Side Glances

"Miss Truitt is a good seamstress, but can't she talk about something besides the pitfalls of marriage?"

Ex-Private Fond Of Service Until Army Guardhouse Duty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pvt. Lemuel King liked the Army even if it didn't like him. But he has changed his mind. King was so fond of the service life that he managed to sneak back in with a higher rank and a plush job after the Army booted him out. When his masquerade was uncovered and he was slapped with a court martial, however, King lost no time in declaring himself a civilian. And his legal end run worked.

The Military Court of Appeals made public the tangled details of the story Friday in upholding the 38-year-old Californian's contention that he could not be court-martialed because he was not a real soldier when he committed an offense.

After he had served 14 years in the Army, King, of Seaside, Calif., was discharged for misconduct in 1958.

Las Vegas Hotel Drops Hunk Of Cash To Baccarat Players

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — A Las Vegas hotel opened the first legal card game of baccarat in the United States Sunday and today it is just about $200,000 poorer.

Sixteen players beat the Sands Hotel out of $251,000 in the first five hours the fast-moving game opened.

Betting on each hand by each of 12 players ranged from a minimum of $20 up to $1,500.

Players lined up 10 to 15-deep all day to get a chance at the blackjack-like game, and the house slowly whittled its losses down to about $200,000 by the end of the first 24 hours.

Reminiscence Of Past

The loss was reminiscent of the day the desert resort hotel opened in December, 1952. The house lost $215,000 the first night.

But a Sands spokesman said: "We're not too worried. We think things will average out by the end of the year."

Biggest winner in the game was an unidentified Texan who pocketed $172,000. A woman who gave her name as Marie Graguaud of Paris also was among the big winners.

A hotel spokesman said word of the winning streak by players spread up and down the street and drew natives and tourists alike into the hotel to get a crack at the new game.

There were an estimated 70 gamblers still waiting to get a shot at the game at midnight.

Singer Frank Sinatra, part owner of the hotel, was credited with getting the game brought here after having seen it played in France.

The game—which was originated in Greece—is played by 12 players, a house dealer and a house banker with six to eight decks of cards. The dealer inserts the cards into a mechanical contrivance and each player pulls out his own cards seeking a winning total of eight or nine.
