AWARDS

Hanson doubled up, earning second-team notice on the offensive line at guard, and Wyatt Hallgarth was selected as a second-team running back.

Gage McKay was an honorable mention running back, and Kyu Wintersteen was an honorable mention punter.

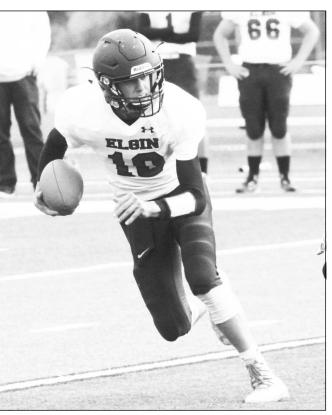

Cove rounded out the local SD3-E awards with five players on the team following a 3-4 season. Jenson Davis was the lone Leopard on first team as a guard. A trio of players — Cameron Dillman at linebacker, Dawson Gaertner at defensive back and Wacey Fite at punter were second team honorees. Cove's Cameron Trosky was an honorable mention center.

SD3-W FOOTBALL

Imbler's return to the eight-man ranks not only brought with it a seven-win season and a state playoff berth, but also secured a bevy of players earning all-district recognition.

Seven members of the Panthers football team received a combined 11 individual awards, which were voted on by the coaches of Special District 3-West.

Rvan Patterson and Blake Frost led the way, both receiving first-team recognition on offense and secondteam on defense. Patterson was chosen as a first-team running back and was named to the second team as a defensive back. Frost, one of the primary blockers for Patterson and the rest of Imbler's running game, garnered a first-team nod at guard on the offensive line and was also a second-team defensive end.

"I think we were well represented," Imbler Head Coach Dustan Adams said. "I'm proud of Ryan for making first-team running back. He had a good season. That was nice to see for him. And I'm proud of Blake Frost for earning first-team recognition as a guard. He worked hard, and it was definitely something he was striving toward."

Wade McDonald and Wyatt Rankin also earned notice on both sides of the ball — McDonald was chosen as a second-team tight end and second-team linebacker, and Rankin earned honorable mention at guard and defensive end.

Three other individuals earned honorable mention for the Panthers: Chance Goodman at quarterback, Wyatt Frost at center, and Imbler's Ryan Patterson, left, and Wyatt Rankin were among seven Panthers players selected to the all SD3-West team - Patterson a first teamer and Rankin honorable mention.

Jayce Burnette at linebacker. Adams said the work up front by the offensive line from Rankin, McDonald and the Frosts "was key to any success we had this season. They brought so much experience with them.'

Union, meanwhile, had five honors doled out among three players after a 3-5 campaign.

Anthony Goodwater led the way for the Bobcats with a second-team nod at linebacker and honorable mention at tight end. Griffin Nash was selected as a second-team defensive tackle, and Tate Landis was named honorable mention at both running back and defensive end.

PETTIT

Continued from Page 6A showed that her skill could translate to success at the prep level. How well it did, though, wasn't known until she won her first state title that spring.

"It wasn't until after the state meet that I realized I was competitive at the high school level," she said."

Pettit went on to win state again in the 100 as a sophomore, and did so after working her way back from a serious ankle injury late in the fall.

"(I) tore several ligaments and broke the bone in my ankle," she said. "That was probably the biggest mental hurdle I had to face."

She posted times of under 12.40 seconds in each of her last four races in the 100 this spring, and she believes that, with some work, getting down to 12 seconds flat in her senior campaign is possible.

A standout in the classroom as well as on the track, Pettit, who has a 4.0 GPA, will head to Weber State next year with most of her general education courses out of the

"I just wanted to get ahead, take advantage of the opportunity of having dual-credit courses," she said. "It is going to help me focus on track more. The transition will be a bit easier."

Pettit intends to compete in the same four events in college - 100, 200, long jumpand triple jump.

"They definitely want to work on my start," she said of areas Weber State coaches to focus on. "I've been a weak starter. (They also want to) work on my jumping form and my technique."

Fortunately, she'll have the chance to learn from one of the best. Former NCAA champion and Olympian Tiffany Hogan is the coach for sprints, long and triple jump for the Wildcats.

"It's an honor to be coached by someone as talented and knowledgeable (as Hogan)," she said.

Where Pettit will go from here remains to be seen, but one can bet that she'll be making waves again as she jumps to the next level just as she did back in middle school.
