

Cougars Conquer Gonzaga; Santa Clara Trims Hawaii

United Press International
The basketball star is not always the player who does the most scoring. His contribution to the team is the real test.

Santa Clara has a great one in Frank Sobrero, 6-foot-3 inch forward and son of a famed athlete. Monday night, when Hawaii thrust up a tight zone defense aimed at holding down young Sobrero, he responded with a dazzling passing and rebounding performance which set up at least 14 field goals by teammates.

He was held to 10 points, his low output of the year. But the Broncos breezed to a 70-47 win in notching their fourth win in five starts. Guard Jim Russi took over the scoring burden with 23 points. The teams clash in a rematch tonight.

At Pullman, Wash., the evening's most hectic battle found Washington State conquering Gonzaga, 69-57. Gonzaga's one-man gang, Frank Bures, meshed 29 points, but they weren't enough. The Cougars' John Maras tallied 20.

Off-battered Pepperdine finally managed to come up on the win side during its Eastern swing with a 61-57 thumping of Regis. Dick Buckley and Sterling Forbes had 16 and 15 for the Waves.

Little giant Chapman knocked over Sacramento State, 79-59. Guard Ned Eckert fired 19 points for the winners, who had a 23-4 record last year and appear headed for another banner year.

Cal Poly's touring quintet didn't need more than 12 points from any one player to down Buffalo Teachers, 74-62. The squads meet again tonight. Cal Poly of Pomona downed Humboldt State, 68-59 in the first of a two-game set.

Judge Ends Bevo Suit Against ML

PORTLAND (UPI)—A federal judge Monday dismissed a $1,500,000 suit filed by the Portland baseball team of the Pacific Coast League against the major leagues.

The suit, filed last July 30, charged a big league "monopoly" on players and sought to break up invasion of minor league territory by television.

Attorney Don Walker of the Portland team said the decision would be appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco and to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Judge Gus Solomon cited a 1953 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court which upheld a 1922 decision that baseball was not subject to anti-trust laws.

When the suit was filed, Arch Kingsley, president of the Portland team, said the future of minor league baseball was at stake.

The Portland team claimed minor league clubs should be permitted to control television in their own territory.

The suit had named as defendants both major leagues, commissioner Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National leagues and the teams.

Redskin Star May Quit Grid For Law Job

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UPI)—Quarterback Eddie LeBaron said today it will take at least a month before he decides whether to return to the Washington Redskins or begin law practice in 1960.

LeBaron's name turned up Monday on a list of 641 applicants who passed the 1959 California fall bar exams. LeBaron will be sworn in at Los Angeles, Jan. 6, or at San Francisco, Jan. 12.

"I'd like to think it over," said LeBaron when asked if he will return to the Redskins. "In many ways I'd like to play again next year. But there are arguments on the other side, too, and I just need time to think things out."

OUTDOORS: AROUND-ABOUT HUNTERS WANTED TO AID IN EMERGENCY BIG GAME KILLS

Oregon hunters who would like to participate in emergency big game hunts this winter to assist in alleviating game damage are advised they have until January 15 to file applications. Interested persons are urged by the game commission to apply immediately by post card for eligibility on the county rosters.

Information on the cards should include the applicant's name, address, telephone number, and the county applied for. Applicants are cautioned to apply for only one county since duplicate applications will be discarded.

Authority for emergency big game hunts was authorized by the legislature to control crop damage. Since the need for an emergency hunt cannot be predicted it is necessary to establish rosters of eligible hunters in advance. Residents 17 years of age or older may apply by mailing a post card to the game commission, 1634 S. W. Alder in Portland.

Hunters are advised that if an emergency season is authorized they will be called to participate on short notice. A hunting license is not required at the time of filing application but is necessary before participating in a hunt.

Hunter Report Cards Due
With the deer and elk seasons over for the year big game hunters are reminded that it's time to get their report cards in the mail. These report cards received with the purchase of big game tags should be filled out and mailed to the game commission within 30 days following the close of the seasons.

Hunters are requested to send the cards in whether they were successful in bagging an animal or not. In other words, report cards showing unsuccessful hunters are just as important for a statistical analysis of the deer and elk harvests as are the cards showing those who had good fortune.

Hunter report cards are used by the game commission to prorate the big game kill by county and unit and the percentage of hunters in each county and unit. Total state-wide kill is determined through a random survey of hunters. Survey questionnaires will be sent to hunters shortly after the first of the year.

All big game hunters are required by law to return their report cards to the game commission. Persons who fail to return their cards may be denied a deer or elk tag for the next season.

Commission Bans Net
The Oregon Fish Commission voted to prohibit the use of monofilament gillnet mesh in Oregon at its monthly meeting in Portland Tuesday. This action will tie in with Washington's present ban on the nets.

Monofilament has been used for sportfishing lines for several years but only recently has it been woven into gillnets. It is more effective than conventional linen or nylon nets because it is practically invisible in water and permits effective use in daylight hours.

Oregon and Washington biologists stated that use of these nets possibly could increase catches and necessitate other restrictions on the already severely restricted Columbia River gillnet fishery.

New fish holding ponds will be constructed to facilitate handling of returning adult salmon during spawn-taking activities. Construction bids on the new ponds will be requested soon.

Old Sugar Ray Returns To Ring—Wins

BOSTON (UPI)—The moral: Don't shake up the Sugar Man. Bob Young found that out Monday night as he served as Sugar Ray Robinson's target in the five-time middleweight champion's return to the ring battles after a 21-month layoff.

Robinson, only a few months less than 49, was tuning up for a so-called title bout Jan. 22 with Paul Pender of Brookline.

"I just goofed," said Young, who hails from Providence, R.I. Robinson, who weighed 161 to Young's 157 1/2, said he was "right when he first climbed into the ring. 'But I loosened right up as soon as I saw the crowd (6,633 paid).'"

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Henry (Hank) Foiles, peppery catcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates whose efficiency was hampered by a leg injury last season, has been sold to the Kansas City Athletics. It was announced today.

The Pirates did not disclose the sum involved in the deal. Foiles, who appeared in 53 games in the 1959 season, hit .225, got 18 hits and four RBI's.
