

No Need To Thaw Out Frozen Beef; Meats Retain Flavor

Farm News Roundup
WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Agriculture Department report on research has reported that it is not necessary to thaw frozen beef to enjoy good flavor.

The research workers, who tested frozen beef cooked with and without thawing, reported there is little difference in tenderness, juiciness and flavor.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal meat inspection reports disclosed that meat imports in October were up substantially from the same month of a year ago.

The reports show that imports of fresh beef and veal in October amounted to more than 30 million pounds. This compares to October, 1958, imports of less than 25 million pounds.

Imports of lamb and mutton were over 3,200,000 pounds, up one-third from the same month in 1958.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Farm Credit Administration official H. A. Miles told agriculture leaders that the cost-price squeeze is forcing more and more economically depressed farmers to one of three alternatives.

In an address before the annual meeting of the Consumers Cooperative Association Wednesday Miles listed these as:

—First choice, increase efficiency.
—Second choice, increase income by getting off-the-farm jobs while farming in spare time.
—Third choice, give up farming altogether and get a full-time job in town.

Miles said Gross income for farmers this year is up 4% billion dollars from 1958, but rising costs have forced net income down nearly 2 billion dollars in the same period.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department reported another example of greater sales for farm products brought about through promotion campaigns.

A department marketing research team reported Wednesday on the results of an experimental promotion campaign for sour cream in Des Moines, Iowa.

The report said the promotion drive in 1957 and 1958 increased sales by 71 per cent. It said there was no decline in sales of other dairy products with high milkfat contents during the promotion campaign.

Gale had operated a collection agency in Sydney, Australia, and skipped with the funds belonging to large business firms.

Researchers Claim 1959 Session Of Congress Was 'Spenderbund'

By LYLE C. WILSON
UPI Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York comes up now with a chilling reminder that the 86th session of Congress was a spenderbund and not the economy operation it was advertised to be.

More responsible for this than any others are the taxpayers themselves. The taxpayers also are voters. This automatically gives them powers of awesome finality over the careers of congressional statesmen. These congressional statesmen are the very ones who pass the legislation for which the taxpayers—or their grandchildren—must pick up the tab.

Taxpayers should know that the foundation offers simple evidence that the story of economy in the 86th session of the 86th Congress was mostly malarkey. This is true despite the unchallenged fact that President Eisenhower bucked the spenders with vetoes and threats of vetoes and with considerable success.

Core Of Complaint
Core of the foundation's complaint is this:
"An important omission in most analyses of congressional budgetary (spending) action in the session just ended is their failure to reveal the very significant impact some actions will have on future federal spending."

"For example, Budget Director Maurice H. Stans and others have pointed out recently that there is enough built-in momentum in the commitments under present laws and programs to raise total expenditures in 1961 by $2 or $3 billion dollars."

Stans has estimated that congressional actions in the past session would increase federal spending after 1960 by almost $11.5 billion. He estimated that about $10 billion of this predicted increase would derive over a 40-year period from the expanded veterans' pension program and by 1959 authorization of additional housing units. Eisenhower opposed both of these projects.

Waiting In The Wings
In the wings awaiting the next session of Congress are projects which would build in more spending over the years. These, too, will pass unless the taxpayers get tough. The wonder is that they do not get tough because Washington's spenderama over the years has speeded toward disaster an inflationary cycle which could be fatal to the U.S. dollar. The familiar buck will buy today less than half of what it would buy 20 years ago.

Twenty years more of the same and that buck in your pocket or in the bank will be worth a quarter, two-bits, and after that, who knows? If such as that fails to put the taxpayer on his toes, what would? That is a fair question. For a fair answer, how about this:

Shift Tax Day?
Let us petition our congressional statesmen to shift the annual income tax day from the spring to the late fall. Shift income tax day, in fact, to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November each year.

Make income tax day coincide with election day. Set a bear trap for the Washington statesmen who are so free and easy with other people's money. Let the taxpayer divide his thoughts at campaign time between a choice among the candidates and anguished contemplation of the income tax bite put upon him every year.

Just an idea, you understand, to kill off the spenders.

Grading Of Lamb Cuts Has Ended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Note to housewives:
Next month, when shopping for lamb at the supermarket, don't bother to look for that little purple stamp on the meat showing whether it's "prime," "choice" or "good" quality.

It won't be there.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson issued an order Wednesday which will end federal lamb grading on Jan. 4.

The action brought immediate sharp protests from one of the nation's major farm groups—the American Farm Bureau Federation—and is expected to draw heavy fire from Congress as well as consumer groups.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the Farm Bureau, called Benson's action "hasty" and "against the best interests of farmers."

The National Grange already is on record against the move.

Under Benson's order, there will be no uniform national grades for lamb after Jan. 4. There will be only private grades and brands to guide the housewife.

Many small meat packers claim this means they will be "squeezed out" by the big packers who can afford to promote their own products in national advertising.

Benson said he took the action because the Agriculture Department has been unable to come up with a set of new grading standards acceptable to the entire industry.

He said he was hopeful industry groups could settle their differences during the year's suspension and propose a plan which would meet approval to resume the grading service.

Accept Petition To Vacate Alley

A petition to vacate the alley in block two of Conner's Addition has been accepted by the city commission, and a resolution to initiate vacature proceedings has been endorsed.

The commission also named resolution 1755 directing the city manager to execute a renewal lease with Harvey Carter. The lease is for three years and covers approximately five acres adjacent to the sewage disposal plant.

The third and final readings of ordinances adopting the engineer's report on four water and three sewer improvement districts was also noted by the commission, and all seven measures were passed.

Youngstown Sheet and U.S. Steel lost fractions. Republic was up around a half and Bethlehem was unchanged.

McIntyre Porcupine jumped more than 3 following news of a proposed 3-for-1 split. Minnesota Mining added 3. Emerson Radio picked up more than 2 on sharply higher earnings.

Hepatitis Still Rising In State

PORTLAND (UPI)—The State Board of Health said today that cases of infectious hepatitis are still rising. Twenty one more cases were reported in the state last week.

The 1959 hepatitis total already is the fourth worst in the history of Oregon, the Board said. Dr. Harold Erickson, state health officer, said this year's outbreak has claimed nine lives. The Oregon record is 12 deaths, set last year.

KILL VANDALISM BILL

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Board of Estimate Thursday killed a City Council bill to make parents responsible for vandalism damage by their children up to $25.

"There is a grave question as to whether this law could be enforced," Mayor Robert F. Wagner said. "I feel it could be used as a bludgeon against parents by unruly children."

Most Of U.S. Fair

United Press International
Early-December weather shone fair and warm over most of the nation today, apparently in repentance for one of the nastiest Novembers on record.

But Florida, hard-hit by an earlier cold wave, shivered under another icy blast which blustered through the state Thursday, dropping temperatures to below 30 degrees in the north and near 35 in the south.

Elsewhere, temperatures rose 10 to 20 degrees Thursday night from Texas in a fan embracing Colorado and Western Illinois.

Montana, where last month's storms struck with full fury, reported a 20-degree rise in the mercury and Council Bluffs, Iowa, recorded a new Dec. 3 record of 64.

West Coast Will Vacate Premises

A letter from E. B. Code, a vice president of West Coast Airlines, was read into the city commission's minutes Wednesday. The letter advised the commission that the airlines will vacate the premises at the airport in accordance with their lease.

An easement agreement covering an existing electric power line was also read into the minutes of the meeting. The letter was from D. J. Callahan, manager of properties, Union Pacific Railroad, Portland.

Carl G. Helm Jr., city attorney, said he had no objection to the lease providing some limitation was placed on the easement. The matter was referred to Helm by the commission and he will present a revised agreement at next week's meeting.

Since our introduction of STP—which is the motor oil additive—in this area, there have been many other similar products introduced, some of which have made unwarranted claims of results. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR STP!

What Will "STP" Do For You?

"STP", Scientifically Treated Petroleum, A GERMAN DEVELOPMENT, is 100% petroleum and will blend with all petroleum base oils. DO NOT BE ALARMED at using "STP" because of its thick nature. "STP", a pure petroleum product, is the result of a catalytic action which changes the molecular structure of the original product. It is a concentrate and is meant to be used with other oil.

"STP" is to be used with any lube oil in any engine; for cars, trucks, tractors, diesels, aircraft, marine motors, lawn mowers, large or small engines, two or four cycle, vehicular or stationary, burning any type fuel, gasoline, diesel, L-P gas or natural gas.

"STP" was initially developed as a super lubricant, has a very high film strength and can withstand great pressures and high heat and thus prevent metal to metal contact of surfaces under friction.

"STP" has thousands of uses, can be used wherever oil is used, with the assurance that friction will be reduced and that constant lubrication will be maintained under all conditions.

WE CAN SHOW YOU LABORATORY TESTS

"STP" has been proven by laboratory tests, to raise the viscosity of oils at high operating temperatures where other oils thin out and only under the most severe conditions of low temperature, is it necessary to drop to a lower weight oil. This of course is a procedure that would be followed even where "STP" is not used. This impartial laboratory report by the engineering department of a recognized university, is available on request.

FOR NEW MOTORS

- "STP" maintains a better ring seal on high compression engines at all operating temperatures.
- "STP" reduces carbon formation, keeps spark plugs clean and maintains original compression ratio to prevent ping and knock.
- "STP" keeps a constant lubricating film on hydraulic valve lifters and reduces wear.

FOR OLD MOTORS

- "STP" will restore original performance, reduce excessive oil use and provide easier starting by giving a better ring seal and therefore higher compression and higher oil pressure.
- "STP" reduces existing carbon formation, stops blow by and improves operating economy.
- "STP" makes old motors run smoother and quieter.

Ask Your Garage or Service Station For "STP" IF THEY DON'T HAVE IT, SEE US!
