UNION COUNTY MUSEUM

The Union County Museum is dedicated to preserving and presenting the history of Union County and Northeast Oregon. Expertly designed exhibits throughout the museum open a window into the past, from pioneer and settlement eras to the mid-twentieth century. The season runs from Mother's Day through September. Visit, and find your connection to the past!

The Union County Museum Society owns and operates the museum, located at 333 S. Main Street in Union. Dedicated volunteers serve on the board of directors and host museum visitors, answering questions and providing information. To learn how you can become a member or volunteer, please contact the Museum Society President by leaving a comment on the website's home page.
