

Huskies Take Bowl Bid In Stride

SEATTLE (UPI) — Washington's Huskies, a bust to date in the Rose Bowl, started a short vacation today from football before they launch practice for their New Year's Day date there against Wisconsin.

This football-wise old city was not unduly excited over Monday's announcement that the 1960 Pacific coast selection committee had voted unanimously to send the Huskies to Pasadena.

The invitation seemed in the bag by sundown last Saturday after Washington had clipped Washington State, 20-0, and racked up its best record in recent times. Washington finished with a mark of 9-1, the lone loss being a 22-15 setback to Southern California. The latter squad is ineligible for the Rose Bowl because of NCAA violations.

Coach Jim Owens didn't seem overly worried about the fact his squad must face a hot Wisconsin squad led by quarterback Dale Hackbart.

One Game At A Time
"The Big 10 always produces standout teams and I know we will have our hands full," he said. "However, we've played them one game at a time all year and I see no reason to change now."

Washington's record to date in Rose Bowl games consists of one tie and three defeats. The stalemate was a 14-14 battle with Navy in 1924. Then came a 20-0 loss to Alabama in 1926, a 21-0 pasting by Pittsburgh in 1937 and a wartime trouncing of 29-0 by Southern California in 1944.

Owens said he would give his players a week to 10 days off and then begin light drills. He credited fine scouting as a key factor in the team's success.

Scouting Helped
"Of course the players did the winning for us," Owens said. "But don't overlook the scouting. The coaching staff set the stage for the best possible offense and defense results in every game we played."

"Good scouting is more valuable than most football followers realize," Owens continued. "Given equal teams, those reports can easily mean the difference between victory and defeat."

The school announced that a block of 40,000 tickets will go on sale on a priority basis. The first crack at them will go to students and faculty members at a campus sale. The date will be announced later.

Who's going to win—Wisconsin or Washington?
Down at Stanford, coach Jack Currier said it would be a tossup. His Indians lost to Wisconsin 16-14 at Madison and were blanked by Washington 10-0, in Seattle.

CRITICIZE PLASTIC HELMETS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Redskins owner George Preston Marshall and Coach Mike Nixon may ask National Football League officials to ban the use of plastic helmets.

According to the Washington team physician, Nixon said many facial cuts have been due to the helmets. While Nixon said the helmets would be acceptable if covered by some kind of sponge rubber, Marshall hinted it may be necessary to return to leather helmets.

TIGERS SIGN SCOUTS
DETROIT (UPI) — Mike Guerra, manager of Havana of the Cuban Winter League, and Babel Perez, general manager of Mayaguez of the Puerto Rican League, have been signed as full time scouts by the Detroit Tigers.

Roger 'The Terrible' Touhy Leaves Prison For Freedom

JOLIET, Ill. (UPI) — Roger 'The Terrible' Touhy, prohibition-era prince of Chicago's underworld, walks to freedom today.

Touhy will leave Stateville Penitentiary after 25 years behind bars for a crime he says never happened.

Touhy, now a stooped and graying 61, won his parole Nov. 13 after a decade of legal battles. His program for release was approved Monday and T. Edward Austin, superintendent of the Illinois Division of Parole Supervision, said he could go free today.

Touhy went to prison in 1934 for the kidnaping of John (Jake The Barber) Factor, who now lives in Los Angeles.

Throughout his trial and long years of imprisonment, Touhy maintained his innocence, claiming he was framed by police, prosecutors and Al Capone, then Chicago gang lord and Touhy's reputed arch-rival.

The tough little ex-hoodlum led a daring escape from Stateville in 1942, but was recaptured two months later. An extra 199 years was tacked on to his original 99-year sentence for his part in the breakout.

The State Parole and Pardon Board okayed Touhy's parole after approving his plans to live temporarily with his sister, Mrs. Francis Greulich, who is in charge of the establishment of an American Field Service foreign student exchange being carried on locally, and asked for the aid of the Lions, along with other service clubs of the community, to make possible such a local activity.

Gene Hyde, Bob McMillan, Jesse Rosenbaum and Harvey Carter will form the committee to take action on the request.

Dr. Richard Gingrich and Kelly Moore were named co-chairmen of the committee to sponsor one of the Salvation Army kettles on Adams Avenue, Dec. 19.

Club guests were Bennett Stecher, Pendleton; Glen Kooz, Rockford, Wash., and Capt. Walter S. Falk, Baker. Averitt Hickox was program chairman.

Church Fellowship Meeting In Union
UNION (Special) — The Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Field of the First Baptist Church entertained the Minister's Fellowship recently. Present were the Rev. and Mrs. Lester Johnson, Summerville; the Rev. and Mrs. Muri Gassaway, Cobles; the Rev. and Mrs. Arlo Robbins, Haines; the Rev. and Mrs. Don Gillum, Milton-Freewater, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bogaard, La Grande.

A pot-luck dinner was followed by a time of fellowship. The Florence Hunter Missionary Circle of the Union Baptist church met at the home of Bertie Elliott with 10 ladies present. White Cross work preceded the business meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. R. MacDonald were in Portland last week visiting Mrs. Marion Warren, a former Union resident, who has been in the hospital there for several months. The MacDonalds also visited friends in North Powder.

JoAnn George spent the weekend in La Grande with relatives. The fire department was called out to the Grande Ronde Lumber Co., as a truck was on fire.

The WMC missionary group met recently in the church basement. They packed boxes for missionary families in Arizona.

Minister And Family Shake Off Wilderness

BEND (UPI) — A young minister today thanked "God's help" for bringing himself, his wife and their infant son through three days of being trapped on the snowbound eastern slopes of the Cascades.

The Rev. Laurence Loftus; his wife, Ruth, and their two-year-old son, James, drove into this central Oregon city Monday. They had been the object of a wide-spread search since Sunday when they were reported missing at Sweet Home, located on the western side of the mountains.

Loftus and his family left Friday in his small foreign car to go on a picnic. They became stuck in the snow after driving up a small road. Once, he said, they were frightened back to their car by a wolf.

Their disappearance was not noted until Sunday, when a member of the minister's congregation discovered the small church was not heated as usual.

They spent all three nights in the car, keeping warm by occasionally starting the motor and turning on the heater. They had no food after their picnic lunch was gone.

They had planned to hike out Saturday but were frightened back to the vehicle by what they thought was a wolf following them.

Rain fell Sunday and he managed to turn the car around. Finally on Monday they were able to drive here to the home of a fellow minister.

A doctor checked the family and pronounced them well.

Flame In Candlestick Park Wanes; Won't Die

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sitting on a thumb of land jutting out into San Francisco Bay, a huge concrete doughnut is slowly shaping up today as the new home of the baseball Giants.

These are conflicting theories as to the merits of this baseball-only stadium which will build up costing somewhere between 15 and 21 million dollars. The estimates depend on whether you talk to the "fors" or the "against."

There are a number of drawbacks as well as certain advantages.

The stadium, to be known as Candlestick Park, is only 11 miles from downtown San Francisco and it has more than adequate parking space. Also, for the playing of baseball it is laid out beautifully.

New Sewage Terminal
However, and in this case that becomes a huge word, there are too few streets leading in and out of this playground peninsula. In addition, there is the fact that not too far away is the point of destination of the city's vast sewage system. Even on crisp, cool days, there is a far from pleasing aroma noticeable and even the hottest of the "fors" admits that on a blazing summer day the odor should be even worse than a game against the Phillies.

There is some resentment in San Francisco because the city did not even consult with football interests, such as the professional San Francisco 49ers who now play in Kezar Stadium, and come up with an all-purpose stadium. If they had, the stadium could have been put to use almost on a year-round basis instead of being constructed solely for 77 home baseball games.

Two Candlestick Theories
There are two theories as to how this was named Candlestick. One is that in this section there once was a campaign among the residents to put candlesticks in their windows as a guide to ship's and boats out in the off-fog shrouded bay.

Whatever the reason, it will be known as Candlestick Park and, some opening day next spring, 41,000 fans will jam their way into the big doughnut to cheer on the Giant team which San Francisco has taken to its heart. And, if the Giants win, there probably won't even be too much cussing about the aroma from over the hill or the traffic jam going home.

New Pro Grid Loop Drafts Oregon, OSC Performers

By United Press International

The new American Football League today drafted 80 college seniors including two from Oregon and one from Oregon State.

Tackle John Wilcox and end Alden Kimbrough of Oregon were drafted along with tackle Ed Kaobelauli of Oregon State. Wilcox was picked by Minneapolis-St. Paul and Kimbrough and Kaobelauli by New York.

End Gail Cogdill of Washington State was picked by Dallas and back Don Eilersick of Washington State by New York.

Two Webfoots Share Award For Grid Duty

EUGENE (UPI) — Tackle Tom Keele and halfback Willie West Monday night were named as co-winners of the 1959 Hoffman award, given annually to the most valuable player on the Oregon football team.

Keele is the first tackle to be a winner of the award since it started in 1939. It was the first time there had been a tie for the award.

State was picked by Dallas and back Don Eilersick of Washington State by New York.

League spokesmen spent much of their time Sunday denying reports that backers of the newly-formed AFL's Minneapolis - St. Paul franchise were pulling out.

Charles Johnson, executive sports editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, said a local group which had accepted an AFL franchise was withdrawing to accept a franchise for 1960 in the National Football League.

The report was denied by Lamar Hunt, holder of the American League's Dallas franchise and principal organizer of the AFL.

The league picked eight players as initial draft choices at a meeting Sunday night attended by representatives of the eight cities holding franchises — Boston, Buffalo, Dallas, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, New York, and Minneapolis.

Minneapolis selected Dale Hackbart, Wisconsin quarterback, as a draft choice.

The league Sunday decided to abandon its projected "territorial" draft for the time being. Hunt said the league hopes to begin the territorial draft in time for the 1961 campaign.

Other selections made Sunday night were:

Boston — Gerhardt Schwedes, Syracuse halfback.

Buffalo — Richie Lucas, Penn State quarterback.

Dallas — Don Meredith, Southern Methodist quarterback.

Denver — Rodger Le Clerc, Trinity College center.

Houston — Billy Cannon, Louisiana State University halfback.

Los Angeles — Monte Stickles, Notre Dame end.

New York — George Izo, Notre Dame halfback.
