Northeast Oregon eateries offer
to-go food, drinks and treats

Takeout options abound in our corner of Oregon

NORTHEAST OREGON — While many businesses are closed and dining in at restaurants is not an option due to state guidelines for slowing the spread of the coronavirus, there are many ways to shop and eat local. A variety of eateries in Baker, Union and Wallowa counties have adapted to the restrictions and are offering meals to go.

With the help of the Trailhead in Baker

City and the Union County Chamber of Commerce in La Grande, we have compiled a list of Northeast Oregon restaurants and their offerings.

To access the list, go to lagrandeobserver.com and look under the “coronavirus” tab — EO Media Group has made this content free to all.

The listings are subject to change and are not comprehensive.

The requirements of social distancing remain in effect. Follow the procedures arranged by the individual eatery in order to keep our corner of Oregon safe and well.
