Brown is the man Kennedy will have to buck to get the California support. Mrs. Lytton, the hostess, sits between the two. ### Diplomatic Immunity For Youth

WASHINGTON (UPI)— An automobile driven by the son of Ireland's ambassador struck and killed a pedestrian Wednesday night but the youth invoked his diplomatic immunity and police set him free.

David Hearne, 21, who was arrested last month for socking a policeman, first was booked on a homicide charge following the accident and then released to Ambassador John Joseph Hearne.

Young Hearne has been in repeated jams with police. But on each occasion he has escaped punishment by invoking his diplomatic immunity.

A police lieutenant in the accident investigation unit said all charges originally lodged against young Hearne were "red lined," or wiped off the books, when he invoked his diplomatic immunity.

The ambassador, who came to the police station to pick up David, assured District of Columbia Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald that his son would appear at an inquest Friday although he is not legally required to show up.

Police said the car driven by young Hearne struck Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, a 54-year-old Negro, about 8 p.m. e.s.t. as she was crossing an intersection in the northern part of the city.

Police Sgt. Earl M. Rinick said Hearne told him that while he was making certain that he missed another pedestrian who passed in front of his car, Mrs. Hamlin suddenly appeared a few yards beyond and was struck.

Rinick said the victim was struck by the right front fender of the car and knocked 41 feet. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Providence Hospital.

After Hearne's fight last month with a policeman outside of local night spot, a precinct clerk said the youth had been "quite a frequent visitor" to the station during the past three or four years.

"He is really insulted if we call him a foreigner," the clerk said. "He claims he's as American as anybody until he's threatened with a lock-up. Then he's no longer American but an Irishman entitled to diplomatic immunity."

Young Hearne has been in the United States since his boyhood. He previously attended Georgetown Prep School and Georgetown University. His father, a career diplomat, was named Irish ambassador to the United States in 1950.

Portland Papers Set 2 Editions

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Portland's two large daily newspapers planned on at least two editions of their joint enterprise today in the face of a Stereotypers Union strike that "doesn't look too good," according to federal mediator Elmer Williams.

The morning Oregonian and the afternoon Journal were struck early Tuesday after negotiations on working conditions fell through.

Williams said he had scheduled separate meetings with union and management representatives today to find out "if there is any common ground in which we can get started again."

The papers published two editions of the joint Oregonian-Journal Wednesday, sending about 100,000 copies to morning subscribers of the Oregonian and an equal number to afternoon subscribers of the Journal.

A management spokesman said the circulation area would gradually be widened as the new paper approaches full production. Both newspapers serve the entire state of Oregon and two counties of Southwest Washington. Their combined circulation normally runs over 400,000.

Members of other unions observed picket lines set up by the stereotypers. Editorial and supervisory workers covered beats and worked on desks.

The paper was expected to continue carrying double mastheads and a divided editorial page along with comics of both papers. Advertising prices were doubled to fit the emergency and the joint operation.

Each edition published Wednesday contained 24 pages. The afternoon edition carried the logotype "Oregon Journal The Oregonian." The edition published at night carried the logotype "The Oregonian Oregon Journal."

About 600 employees of the two newspapers were absent from their jobs.

Working conditions, not wages, were the major issues in the Stereotypers strike.

Christmas Seals Being Mailed To Every Home

Christmas Seals will be in the mail throughout Union County Monday, according to Mrs. Evelyn Borine, local chairman.

Mrs. Borine urged all those having received the seals from the Union County TB Association to mail in their contributions early and to use the seal on their mail.

Pictorial theme of the seal campaign is "The Blessedness of Giving." On one seal is a little girl in a red snowsuit and green mittens scattering crumbs for birds. On the other is a small girl in a green jacket and red hat holding out nuts to a squirrel.

Funds contributed for Christmas Seals are used to find those persons who don't know they are ill with tuberculosis, to protect others from infection, to help TB sufferers recover and to aid research on this dreaded disease.
