of rising land values, the Agriculture Department said today.

At mid-year, the value of farm real estate was six per cent higher than it was one year earlier, the department said.

URGENT WORLD JUDICIARY
WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — President Charles S. Rhyne of the American Bar Association said Thursday world peace can only be achieved if law replaces brute force as a means of settling international disputes. In a speech prepared to the Delaware Bar Association, Rhyne urged all attorneys to work toward achievement of a workable world judiciary.

ACQUIRE FREIGHT LINE
CHICAGO (UPI) — Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. has acquired Atlantic Freight Lines for $750,000 in cash subject to Interstate Commerce Commission approval. Atlantic Freight had gross revenues of $3-million dollars in the year ended Oct. 30.

Net Farm Income May Drop To Lowest Level Since 1942

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department predicted today that net farm income might drop next year to the lowest point since 1942.

The forecast by department economists could mean double trouble for the Eisenhower Administration and Republican candidates.

Another year of sagging farm income could do serious damage to GOP prospects in the Midwest and Great Plains where farm income often is an important political issue. Reduced farm income since 1953 has helped produce Democrat gains in those areas.

The second effect of falling prices lies in the field of farm legislation. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson plans to ask Congress to cut price supports for major crops including wheat, tobacco, and peanuts. With farm income falling, congressional resistance to Benson's program might stiffen.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today it had no surplus stocks of butter or nonfat dry milks and only about 13,650,000 pounds of cheese at the end of October.

These stocks are the lowest since 1952. The department said this would allow dairymen to move into the heavy production season without a big government surplus stock to depress their prices.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The total assets of American farmers rose again this year, mostly because of rising land values, the Agriculture Department said today.

At mid-year, the value of farm real estate was six per cent higher than it was one year earlier, the department said.
