Not a few Wall Street experts believe the market will continue to be selective during the waiting period in steel. "If confidence is to be restored," says L. O. Hooper, analyst for W. E. ### Old British Lion Churchill Shows Rapid Recovery

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill, only 12 days short of his 85th birthday, is expected to be up and about today from a "slight illness" and may even resume his seat in the House of Parliament today.

"He had a little bit of chest trouble," the elder statesman's secretary said Tuesday night. "His personal doctor visited earlier in the evening. He had dinner in bed, and should be up and about in the morning."

Household sources described the visit of the doctor, Lord Moran, as routine. They said Churchill was expected to be at the House of Commons this afternoon.

Churchill, who will be 85 Nov. 30, had a serious attack of pneumonia and pleurisy in the late winter of 1958 while vacationing on the French Riviera. He fully recovered, but fears for his life were expressed at the time.
