Walt Anderson, pictured, and Eric Jorgensen are helping coach the women's team this upcoming season.

WOMEN

forward. "It'll make the team stronger next year to have everyone back," she said. Eastern begins action

Saturday in Great Falls, Montana, against Providence, and then hosts Big Bend Nov. 3 — one of just three home dates this season.

The WCWA national tournament, which each athlete qualifies for, is Feb. 8 and 9 in Atlanta, Georgia.

MEN

Continued from Page 8A "I think we're a little inexperienced, but we're tough as nails," he said. "We work our butts off. I think if we continue to work hard we'll gain that experience. Those new kids are going to be in the lineup this year. I think our program is headed in the right direction."

One of the newcomers who has stood out to Azure is freshman Keegan Mulhill.

"He was always just one or two places short of winning that state championship in high school, but that is really just driving him," Azure said. "I think we're going to see him coming out of his shell this year."

Eastern will get a good early-season gauge of where it stands as it opens action tonight in Montana against MSU-Northern and Saturday against Providence, who were ranked third and fourth, respectively, in the preseason NAIA coaches poll, which came out Wednesday. The Mountaineers were just two spots outside of the top 20.

"They're both top 10 in the country, but I think if we can push the pace and keep our matches close, we can push those guys," McNall said. EOU has just four home dates this season, with its opener Nov. 3 against Big Bend Community College and rival Southern Oregon coming to town Nov. 16.
